Four Buildings Boost Facilities

A New Women's Residence, new infirmary headquarters, a center for musical activities, and a Student Union Building comprise the facilities on campus opening for the first time this fall.

Housing 131 women, including 81 upperclassmen and 50 Freshmen, is on the western edge of campus adjacent to Mount Joy Street.

Each floor of the three story brick building contains a pajama lounge where co-eds may gather and prepare snacks. Most of these lounges are furnished with cooking equipment, a snack bar and stools, and large circular lounging benches.

The main lobby which faces the campus and is open to all students, is furnished with low couches, benches and chairs in modern style. All are in the blue, turquoise or white color scheme.

An additional lounge, on a large scale, is located on the ground floor as is a room for laundry facilities. Both are limited to the private use of resident women.

An open house, when all students may tour the new dorm, will be held Sunday evening, September 23, from 6:00 to 8:00.

The naming of the residence will be a part of Homecoming Day exercises, October 20.

Next to the dormitory is a new infirmary converted from a double house for faculty and reconstructed to house up to twelve patients as well as three student nurses.

The first floor, south side, consists of a large, well-furnished waiting room, an office and a kitchen. The second story contains infirmary facilities for men which include three double bedrooms and a bath.

Living quarters for the three student nurses are on the first floor, north side. The women in white have a private living room and two bedrooms. Directly above the nurses' headquarters are infirmary facilities for women — three double bedrooms and a bath. The Music Department has

Courses Offered For First Time This Semester

Many new courses have been added to the 1962 Fall Semester agenda, according to Miss Emma R. Engle, registrar.

A non-credit course is being offered to a selected group of students on the subject How To Study. Dr. David I. Lasky will teach the course which will attempt to enlighten students concerning effective study habits and techniques.

The Business Department is offering a new course called Management, to be taught by Prof. Paul Oliver. In the area of Marketing, a course in Advertising and Salesmanship will be covered.

A Senior Seminar in English will be taught by four professors, each covering a special area of study. Profs. Bomberger, Campbell, Dwyer, and Poe are all involved in teaching the course.

In the field of Music Education, two new courses, Sight Singing and Part Reading, and Harmony are being offered first semester.

Linear Algebra which was previously offered for a full year at two credits a semester, has been expanded. The course will now consist of two separate subjects, Modern Algebra offered first semester for three credits, and Linear Algebra offered second semester for three quality points.

In the field of Sociology, Mr. Bruce Lehr will teach Introduction to Anthropology. Clinical Psychology is being mentored by Prof. Felice, part-time instructor. Dr. Henry G. Hood is teaching a course in Russian History.

College 4th AGF Sets New Record For Year's Gifts

The College's Fourth Annual Giving Fund, which closed August 31, has set a record for support received in a single year, according to President Roy E. McAuley.

While final figures are still being compiled for the official report of the campaign, it has been announced that more than $201,000 had been received from the various areas of support: Church of the Brethren, friends and parents, trustees, business and industry, foundations, alumni, and others.

The goal of the year-long campaign was $200,000. Success for the drive was attributed to significant increases in giving by the Church of the Brethren, business and industry, and alumni.

The Office of Public Relations, which coordinated the campaign, reported that alumni giving for the campaign was more than double that of the previous drive.

Funds received through the Annual Giving Fund are used to finance new construction, to renovate existing facilities, to increase the body of research material in the College Library, and for general campus improvement.

Enrollment Soars Beyond 900 Mark

More than 900 students arrived on the campus of Elizabethtown College Sept. 16-18 for the start of the 1962-63 academic term.

Faculty members had convened Sept. 13 for a series of meetings, and student government leaders moved in a day later to plan an orientation program and other year-opening events.

Though Final registration figures will not be available until the last week in September, college officials anticipated a freshman class of 286. This group together with 56 transfer students and 562 returning upperclassmen would swell the total enrollment to 904, a record high at Elizabethtown.

Immediately after registration it was announced, however, that the figure might approach the 920 mark.

Classes began for all students Sept. 19, and most of the traditional Freshmen Week activities ended Sept. 22.

Homecoming Day

Set October 20

The next issue of the Alumni Etownian, scheduled to go to press October 12, will carry a detailed report of Homecoming Day, scheduled this year for Oct. 20.

To be preceded by a Homecoming Dance to be held at the Harrisburg Consistory Friday night (Oct. 19), the big day will feature the annual Tug O'War, a field hockey game, a Women's Auxiliary Bazaar, a soccer game, a cross country meet, dedication of the new women's residence, and the play "Harvey."

Activities will begin at 10 a.m.

College Adds TV Offering

Elizabethtown College has increased its program of offering courses on television for credit with the addition of the nationally televised course on "The American Economy" to be initiated next month.

Also, for the third semester in succession, the College will cooperate with WGAL-TV (Channel 8), Lancaster, in offering a course for one college credit via the station's "College of the Air" series. The title of that course is General Linguistics.

The economics course will be offered in cooperation with WHP-TV (Channel 21), Harrisburg, and will carry three credits. It will deal with all aspects of our economic system and will consist of five half-hour lessons per week for thirty-two weeks.

Henry M. Libhart, assistant professor of English, will teach the linguistics course, which will be telecast 9 to 9:30 a.m. Fridays beginning October 8.

Paul T. Oliver, assistant professor of business, will coordinate the economy course, though it will be taught by a national figure and have numerous guest lecturers. That course will be telecast 7 to 7:30 weekdays beginning October 1.

Both courses will require assigned readings and examinations to be administered on the campus.

Two From College To Attend Meeting

Two Elizabethtown College administrators will attend the 45th annual meeting of the American Council on Education to be held in Chicago, October 3-5.

The College's delegates are Dr. Jacob E. Hershman, dean, and James L. M. Yeingst, director of public relations.

Among the featured speakers at the meeting will be Herbert E. Longenecker, Tulane University president; Harlan Cleveland, assistant secretary of state; Nathan M. Pusey, Harvard University president; McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to the President of the United States; and David D. Henry, University of Illinois president.

Theme of the meeting will be "Higher Education and the Federal Government: Programs and Problems."

New Students Total Third of Enrollment

Members of the class of 1966 and transfer students, totaling 342, provide over a third of the entire student enrollment on campus for the 1962-63 academic year. Transfer students account for 56 new faces and Freshmen total 286.

Freshmen stem from nine different states and four foreign countries. Penna. draws the majority of new students with 232 while New Jersey ranks second sending 33 new applicants.

Foreign students enrolled here include Christel Fischer, German exchange student who began her eight months of study on campus the first summer session, June 18.

Peter van den Doel, The Netherlands; Theodore Lo Kwoon, Hong Kong; and Jonathan O. Mbonu, Eastern Nigeria, are also enrolled.

In Penna., Lancaster County, ranks highest with 67 new students admitted. Thirty-two are enrolled from Dauphin County and nineteen from Delaware County.

The Liberal Arts course seems to be the most popular area of study for Freshmen with 79 students enrolled. Education follows closely boasting 78 applicants.

Both the Business and Science Curriculum site 59 students enrolled while eleven students will follow the newly developed program in Music.

FOR FRESHMEN ONLY—Prof. D. Paul Greene adjusts several pictures on his bulletin board devoted to members of the class of 1966. Greene, as Director of Admissions, becomes well acquainted with most of the freshmen and transfer students before the academic year begins.

GROWING AN ALUMNUS

In the May-June 1962 issue of the American Alumni Council News, John G. Johnson writes, "I don't think any student learned to be a good alumnus by accident or osmosis." This suggests that the making of an alumnus involves deliberate planning and goal setting; i.e. an alumnus is a planned product; this result is not an incidental or chance product.

Futhermore, the growing of an alumnus involves many people from the administration to the custodial and maintenance crew.

In a sense, the first contact that a prospective student makes with the college for admission has implications for alumni relations. The admissions office is likely the first door-step of the college which the student crosses. His experience here, pleasant or unpleasant, can generalize into a positive or negative interpretation of all college personnel.

The instructional staff, too, in the course of the student's college experience, wields a tremendous influence in determining attitudes, in grooming, and in shaping the alumnus. The concern here is that there be a respectable degree of consistency in philosophy of higher education, of the worth of a human being, and an understanding of the educational aims of the local educational institution.

Students are quick to sense division within the professional ranks; therefore, co-operation among the members of the instructional staff and integrated effort are indispensable to arrive at some kind of internal consistency. Otherwise, confusion, doubt, and uncertainty rise in the mind of the student.

This unifying concept of the college cuts across departmental lines as well. It includes also the maintenance crew and the custodial force.

The work crew should be just as aware of the educational effort of the college as the instructional force. The work crew should be aware of the theme piece of the college, such as, "Educate for service."

Included, too, are the office personnel, house parents, dormitory personnel. Collectively, these people—the total college personnel—determine the college atmosphere.

The alumni, themselves, play a definite part in shaping and growing an alumnus. The various chapters have an opportunity to convey the image of the college through pre-admission exercises and activities—teas, parties, initiations, distribution of literature and the like. Orientation of freshmen can begin before arrival of freshmen on campus.

Serious intention of alumni can be demonstrated too at graduation time. The general alumni association and chapters can reinforce their interest in the newly graduated through appropriate "booster shots" as graduates launch into post-graduate courses and vocational orbits.

Certainly, chapters will be quick to involve the new alumni who locate or live in their respective areas.

Alumni are made on and off campus through deliberate effort rather than by chance effort or wishful thinking. Growth of an alumnus is not automatic.

The process involves co-ordinated effort in goal-setting. It involves many people: alumni, the administrative personnel, the instructional staff, department heads, the maintenance crew and work force, dormitory personnel.

There is a togetherness in the growing of our alumnus. The growth of an alumnus takes time and patience. "You can't make a good pickle just by squirting vinegar on it. It has to soak awhile."

Especially For Alumni...

By EDGAR T. BITTING
President, Alumni Association

When you see some 850 to 900 students descend on campus, as has just happened this past week here at E-town, you realize the importance of active, participating alumni. But how active are the alumni of Elizabethtown College? How much do they participate in alumni affairs?

You participated overwhelmingly to the College's appeal for financial assistance in the Fourth Annual Giving Campaign. The doubling of alumni giving that of the previous campaign was a joy to behold and one for Bitting which you are to be commended. It seems to me that as you participate through your financial support you should be allowed to increase your voice in College policies. Pres. Roy McAuley has recognized and encouraged this.

In my short tenure as president of your Alumni Association I have received written or oral communications from alumni concerning various activities, policies, and programs. This is as it should be—except there should be more participation.

The Alumni Council, Alumni Trustees, and Alumni Association officers are your elected representatives. If you don't let them know your thoughts they certainly cannot discuss them nor carry them to the Board of Trustees.

All this leads to an appeal to those of you who have an idea, a criticism, a brainstorm—or whatever you might call it—to relay that item to one of your alumni representatives. The names of these persons are printed elsewhere in this issue of the Etownian.

Then we can discuss them and take action when the Alumni Council meets on Thursday, October 18, at 7:30 p.m. in Room 168 of the Library. I am certain I speak for all your representatives when I invite you to attend this meeting in person if you so desire.

And for those of you who like to dance, you can join your fellow alumni and present student body at the Homecoming Dance to be held Friday evening, October 19 from 8 p.m. to 12 at the Consistory Building in Harrisburg. Dress is formal and admission is free—just show your Alumni card. If you have misplaced your card, write Mr. C. G. Enterline for a new one.

Why don't you call some of your E-town College friends and plan to join them at the Homecoming Dance? Follow this up by spending Saturday, October 20, on campus and joining in the Homecoming Day activities. I know you will be happy you did so.

Sounding Board

Ready To Return

Editor's Note: This year's Etownian will carry, regularly, a student opinion poll column on campus problems; light, humorous subjects; and/or controversial issues of a wider scope. It is designed to give many students a chance to express opinions and to do constructive thinking on pertinent and interesting issues.

By questioning various students, through letters, concerning their feelings about returning to campus and academic life again, we found these answers:

Susanne Markey, Junior—Ready for college? Are you kidding? You're really asking me if I'm ready to leave the seashore with all its sun, fun, and new and exciting experiences. Do you honestly think I welcome the thought of studying, trudging to classes all day, and waiting with tongue outstretched in the cafeteria line? Then there's always soccer games, and endless antics in the dorm, and, well, I, er . . . of course I'm ready! Ask me something hard next time.

Debbie Jones, Sophomore—My summer has been an enjoyable and rewarding experience, but, with the new and improved construction and facilities on campus, the idea of returning is exciting. Now I am looking forward to renewing old friendships, making new, yes, even to cracking the books.

Charlie Argue, Sophomore—E-town has become a definite part of my life, even though it has encompassed only a small fraction of my nineteen years. I am looking forward to another full year of studies and friends, and have to admit I was ready for E-town after a few days of summer vacation.

Sue Wade, Junior—You ask am I ready to come back to those term papers, exams, tons of books to be read, noisy nights in the dorm, those profs who are out to show you where you really stand, those new frosh, the gossip, the new college policies, and to those numerous nightly club and government meetings. The answer is a definite, affirmative yup, and I can't wait!

Al Hershey, Junior—The thought of returning to school gives me a challenge similar to that of a child looking forward to an ice cream cone—realizing he must prepare for it to reap the pleasure, happiness, and benefits of its taste.

Millicent Neal, Senior—The summer vacation was just long enough to make me ready for school again. Frankly, I have begun to miss E-town and I constantly think of school, classes, and friends. This year brings sadness as I begin my senior year at E-town and brings to a close four unforgettable years.

Marty Heilman, Senior—The dream that after the last exam in the spring, the college student can sleep to 11:00 or later every day seems at first glance to be a shining paradise. But the luster is soon lost. The mirage of getting back to the "old gang back home" soon gives way to the realization that the old gang isn't there anymore. People generally wish to be with those with whom they have a great deal in common. And the friendships that are formed in a few weeks during the summer are rarely as strong as the bonds that each of us have with one another after sharing four years of college life.

Public Relations Committee Submits Recommendations

Seven recommendations were submitted to the Alumni Council as a result of a Public Relations Committee meeting held September 15 at the College.

Included in the recommendations were items dealing with an honors luncheon, the alumni chair, college seal paper weights, ETOWNIAN stories, the Alumni BULLETIN, and chapter correspondents.

Present at the meeting were Mrs. Walton Moyer, '54, chairman; J. Albert Seldomridge, '52; Mrs. Joseph Lehman, '51; Edgar T. Bitting, '52, association president; James L. M. Yeingst, '57, college director of public relations; and C. G. Enterline, '31, executive secretary of the association.

Recommendations submitted to the council are as follows:

1. That an honors luncheon be held in 1963 in connection with Alumni Day.
2. That four persons be considered for honors during the honors luncheon. (Nominations withheld.)
3. That the Alumni Association present a chair at the Senior-Alumni Dinner. (Nominations withheld.)
4. That the Association purchase and distribute a blue college seal paper weight to seniors who attend the Senior-Alumni Dinner. Souvenirs would be available to absentees who request them.
5. That more of the campus information appearing in the student edition of the ETOWNIAN appear in the alumni edition. (i.e., dean's list, Sounding Board)
6. That more information of a personal nature appear in the ETOWNIAN and Alumni BULLETIN.
7. That each chapter appoint an additional officer, a news reporter, to submit news items and clippings to the alumni office.

Baltimore Chapter Convenes Again

The Baltimore Chapter of the Alumni Association met for the second time this year when it held a picnic at the Meadow Branch Church of the Brethren near Westminster, Md., September 22.

The group previously sponsored a dinner meeting in Baltimore on May 5.

Officers of the chapter are Clyde Shallenberger, '49, president; Harvey S. Kline, '43, vice-president; Mrs. Arthur J. Risser, '39, secretary; and Leon E. Hense, '50, treasurer.

A MESSAGE

From President McAuley

In a recent issue of Educational Affairs, T. O. Yntema, a Ford Motor Company Vice President, suggests that college tuition rates be raised to meet the actual costs of education. He goes on to state "... on the average a gift to college graduates of some $4000 in educational capital ..." is made via low tuition rates. This difference must be made up through taxes or gifts or sub-standard salaries for college personnel.

The Ford Motor Company has been parent to several groups with intense interest in higher education. Their studies and contributions have been monumental. Many predictions and suggestions by these groups have become fact and practice.

The next ten years will be great years of decision for church colleges in general and Elizabethtown College in particular. Two questions will be foremost:

1. Will parents and students be willing to pay an extra price for an extra value in Christian education?
2. Will interested individuals and groups with the means to do so support to a greater extent than ever before the concept of independent Christian higher education?

Mr. Yntema is not predicting anything at this point. He is merely stating facts and possible solutions. We have to face the facts, too, and discover solutions.

Extensive alterations were made in order to accomodate office-classrooms, a large classroom, and practice and storage rooms.

Formerly an honor house for girls, the building will be used for most music classes, private instruction, and practice.

Prof. Nevin W. Fisher, Head of the Department, Dr. Carl N. Shull, and Prof. David Willoughby have their offices in the building.

Still to be completed, the Student Union Center, located on Gym Road, will be turned over to the college the last week in October. An additional week or two after this date is anticipated for moving, furnishing, and for full occupancy.

We Get

LETTERS

C. G. Enterline, Alumni Secretary:

The picnic (chapter officers' picnic, August 18) gave us an opportunity to find a missing link in our college relationships. . . . This officers' picnic lets one become acquainted with the students in the between years. It spares one from having that hollow feeling of coming back home and having the home folks not there. This often occurs when one comes back to some public program or athletic event.

If we had some such picnic every year since the year I graduated, I probably would have learned to know a hundred alumni that I do not this way. Multiply this by the officers elsewhere and I believe our association would have something very worthwhile. So, . . . give it a good try.

Esther Leister Tennis and Olive K. Jamison, Juniata Valley

The two center campus entrances along College Ave. will be closed after women's dormitory hours: 10:30 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and 12:00 Friday and Saturday. Parking will be prohibited along Alpha Drive at all times.

Another parking change will be the two-hour limit for cars parked in front of Myer Hall by guests and persons using the dining hall. Resident students will not be allowed to park there except for loading.

Crill said the changes were put into effect to alleviate confusion resulting from autos circulating around the women's residence.

Increasing congestion on center campus and the need to keep the campus attractive were cited by Crill as additional reasons for the new regulations.

To improve parking facilities a new lot with 80 spaces has been provided east of Ober Hall. "This and college use of the church parking lot, open to all students except on Sunday morning, should provide ample parking for commuting and resident students," Crill noted.

Chapter Heads Attend Picnic On Campus

Forty-two alumni attended a chapter officers' picnic on the campus August 18 and left agreeing that the affair should become a yearly event.

Primary items on the informal agenda were the discussion of the chapters' programs for 1962-63 and explanation of handbooks developed by the Alumni Office for use by chapter officers.

Chapters represented included Juniata Valley, Lebanon, Baltimore, and Lancaster.

After registration, Association President Edgar T. Bitting and Public Relations Director James L. M. Yeingst conducted a campus tour. The picnic supper followed.

Besides Bitting and Yeingst, other college officials in attendance were Pres. and Mrs. Roy E. McAuley and Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Enterline.

From the Juniata Valley chapter were Olive K. Jamison, '34, and Mrs. Esther (Leister) Tennis, '27; from Baltimore, Rev. and Mrs. Harvey S. Kline, '46 and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Risser, '39, '40, and family.

From Lebanon, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Picking, '57, and family; from Lancaster, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Huffman, '47, '49, and family, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Boll, '47, and family, Mr. and Mrs. Walton Z. Moyer, '53, '54, and family, Dr. and Mrs. Galen Kilhefner, '30, '33, and family.

Picnic guests included Miss Ellen Boon, an exchange student from Holland and Ralph Z. Moyer, '56, and family. A brother of Walton Moyer, Ralph recently accepted a pastorate in Roanoke, Virginia, and suggested the instigation of a chapter in that area.

Enterline, the executive secretary of the Alumni Association, planned the picnic and expressed the desire for a larger representation at next year's outing.

Twenty-six Students Graduate At Aug. Commencement Program

Twenty-six students received degrees during summer commencement exercises Friday evening, August 24, at the Church of the Brethren.

Main speaker for the ceremony was Dr. R. W. Schlosser, who spoke on the topic "I Do Not Live In Goshen."

Schlosser told the graduates their lives will be measured by their aspirations and not merely by their accomplishments. He used frequent appropriate quotations from well-known literary men to emphasize his points.

Schlosser reminded the graduates they need not merely live in the small sphere of their immediate locality nor should they be entirely occupied with material matters.

Others participating in the ceremony were Dr. Roy McAuley who conferred the degrees, and Dr. Donald Vosburgh, director of summer sessions, who presented the candidates for degrees.

Dr. Robert Byerly gave the invocation and Dr. James Berkebile presented the benediction. Mrs. Glenn Snowden provided the organ music while vocal music was presented by a faculty quartet composed of Profs. Eisenbise, Weaver, Willoughby, and Wykoff.

Bachelor of Arts graduates included Lois K. Herr, who graduated Cum Laude, Leon Blosser, E. Loy Garber, David Higinbotham, Arthur Lawton, Jesse Lowe, William Schneider, Kenneth Whitsel, Albert Yamada, and Dale Zeiders.

Graduating with a Bachelor of Science degree were Ray Berkebile, Brenda Brendlinger, Dale Good, Carl Hamm, Larry Jones, John Kauffman, Allan Kemrer, Robert Krebs, Ann Lasky, Ira Lauer, and Joyce Taylor.

Bachelor of Science in Education graduates were Mrs. Joyce Hollinger, Naomi Luca-baugh, Anthony Oskam, Joyce Ritter, and Sally Wenger.

The only exercise some people get is jumping to conclusions, running down their friends, side-stepping responsibilities, and pushing their luck.

Ten Soccermen To Lead Attack

Chances for a Middle Atlantic Conference soccer title this year will hinge primarily on the performances of ten returning lettermen and Coach Owen Wright's ability to mould top flight bench strength from the inexperienced segment of his squad.

On hand to lead the fight for a shot at the title lost last year when the Jays ran second to Rutgers in the Northern Division because of a tie with Drexel, will be seven backfield veterans and three line holdovers.

Top scorer of a year ago, Al Hershey, and two sophomores, Tony McGlaughlin and Dave Myers return to the line; Seniors Fred Seltzer and Leroy Bear; Juniors Jeff Bensing, Dave Merkel, and Frank Zimmerman; and Sophomores Henry Pownall and Tom Speakman return to the backfield, barring any position shifts by Coach Wright.

The biggest question marks facing Wright as he opens practice this week appear to be two holes in the forward line and the goal cage, vacated by Ray Diener, who signed a professional baseball contract in June.

In addition to Hershey, the coach's plus column includes Seltzer, who was given an honorable mention rating on the 1961 All-American squad at left fullback; and Pownall, who was given an honorable mention on the MAC's All-Northern Division Team at right halfback.

Last year Wright's crew posted a 7-0-1 mark (Rutgers was 7-0) in MAC competition and an 8-1-1 log overall. A final game 4-0 loss to East Stroudsburg snuffed out the Jays' hopes of entering National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics playoffs for the third consecutive year.

The Jays scored 36 goals to their opponents' nine in the Conference. Over the whole season they had a 39-15 advantage.

Hershey's 11 goals was a team high and his 16 total points tied for the top spot in that category. Winger Tony McGlaughlin also collected 16 points on eight goals and eight assists.

This season Elizabethtown will play three new teams. Wilkes, an old rival, and Millersville, will replace La Salle and Hofstra on the schedule; and arch-rival West Chester again appears as an opponent after an absence of a few seasons.

Wright's men open the season on October 6 at Bucknell. The opener will begin at 10 a.m.

Thinclads Boast Three Returnees; Open October 5

Three returning thinclads will be gunning, under the leadership of Coach Lester Baum, to improve last year's cross country record of 3 wins—8 losses.

Junior Bill Drea, Captain of the 1961 squad, heads the list of letter-winners who are expected to see more action this season. Drea will begin his third year on the team.

Other harriers who will make up the nucleus of the squad include: Mike Staman, junior; Dave Brownback, junior; Wally MacPherson, junior, all two-year letter winners.

The harriers open the 1962 season at Albright, October 5.

Dean Hershman Back On Duty

Dr. Jacob E. Hershman, dean of instruction, returned to his duties Tuesday, September 4, accompanied by crutches, a leg cast and memories of several weeks spent in a Lancaster hospital.

Dean Hershman, who had been injured in an auto accident in early August, suffered a multiple fracture and severed tendon of his leg, and had five cracked ribs.

Although he does not expect to resume his complete working schedule until October, when his leg cast is to be taken off, Hershman will be teaching a class this fall.

Jaygal Players Attend Clinic

Twelve co-eds attended an annual field hockey clinic at Camp Tegawitha in the Poconos recently.

Coaches Jean Anne Finkbinder and Allegra Hess are accompanying the girls, all likely prospects for varsity play during the coming season.

The hockey clinic, consisting mainly of practice games against college and club hockey teams, provides an excellent opportunity for conditioning and for improving various skills and techniques.

Jaygals attending the camp included: Rose Baldwin, Janet Esbenschade, Linda Eshelman, Sylvia Ingham, Peggy Jackson, Sandra McCleary, Molly Moerschbacher, Molly Moore, Louise Wenger, Sue Wood, Jean Healy, and Polly Provost.

Pipe Organ Installed To Aid Music Major

A new pipe organ has been installed here as part of the facilities added to accommodate a major in music education which is being initiated this fall.

Dr. Carl N. Shull said the organ was purchased primarily for instructional purposes and for student recitals. It was placed in the old campus chapel in Rider Memorial Hall.

To make room for the new organ, two electrical organs were moved to the department's new quarters in West Hall.

The organ is a four rank artistic model with two manuals and a full pedal board. It has a detached console.

The new major, according to Shull, is framed primarily to prepare students for elementary and secondary teaching positions in the vocal and instrumental music fields.

Included in the new curriculum will be 67 credit hours in music. A total of 128 credit hours, many in general education, will be needed for graduation.

Eleven freshmen students are enrolled as music majors this fall.

Five Letterwinners Return

Hockey Camp Here Attended By 300

Over 300 girls from 16 high schools in Lebanon, Lancaster, and Dauphin Counties participated in a five-day field hockey camp here beginning August 20.

Mrs. Jean Anne Finkbinder, Jaygal coach, and Miss Lee Rhenish, of Elizabethtown Area High School, were co-chairmen of the camp.

Guest instructor for the day camp, now held for the fourth year, was Miss May Bryce, physical education lecturer at Durfurn College, Scotland.

Grad Figures In Recent Book

The library received recently a copy of "An Army Doctor's Wife on the Frontier" from Dr. Richard Stark, '49, Dalhousie Medical Center, Herndon, Penna.

The book is of special importance to Dr. Stark because the letters, making up part of the book, were written by his wife's great grandparents to her parents in Columbia, Penna., from Alaska and the Far West. Dr. Stark's son appears on the frontispiece.

These letters reflect the living conditions and modes of travel on America's frontiers in the nineteenth century. They also depict human stamina and love.

The story begins with an order for Dr. Jenkins FitzGerald, assistant surgeon at the United States Military Academy, to proceed to Sitka, Alaska. This order came just two years after his marriage to Emily McCorkle. The young couple sailed south from New York along the Atlantic coast line, crossed the Isthmus of Panama by rail, and then steamed northward to Sitka. Later the FitzGerald's were transferred to Fort Lapwai in present-day Idaho.

The letters provide insight into the trials, monotony, horrors of war, bitterness of Indian warfare, dangers related to the frontier life. Emily FitzGerald's letters are preserved by her daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Hiestand, Marietta, Pennsylvania.

Coach Jean Anne Finkbinder will have a job on her hands to near the perfect record of 8 wins—0 losses (all shut-outs) her field hockey squad achieved in last year's action as the team faces its toughest schedule in hockey history here.

Graduation cut deeply into the team and only five letterwinners return to continue the unbeaten streak now standing at 14 games begun early in the 1960-61 season.

Now in her sophomore year as varsity hockey coach, Mrs. Finkbinder's quintet of veterans includes four backfield players and a forward. Junior varsity players and experienced freshmen will be counted on to fill in the open positions.

Senior Linda Eshelman returns for her fourth year as varsity center forward. Miss Eshelman, only varsity line returnee, was high scorer for the Jaygals the past three seasons.

Polly Provost, Nancy Woolford, Molly Moerschbacher, and Rose Baldwin, all forward line players, have experience in J.V. collegiate hockey and will be competing, along with freshmen for the open positions on the line.

Coach Allegra Hess will again be at the helm of the junior varsity squad, which last year posted a record of 4 wins and 3 ties.

Intercollegiate action begins for both Jaygal teams September 28 against the "Big Red" at East Stroudsburg. The varsity squad will face eight opponents and the J.V.'s are slated to play six.

Comedy Hit 'Harvey' Is Homecoming Play

Ever have a man-sized rabbit for your best buddy? In case you haven't been so lucky, the results of such an incredible friendship can be enjoyed by all when the Sock and Buskin presents this year's Homecoming play as a climax to the Homecoming Day events on October 20.

The play will be Harvey, a Broadway comedy hit and a Pulitzer Prize winner written by Mary Coyle Chase. It is the story of an imaginary six-foot one and a half inch tall rabbit, Harvey, and his constant companion, and discoverer, Elwood P. Dowd.

Mrs. Mildred H. Enterline will direct Harvey with Elizabeth Hershberger, a sophomore, lending a hand as student director.

Playing the role of Elwood P.

Dowd will be Ron Mummert with Margie Hollinger as his sister, Veta Louise, and Deana Risser as his niece, Myrtle Mae.

Others in the cast will be Ralph Clouser, Bill Cave, Doris Weir, Chester Rose, Phil Reese, Marilyn Meagher, Lucy Hollinger, Linda Eshelman, and Jim Emery. The stage manager for the production will be Bob Fahnestock.

College Concert Choir Plans Active Semester

The Elizabethtown College Concert Choir has begun rehearsals in preparation for a rigorous program of concerts to be given during the coming year.

Prof. David P. Willoughby, director, announced that of 55 persons who auditioned for the choral group this year, 39 were selected. Even previous members of the choir, in order to remain members, were required to audition this year.

During the first semester the big job of the choir will be to prepare and memorize music to be used second semester on weekend concerts and on the five-day tour in the spring when the choir will travel to the eastern portions of Maryland and Virginia.

The music consists of sacred works to be sung in churches and secular numbers for public school concerts.

Other work for this semester will be preparing the Christmas portion of the "Messiah." Part

Religious Drama Slated 10 Times

The Student Religious Drama Deputation of Elizabethtown College will present "The Builders" by Frances Eckardt in ten Churches of the Brethren during the first semester, according to Dr. Robert A. Byerly, director of religious activities at the College.

Open House

Alumni, church leaders, and local dignitaries will be guests of the College Sunday, November 18, when the A. C. Baugher Student Center will be officially dedicated and open for inspection.

The schedule of open house set up for the college's various publics runs from November 2, when students will tour the building for the first time, to the Alumni Open House, November 18.

Official Enrollment Figures Reach 893

Official figures show that the student body today is larger than ever before. Total class enrolment has reached 893; approximately 200 of whom are commuters.

The freshman class presently consists of 306, while the sophomores number 235; juniors total 216 and seniors 135, with one special student.

Twenty high school seniors, enrolled in an accelerated program, and 42 part time students are not included in the total figure.

All in all there are 356 new faces on the campus. Not all are wearing dinks, though; for this number includes the 52 transfer students.

Music Dept. Schedules Events

Several concerts and other musical programs have been planned by the music department for the 1962-63 school year in addition to those which have been previously announced.

These are designed to offer to the students a wide sampling of music types for their interest and enjoyment.

November 4, 4:00 p.m., Student Union Building: Piano recital by Prof. N. W. Fisher.

December 2, Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren: Oratorio "The Messiah" by Handel. The Concert Choir and other Churches of the Brethren choirs will participate. Prof. N. W. Fisher will direct and Dr. Carl N. Shull will play the organ.

January 6: Dr. Carl N. Schull, organ recital.

February 23: Winter Concert with Band and Ladies Chorus, Prof. David P. Willoughby will direct.

March 8, 9: Musical comedy to be announced at a later date.

March 24: Alumni concert.

May 12: Vocal and Instrumental Ensembles. Prof. Willoughby will direct.

Baugher Student Center Nears Completion Date

The new Baugher Student Center is more than 95% completed. This welcome report came from Edward L. Crill, director of student personnel services.

Lectures Oct. 24; Ohio Play House Group Here Nov. 3

Lectures on archeology and the Cleveland Play House presentation of Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest" remain on the first semester cultural docket.

Dr. Jesse Brown, an Elizabethtown College alumnus ('50) and member of the faculty at Crozer Theological Seminary, Chester, will be on campus October 24 and 25 for illustrated lectures and class meetings. A public lecture (alumni welcome) is scheduled for Wednesday evening (Oct. 24).

The major subject of his lectures will be the content of the Dead Sea Scrolls.

As the first of this year's two Community Cultural programs, sponsored by the College in cooperation with the Patton School, the Cleveland Play House presentation will be held in the Elizabethtown Area High School Auditorium, November 3 at 8 p.m.

Generally regarded as the best farce in the English language, Wilde's play pokes fun at high British Society. It was written in 1895 but has been frequently revived since then.

Featured performers are Jo Ann Finnell, Richard Halverson, Charles Keating, and Sue Kelly.

New Infirmary Boasts Improved Accomodations

Change and transition have become by-words at Elizabethtown College. Among these changes is the white frame house on Mount Joy Street, which now bears the familiar white sign denoting College buildings. Formerly the home of the Herr's and Craighead's, this building now goes by the title of "College Infirmary."

The entrance on the south end of the building bears the office hours which are 7:30-8:30 a.m., 12:00-1:00 p.m., and 5:00-7:15 p.m. Monday through Friday; 8:30-9:30 a.m., and 12:00-1:00 p.m., 5:00-5:30, 6:00-6:30, on Saturdays. On Sunday the nurses are on call.

When entering the Infirmary, one first sees a spacious biege waiting room furnished tastefully in Danish Modern furniture and supplied with maga-

The contractor has set Oct. 24 as the date when the College will take possession of the building. Opening day is tentatively set for Nov. 2. Both dates, however, are subject to change, according to Crill.

There are only three parts of the building which still require extensive work: the bowling alley, the Alumni auditorium, and the landscaping. The swimming pool is almost completed; a final bath in acid recently readied it for its first contact with water.

"Most furnishings for the building have been purchased and have arrived or are on their way," Crill said. Equipment for the radio station has been ordered.

Although the physical plant of the Student Union is almost ready for occupancy, there is still much "homework" to be done in setting up its administration, according to Crill. Some plans were made last spring, but the majority of details have yet to be worked out.

There will be no faculty director of the Union. Under a decentralized program, an Administration group including the Deans of Students and Women, the Director of Athletics, and possibly the managers of the store and restaurant will supervise the building's activities.

The Student Union Board headed by Senior E. Paul Dick will handle the building's affairs on the student level. The building will be primarily student-run.

zines and a literature table. Adjoining the waiting room is the nurses' office, capably staffed by Dianna Dick, Donna Glass, and Nina Stroble.

The office is further facilitated by a kitchen and small bathroom opening directly from it.

While utilitarian rooms occupy the south side of the building, the north side is comprised of the nurses' residence. Their facilities consist of a living room, also furnished in Danish Modern, and two bedrooms on the first floor; and kitchenette and bath on the basement floor.

When asked whether they liked their new and separate dwelling, Dianna stated that she felt cut off at first but is now finding that she sees just about as many students on campus as before. Donna was very enthusiastic and expressed a keen appreciation of the independence.

All three girls seem to agree that it can be somewhat lonely if only one is on duty over a weekend, though they could not say enough in favor of the added facilities and medical advantages both to themselves and to the college.

Upstairs, provisions are made to care for twelve students. Each side of the building consists of three two-bed rooms and a bath; the boys being on the south side and the girls on the north side of the building.

Sounding Board

Frosh Rate College

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Sounding Board for this issue asked various members of the Freshman class for opinions and impressions of their first weeks here at Elizabethtown College.

BETTY CONRAD: People are so very friendly and are very willing to help. I love the new dorm because the rooms are so light and large. For institutional cooking the meals are exceptional. I hope that my next years here will be as terrific as these first weeks.

DENNIS HEISEY: I like the campus, the kids, and the food. Freshmen should be allowed to have cars on the campus. My schedule is set up real well. There are a bunch of nuts in the dorm and I find it hard to sleep. I am very glad I came here because it is a small Christian Liberal Arts College.

CAROL AYERS: I like the school very much and through the first two weeks can't find anything to complain about. The thing that has impressed me most is the friendliness shown by all the Freshmen.

MARY ANNE JONES: I really love it; people here are so friendly. Everybody is so anxious to make you feel at home that there is no time to be homesick—just like one big family. The food is different from what I have been accustomed to and the water takes getting used to. It is so much different from high school. I learn on my own instead of just copying from a teacher.

NEIL BROWN: In the weeks that I've been here I've found this is a beautiful campus. Freshman Week—I liked it. The atmosphere among the students is terrific. Speaking of atmosphere, I find that the attitude, spirit and all around togetherness between Upper-classmen and the Freshman is as good, or if not better, than in any other college in the area, or in the U.S., for that matter. The professors are good; classrooms are adequate; and the general facilities are the best I've seen. I picked this school because I found all these good qualities.

CAROL MILLER: The orientation was good because it helped us to get to know the other students. I think there are not enough weekend activities since all the kids seem to go home. The college is what the students make it! The regulations we have pressed on us here are not realistic to the world we live in. In short, I do like the college, though.

PHILIP WEAVER: I think it's a complete and drastic change from high school. Anybody that expects to work at the previous rate . . . it's impossible to do so and still make it. I like the girls too!

NORMAN DIEFFENBACH: I've been kept busy, that's for sure! I have had some wonderful experiences at Witmer. I find German class rather difficult. More people should attend the social events especially the Square dance this past Friday night. I think I'll live through this first year.

TOM ROLLASON: I am very impressed with the school. I had thought it would be duller. I like the way the campus is laid out in comparison with others I have seen. I am also impressed with the friendliness of the student body. Studying, so far, hasn't proved too difficult.

THAT'S IT—A PROJECT FOR ALUMNI

The problem of covering enough territory geographically and prospectively to get quality freshmen for college is becoming increasingly acute. As we are presently constituted, it appears that the demands to visit secondary schools on college night are becoming heavier. The problem, however, is not hopeless.

Usually found among chapter officers are president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer. A forthcoming proposal from the public relations committee of the alumni association is the naming of an active news reporter for each chapter.

Here is another. Let each chapter develop an alumni referral program through which a designated person in each chapter would refer prospective students to the admissions officer. It is generally admitted that chapters should have projects to involve alumni. This idea sounds like a good one.

The idea, however, needs development and refinement. The referral person or committee, presumably, would serve only as a contact person or recommending agent. Final judgment on admissions would rest with the administration.

It is assumed further, that the referral committees would receive instruction on procedures. An orientation period for representatives on or off campus at a dinner meeting would be in order.

Anticipation of certain problems would suggest the setting up of certain criteria for the selection of personnel and operation. Evaluation of the effectiveness of procedures and experience would provide additional suggestions for refinement.

The project of this kind would mean that the contact person should have easy entree to the public schools; that he would be able to communicate easily, freely, understandingly with the public school administration, teachers, and counselors.

The recommending person would possess current information about the college—buildings, curricula, faculty, administration, and students.

Possibly a first step in the development of this project would be to establish accord about the proposal among all parties concerned—the alumni council, the admissions office, the college administration.

It is an opportunity for involvement of alumni in all existing and contemplated chapters. It is a project for alumni. Will you help?

"THE DIFFERENCE"

It is most unfortunate that every high school student and his parents could not have seen a film which I saw at a recent meeting of a campus religious group. It was entitled "The Difference" and it certainly did emphasize the differences of attitude, of atmosphere and of social activities between life at a church-related and a non church-related college.

Elizabethtown College Alumni would not need to see this film to realize its truth and its message. At one time in your life you lived this film's message at a church-related college.

This film relates a young man's transformation while at a church-related college from one who disbelieved that a businessman could also be a Christian to one who grew to complete agreement with this belief. He was graduated from college with a will to further this belief and influence others. He was truly educated for service.

Why do I mention this? Because I feel we Elizabethtown College alumni must never lose sight of this priceless asset—this religious influence. We need to speak continually for private colleges, and especially, for private church-related colleges.

With increased government participation in education, we may very well expect to have to surrender some of our academic freedom. No alumnus wants this to happen. Yet the government seems to move in only when it senses that the job cannot be done privately. It is up to us to prevent this necessary move.

A student pays less to attend a state-supported institution than he does to attend a private college. Yet the real cost of four years education at a state-supported school is not less than at a private school; in fact it is probably greater since their many and more recent buildings have been built with costlier dollars and their salary scale is higher.

Someone must pay for this subsidization—this difference between the real cost and the amount charged. You recognize that it is the taxpayer. And yet this taxpayer has very little say in how this money is used; he does not elect the trustees nor receive an annual report.

Wouldn't it be better of college education could be supported voluntarily. All of us need to support private colleges with all our might, whether they be church-related or not, whether it be our denomination or not.

Within the next ten years, a decision will be made concerning the future of church-related colleges like Elizabethtown College. Upon the alumni who are interested in institutions of this kind rests a major part of decision. What is your decision and how will you implement it?

Stanley C. Miller, '58, received his degree in master of education, counseling in education, from the Pennsylvania State University, September 1.

Willard H. Haskman, '61, received his master of science in electrical engineering degree from The Pennsylvania State University, September 1.

Jay Russel Book, '57, received his master of education in administration degree, from The Pennsylvania State University, September 1.

Brenda Craddock, '62, 1528 Butler Street, Philadelphia, Penna., was recently appointed as supply-commodity management assistant in Defense Industrial Supply Center, U. S. Government.

Charles William Yohe, '52, R. D. 3, Spring Grove, received his master of education degree in elementary education from Millersville State College, August 30, 1962.

Ruth M. Longenecker, '41, Rheems, Penna., received her master of education degree in elementary education from Millersville State College on August 30.

Army Reserve Lt. Col. Emory E. Stouffer, '44, 30 Foreman Road, Elizabethtown, recently completed the two-week associate command and general staff course at The Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

Mrs. J. Kenneth Kreider, '61, (Carroll Hall) received her Master of Education degree (Business Education) from Pennsylvania State University, June 9.

Alan K. Barrick, '58, 364 Foulis Drive, Loring A.F.B., Maine, received his Doctor of Dental Surgery degree from Temple University, June, 1962.

He is now commissioned as Captain in the U. S. Air Force.

Mrs. Charles Hauser, '27, (Dorothy Mehrling) 1918 Forster St., Harrisburg, was recently elected to serve on the board of American Leprosy Mission, Inc.

James Lineweaver, '61, 974 W. Main St., Palmyra, has accepted a position to teach English in the Milton Hershey High School.

FOUR "ACCOUNTED" FOR

Four 1959 Graduates Pass CPA Examination

The Elizabethtown College Class of 1959 is making its mark in the world. Like every graduating class, it dispersed in all directions following the diploma collection ceremonies on graduation day, but news filters back about its individuals' accomplishments.

Four members — Morton Feder, Arlan Keller, William Larish, and Marshall Pomroy — recently accelerated their climb up the ladder of success by passing the certified public accountant examination to become CPA's.

While at Elizabethtown all four were proteges of Prof. Edgar T. Bitting, head of the department of business. They graduated with bachelor of science degrees in business and administration. From Elizabethtown Feder joined the firm of Tait, Weller & Baker, Philadelphia. Soon after he passed the examination, he moved to Francis J. Rainer & Company.

Mort and his wife, the former Ruth G. Keyser, '61, who graduated in 1959 with the medical secretarial certificate, currently live in Warminster, Pa. His further training in the field of accounting includes the Gross CPA course, which he took in Philadelphia last summer.

Larish is a member of the audit staff of Price Waterhouse & Company, Philadelphia. He is married to Marlene Bistline, of Hershey, and has a daughter, Donna Lynn, age 5.

Now living in Drexel Hill, Pa., Bill supplemented his college training with several courses offered by his firm.

A four year veteran of the United States Navy, Keller is employed by Main & Company, Harrisburg Office, and lives at 409 Ritter Road, Harrisburg.

He is married to the former M. Joan LeVan, '59, who graduated also from Jefferson Hospital, Philadelphia, and is now a clinical instructor at the Polyclinic Hospital, Harrisburg.

Pomroy is also employed by Main & Company. His wife, Marilyn K. (Ward) Pomroy, '59, was an accountant for Capitol Products Corporation but has since retired to become housewife and mother. The Pomroys have a baby boy, Keith Emerson.

Now residing at 711 S. Broad St., Mechanicsburg, Marty lived originally in Dover, New Jersey.

The quartet speak very highly of their profession. Says Pomroy, "The accounting profession provides an excellent opportunity to gain insight into many different organizations — both profit and non-profit."

Keller claims it is "the fastest growing, most challenging profession today." He adds, "Opportunities are unlimited. Accounting is the language of business. It is the most logical starting place for anyone entering business."

"Accounting will never be an exact science," according to Bill Larish. He says, "Changes are constantly being made to present more meaningful financial data to the business world and the public. Accounting is a young profession, not without its problems, but this is one of its interesting aspects."

Feder cites the long hours during tax season. "But, he adds, 'the work is educational and interesting. It is only as hectic as each accountant makes it. More accountants suffer heart attacks during the tax season than at any other time of the year. After only two tax seasons I can readily understand this fact.'"

Though rivers generally are at lowest stage in hot months, those arising from melting glaciers frequently flood in summertime.

String Quartet Here

The Curtis String Quartet, famed musical group from Philadelphia's New School of Music, presented two concerts October 11.

They performed for the student body in chapel Thursday morning and for the public in a free concert in the Elizabethtown Area High School Auditorium Thursday evening.

KNOW YOUR COUNCILMEN

Donald Ruhl Now In 4th Year On Alumni Council

An Alumni Councilman since 1958, Donald E. Ruhl, '55, has been part of the strength behind an Alumni Council that has accelerated in accomplishment and value over the last several years.

A native of Manheim, he is married to the former Janice Lehman and resides at 51 N. Hazel St. in the same community. The Ruhls have two children, K. Doneen and Timothy Allen.

For ten years Don has been treasurer of Jacob H. Ruhl, Inc., and insurance, real estate, and investment firm.

His community activities include membership in the Rotary Club, where he currently holds the office of vice-president and secretary, and past area chairmanship of the United Campaign.

An active churchman, Don is a minister of the Church of the Brethren and, in his local church, serves as director of the junior high department and as a member of the Board of Christian Education.

In his free time, he takes to carpentry tools as his favorite past time woodworking. Weather permitting, he gets in his share of fishing also.

Loyal and sincere participation is a precious commodity in any alumni organization. When Donald Ruhl's council term expires in 1963, it will be to the alumni's advantage to get him back in action in come capacity with little delay.

English Dept. Head Former Dean of F&M

Prof. Richard Bomberger

Two '62 Grads Excell

Two 1962 graduates, Glen Bucher and Philip Swarr, scored high enough in placements examinations at Union Theological Seminary, New York City, to qualify for advanced placement in the area of Christian ethics.

Both Bible and philosophy majors, they received the bachelor of arts degree here in May. They are working for bachelor of divinity degrees at the Seminary.

By TERRY ROAD

Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of features acquainting students with new faculty and/or staff members on campus.

New in the English Department this year is Prof. Richard Bomberger, who formerly served as Dean of Franklin and Marshall College, his alma mater.

Acting chairman of the department, he has a special interest in Shakespeare and the English Novel, both of which he taught at F and M.

Completing his graduate work at the University of Virginia, the Professor then traveled to Maryland, his home state, to commence his teaching career at a private institution, Donaldson School, where he eventually was appointed to the position of headmaster.

Now residing in Lancaster, Prof. Bomberger spends his free time reading, plus a little golf and goes horseback riding occasionally.

As for his opinions of Elizabethtown College, he reports the school far exceeds his expectations and that its constant expanding and improving has greatly impressed him.

The early alumni chapters were organized largely by counties. Activities were confined primarily to York, Dauphin, Lebanon, and Lancaster counties.

CHOIR

icipating with the choir in this program are the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren, The Lancaster Church of the Brethren, the York Church of the Brethren, and the Lititz Church of the Brethren.

Concerts will be presented in Elizabethtown Dec. 2; York, Dec. 9, and Lancaster, Dec. 16.

Concert Choir membership is determined on the following basis: first, by singing simple vocal exercises to determine voice range; second, by singing something familiar in which singer is relaxed and confident; third, by sight-reading a completely new piece of music with the help of a piano; and finally, by sight-reading an unfamiliar piece without piano.

Barry Graham, Eleanor Hall, Elizabeth Hershberger, David Hertzog, Dorothy Hess, Lucy

With the increase in graduates from a larger geographical area comes a larger concentration of alumni in scattered areas.

The alumni council and the college administration have sensed the need for promotion of new chapters. Accordingly, this year 1962-63 should bring about the organization of these new chapters. In addition to the list given in the accompanying schedule, new chapters in central New York and New York City-Long Island are on the planning board.

Alumni are urged to give the needed support to promote local chapters effectively in this "out-reach" effort.

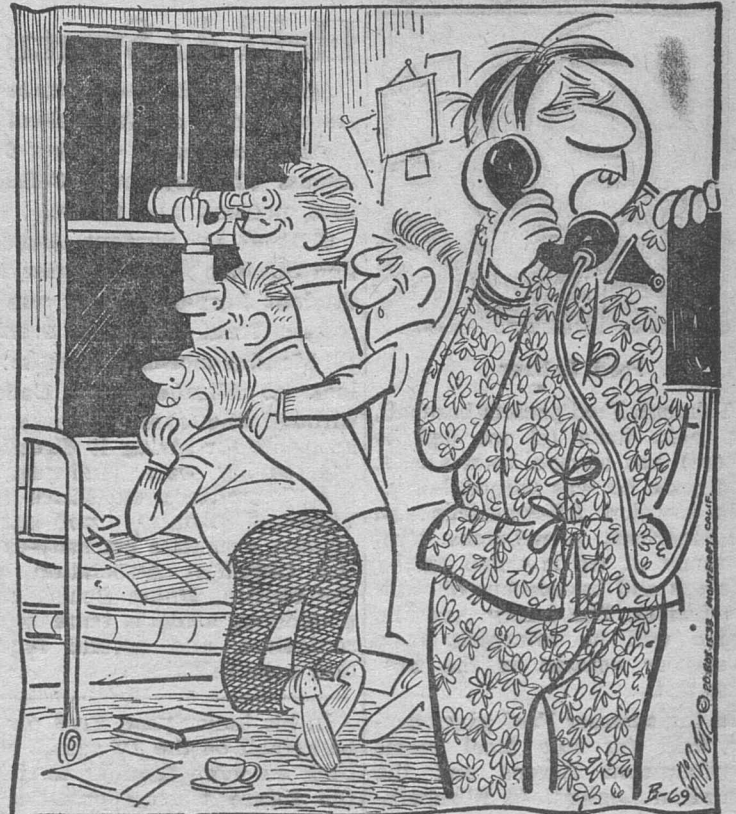

Hollinger, Mike Honeywell, Clyde Kreider, Martha Lauder-milch, Richard Lytle, Carolyn Moyer, Jane Moyer, Emmett Murphy.

Jane Myers, Jack Neibert, Bruce Van Order, Richard Over-cash, Rosann Pownall, Nancy Souders, Britta Spohn, Gloria Sprenkle, Ruth Stehman, Arlene Thomas, Pat Wilson, Robert Yuminger, and Nancy Zeigler.

Betty Markley will accompany the choir.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Sports

Jaygals, Booters Each Lose First

Both the soccer and the field hockey teams of Elizabethtown College were knocked from the ranks of the unbeaten on successive days recently by their annually powerful counterparts from West Chester State.

The Jaygals bowed to the teachers 4-2 on October 9, and the Ram booters outplayed Coach Owen Wright's soccer men by a 2-0 count on the following day.

Coach Les Baum's cross country team, meanwhile, racked up its second successive win of the season with a 22-34 win over Moravian, October 9.

All three teams were to see a lot more action during the second half of October, including the full slate on Homecoming Day.

First and third period goals made the difference for West Chester in their decision over the Blue Jay kickers. The defending National Collegiate Athletic Association champions held the upper hand on offense most of the way, however, outshooting the Jays 26-10. Goalie Frank Zimmerman turned in an outstanding performance for the Jays.

The loss put the Jays at 1-1 on the season. They had previously beaten Bucknell at Lewisburg, 5-2.

Prior to the East Stroudsburg battle, on Homecoming Day, Wright's men were to face Lock Haven at home and Susquehanna away.

The field hockey loss was the first for Elizabethtown since East Stroudsburg banged out a 5-2 triumph on October 1, 1960.

West Chester built up a 3-1 lead by halftime and coasted in from there as each team scored once in the second half. Elizabethtown goals were pushed through by Linda Eshelman and Sue Wood.

Linda, having scored at least once in each of the four games to date, has a total of 13.

With one game scheduled before Homecoming (Lock Haven, Oct. 18), the Jaygals seasonal mark stood at two wins, one tie, one loss. The tie was a 4-4 affair with East Stroudsburg. The victories were over Lebanon Valley (11-0) and Millersville (6-2).

The harriers made Moravian their second victim on the strength of strong finishes by Bill Drea, Mike Staman, and Al Owens, who placed 1-2-3 in that order. Bill Reed finished fifth.

Coupled with a 24-31 season-opening triumph over Albright, the win put the Jay runners at 2-0 with one meet slated before Homecoming. That one was scheduled at Juniata on October 17.

Fred Seltzer — Versatile Athlete

By ED WORDEN

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a series of feature articles highlighting athletes who are in their final year of competition for the Jays.

When Fred Seltzer graduates in June, he will have played a total of eight sports seasons here at E-town. That means a lot of Varsity "E"s.

Fred Seltzer

Although Fred prefers baseball, his main forte (if we had to choose) has always been soccer. Last year he was named honorable mention All-American (an All-American, a nebulous term to many of us, is voted on by referees and by coaches of various teams). The husky Annville native will be returning as a three-year veteran in the full-back slot.

In the summer Fred plays center field for two local teams (Shafterstown Barons and the American Legion). At Elizabethtown, he has two years experience with our nine.

Leader Retreat Held At Swatara

Approximately 35 campus leaders converged on Camp Swatara on the weekend of October 6 to discuss Elizabethtown College's past, present, and future.

Chaired by Student Association President Gerald Risser, the Student Leader Retreat was in session from Saturday evening till Monday morning. Purpose: to look at Elizabethtown College through the eyes of those responsible for giving it direction. Attending were chairmen of the Committees on Men's and Women's Affairs, publication editors, executive committees of the Christian Association and the Student Union Board, class presidents, athletic team representatives, and several faculty and administrators.

In his junior year, Fred played basketball on the JV squad. Now back on more familiar territory, the future teacher promises to be one of the most experienced fullbacks on the field this year.

Voice --- from the Sidelines

By FISKE MARTIN

The voice doesn't go out on a limb too often, but, we think we're on a strong branch this time. Sparing a rash of injuries or ill fortune, here is the way we pick the Jays this soccer season. JAYS VS.

BUCKNELL: A tough game, as the Jays face the Bisons on foreign soil. Bucknell is celebrating their Homecoming on the day of this game, and they haven't forgotten what we did to them last year. Could go either way, but we pick the Jays by two goals.

Martin

WEST CHESTER: Who can be sane and try to pick a winner out of this madhouse? But, since we're not claiming to be balanced, we'll say this — perhaps the best game in the country this year with the Jays on top by a one-goal margin, with neither team scoring more than three goals.

LOCK HAVEN: No push-over, but relaxing after West Chester. This one is at home, so we say E.C. by 3 or 4.

SUSQUEHANNA: Ought to give the Jays a break and send the girls' field hockey team instead. If Sus. scores, it will be a moral victory for them. Jays by at least 10.

E. STROUDSBURG: Remember last year's Bucknell game after they were the only team to beat us in '60?? This is our Homecoming and we say Coach Wright will have a 2-0 H-coming record after this one. Jays by two.

LYCOMING; M-VILLE, and WILKES: Looks like three decisive victories for the Blue and Gray.

DREXEL: Always a good game, but home field spells victory for the Jay booters.

ST. JOE'S: Could mean trouble for the Blue Jays, but we'll go with our boys once again. Jays by 2 or 3.

G-BURG: It's about time for us to roll over the Bullets.

College To Host Brethren Youth On November 17

Elizabethtown College will play host to Brethren young people in the Eastern, Southern, and neighboring districts of Pennsylvania during Brethren Youth Day, to be held November 17.

Youth fellowship groups, youth advisors, pastors, and district youth cabinets of the two districts and several groups from nearby districts will be invited to spend the afternoon and evening on the campus.

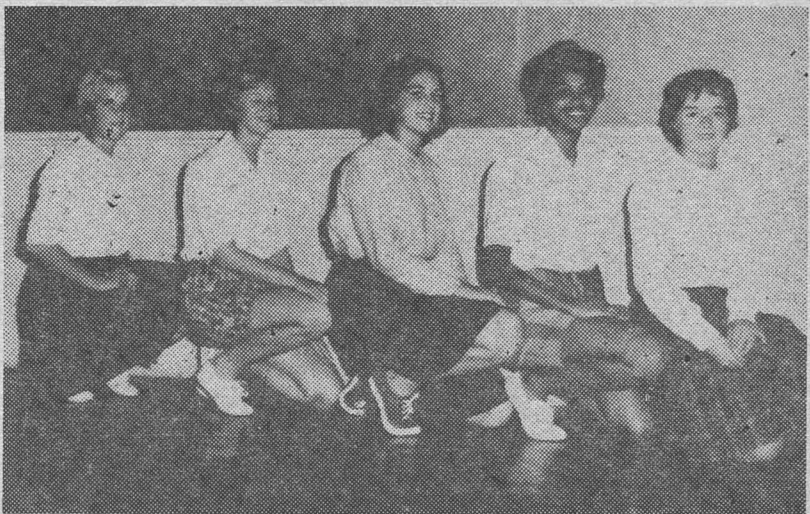

Included in the day's events will be a campus tour, a discussion on "Learning to Know Your College," recreation in the new Baugher Student Center (bowling, swimming, a spiritual movie), a cafeteria supper, and a brief inspirational session with Dr. Nevin Zuck, pastor of the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren.

Brethren students now attending Elizabethtown College will register the visitors and serve as student guides.

Registration is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. in the student center; activities will end about 8 p.m.

Bonnie Hancher Named Captain Of Cheer Squad

Presenting a spirited and enthusiastic appearance at college athletic events and pep rallies will be our varsity cheerleaders, headed by junior Bonnie Hancher.

With two years experience behind her, Bonnie will combine with Carol Ashton, Louise Brown, Diana Miller, and Sue Wade to round out the "varsity five."

Supporting the junior varsity teams will be Sharon Sullivan, captain, Rose Murry and Eileen Taylor, who have seen action before and Jane Moyer and Gene Kinneman, newcomers to the scene.

Alternates chosen were LaVon Manning, Connie Linn, Janet Kizenberger, and Mary Anna Felton.

It is expected that with these girls as a firm foundation the fever of school spirit will infect everyone at "old E.C."

MILES LATER — Bill Drea, two year veteran harrier, is first to complete the course during a practice run.

College Mourns Death of Two

Dr. A. C. Baugher Dies Unexpectedly

Friends, students, and associates mourned the passing of Dr. A. C. Baugher, retired president of Elizabethtown College.

Stricken with a heart attack while working in his garden Friday morning, November 2, Dr. Baugher, who was rushed to the Lancaster General Hospital, died in the Intensive Care Unit at 9:30 a.m. He was sixty-nine.

Dr. Baugher who had been scheduled to speak Sunday at the Lititz Church of the Brethren also was scheduled to be honored, with his wife, Sunday, November 18, at the dedication of the A. C. Baugher Student Center at Elizabethtown College.

A reception was to be held after the dedication of the student union building in honor of Dr. Baugher who originally had conceived the construction of the building. Formally opened for student use November 4, the student center fulfills Dr. Baugher's wish to provide for the entire interests of the student body. Dr. Baugher toured the building one day before his death.

Approximately 800 persons attended the funeral services for Dr. Baugher, held at the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren, Monday, November 5. He was buried in Mt. Tunnel Cemetery.

The services were conducted by Dr. Nevin H. Zuck, pastor of the church, assisted by Dr. Roy E. McAuley, president of the College.

In his eulogy, the Rev. Dr. Zuck said Dr. Baugher led a "rich and full life." He stated that Dr. Baugher was known for his friendliness, sense of humor and single-minded devotion to the church and to education.

Dr. McAuley read resolutions praising Dr. Baugher from the college and from the Eastern Pennsylvania District, Church of the Brethren.

Penn State Prof. Featured During Baugher Series

Dr. Mary Willard, professor of chemistry at The Pennsylvania State University, will be the lecturer this year for the A. C. Baugher Chemistry Lecture Series.

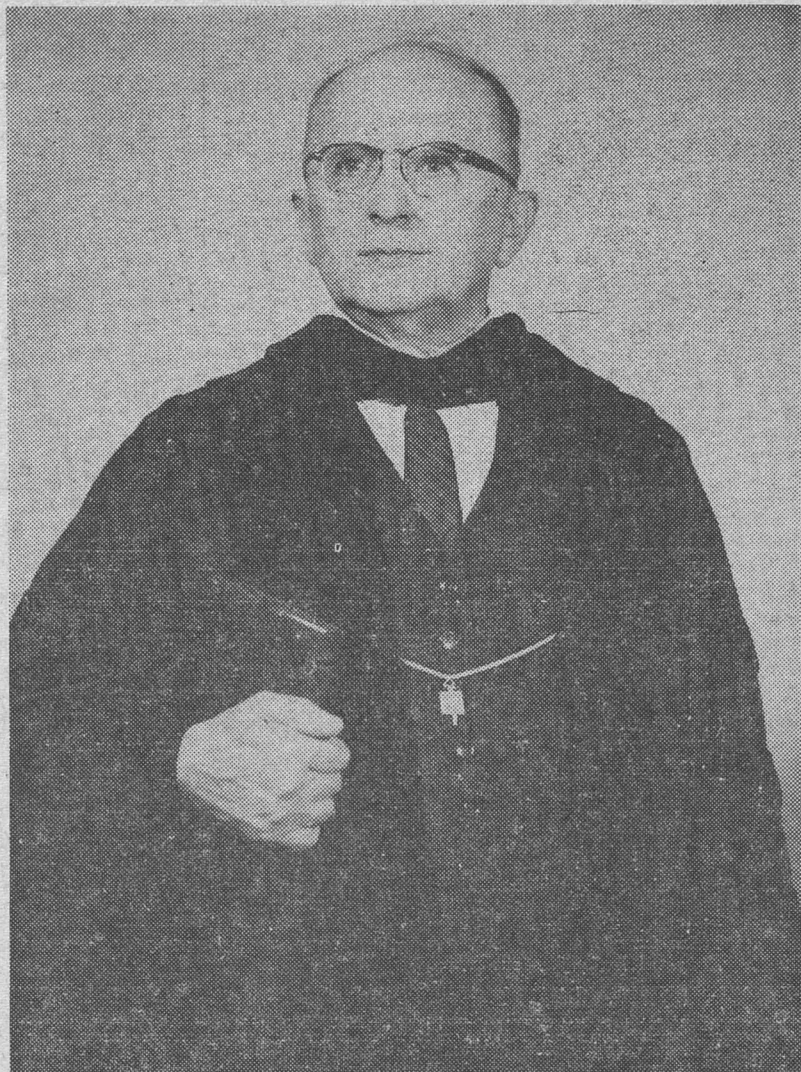

Dr. O. F. Stambaugh, head of the department of chemistry, announced that Dr. Willard will be on the campus December 10 and 11. She will speak in the Brinsler Lecture Room, December 10 at 8:30 p.m. on the topic, "Fur Coat and Cosmetic Chemistry."

Her December 11 talk will be entitled "Chemistry in Crime." That will be held at the same place beginning at 7:30 p.m.

In addition Dr. Willard will be available for individual conferences and classroom consultation at the scheduling of Dr. Stambaugh.

Sponsored by the faculty of the College, the series was begun last year as a yearly event in honor of the late Dr. A. C. Baugher, president of the College from 1941 to 1961.

Dr. William A. Mosher, head of the department of chemistry at the University of Delaware, was the first lecturer of the series, last year.

Baugher Student Center Dedication November 18

A series of open house programs culminating in dedication ceremonies November 18 will mark the opening of the new A. C. Baugher Student Center at Elizabethtown College.

Debate Team Cites Plans For The Year

Under the direction of Jobie E. Riley, the debate society has met and begun making tentative plans for this year's meets, discussions, and extemporaneous speeches.

The new debate proposition is —Resolved: That the non-communist nations of the world should establish an economic community.

Slated to debate for the affirmative throughout the year are Judith Ullery and Jack Richard, and Robert Burkholder and Clyde Kreider.

Supporting the negative side will be Molly Moerschbacher and Keith Weiss, and Tom Moore and Tom Ott.

It is to be emphasized that the group is neither entirely a debating society nor a closed assembly. There will be opportunity for discussion groups, extemporaneous speeches, as well as activities in connection with the campus radio station.

On November 10 Richard, Weiss, and Misses Ullery and Moerschbacher represented the College in a tournament at Queens College, New York. Sandra Eisenbise, Elizabeth Hershberger, Marilyn Fox, and Tom Rotunno competed at Lehigh University on October 27.

Named for Dr. A. C. Baugher, president of the College from 1941 to 1961, the building completely surrounds the old Alumni Gymnasium. It was officially opened for the first time Sunday, November 4, and put into use November 5.

Portions of the two-story brick structure had been open for restricted use since the beginning of the term.

Local service clubs and business contracts will view the building from 7 to 10 p.m. on November 13. Local citizens will be guests, November 16. A Church of the Brethren Youth Day will be held in the Center on the following day.

Special guests at the dedicatory open house will include church leaders, alumni, local dignitaries, and parents of students.

The college was host to the Lancaster General Hospital Auxiliary Fashion Show in the Center, November 10.

Built at a cost of approximately $650,000, the Center provides facilities for conference rooms, the campus post office, bowling alleys, a swimming pool, lounges, a publications center, and the campus store. It is one of two major buildings to be completed this fall.

The other is the B. Mary Royer Residence for Women, located on the western edge of the campus and housing 131 students.

The addition of the Baugher Student center and the Royer residence for Women is a part of the general plan for development of the College. Six major buildings have been added to the campus since 1950.

Elizabeth Myer Portrait To Be Unveiled Dec. 1

A special program for the unveiling of a portrait of Miss Elizabeth Myer will be held by the Women's Auxiliary of Elizabethtown College in the lounge of Elizabeth Myer Hall, December 1 at 3 p.m.

Immediately following, the Auxiliary will hold a reception and tea for those in attendance including the special guests, ministers and wives of the Eastern and Southern Pennsylvania Districts of the Church of the Brethren.

Painted by Florence Starr Taylor, Lancaster, the portrait will be presented by Dr. Ralph W. Schlosser, president emeritus of the College, and received by Dr. Roy E. McAuley, president.

Named for Elizabeth Myer, one of the three original professors of the College, the residence was officially dedicated on May 11, 1957. It houses 130 women students and the campus dining hall.

Mrs. Wallace Baldwin, Palmyra, is president of the Auxiliary. Miss Ethel M. B. Wenger, associate professor of education at the College, is arranging the unveiling program.

New Residence Honors Grad B. Mary Royer

The new residence hall for women was formally dedicated and named on Saturday, October 20 as part of the Homecoming Day activities here on campus.

The new dormitory, occupied for the first time this fall, was named in honor of Miss B. Mary Royer, an alumna of the College and a native of Lebanon County.

Miss Royer, who was graduated by the College in 1921, was a resident of Richland. She served as a missionary to India from 1913 to 1947 and died in December, 1951.

Dr. Roy E. McAuley, president of the College, presided during the dedication exercises that were held in front of the dormitory at 4:30 p.m.

The naming of the dormitory was announced by Dr. Joseph W. Kettering, chairman of the College's Board of Trustees.

Prof. L. D. Rose Succumbs At 78

Prof. emeritus Lewis D. Rose, former German teacher, librarian, and director of the Brethren Historical Library at the College for 25 years, died October 15 after an illness of two years. He was 78.

An ordained Brethren minister since 1917, he assumed teaching duties at the College in 1921 and retired from the position in 1941. During the same period he was librarian.

Later he became director of the Brethren Historical Library and retired from that position in 1956.

In 1955, Prof. Rose, a member of the class of 1908, was the honored recipient of the second "alumni chair" for significant alumni service to the College. He was the first alumni secretary from 1928 to 1947 and was active in alumni committees until retirement.

At the College's Commencement exercises June 3, 1962, he received a citation for his years of distinguished service to the College.

After attending Elizabethtown College, he earned a bachelor of arts degree at Ursinus College in 1911, and a master of arts at the University of Pennsylvania in 1935. He also attended Penn State University in 1917.

Prior to his employment at Elizabethtown College he was principal of several schools in Somerset and Cambria Counties.

Campus Council Created Here

A Campus Council has been created to consider agenda relevant to the student body, the faculty, and the administration at Elizabethtown.

The Council consists of the Administrative Committee, the Student Senate, and four faculty members, who as of yet have not been chosen. The President of the College will preside at the meetings.

The Campus Council is not a policy making organization but rather a better means for an exchange of ideas and opinions relative to the college community.

There are no set guide lines as to what will be discussed; the agenda will be prepared cooperatively by the President of the College and the President of the Student Senate. The topic of the first meeting is Cheating.

Sounding Board Especially For Alumni...

Commuters Give Views

QUESTION: Does Elizabethtown College provide a real place in its program for commuting students? If not how can the situation be improved?

E A R L STIMELING—Senior—The commuting students would be better informed about campus happenings if they could read Friday's news on Friday instead of Monday morning. Couldn't commuting mail be distributed earlier on Fridays? Something is missed by reading what happened last weekend!

BETTY WENGER — Junior — The commuting students certainly have a place in the academic program and are invited to all extra-curricular activities. But too often commuters are unable to come to the college for evening activities and thus feel left out. I think definite daytime activities should be planned for commuters (by commuters), such as co-ed lunch parties. I'm glad to hear that there will be specified times when only commuting students may use the student center facilities.

DONALD RABER—Senior—I think the college does provide adequate opportunities for the commuting students to participate in, but in many instances it's not convenient for them to take an active interest in campus activities.

FRED LANE—Junior—The planning which went into the new facilities this fall seems to evidence to me a concern for both resident and commuter interests. The school is soon to open new facilities in the B.U.B. and it is up to the commuting student to take advantage of them.

WILLIAM GROSS—Sophomore — Right now, the college does not provide a real place in its program for commuters. Many of us arrive at 7:40 and do not leave until 4 or 5. There is no place on campus to get a good lunch, and no place to spend our leisure time. The Student Union Building will probably improve this though. Club meetings should be held during school hours to increase commuter participation. A commuting student really is "just out of it" simply because he is a commuter.

WILLIAM G R I M—Senior—The college does not provide ample facilities for study by the commuting students. The library is the only possible place and many times it is too noisy and too crowded for concentration. Solution: Student Union Building, possibly.

WAYNE KEENE — Junior — I think the commuter has many activities available to him including sporting events, plays, class trips, intramural sports, etc. Perhaps time doesn't allow him the close association with his classmates. But basically, it's what we make it. Scheduling of exams before instead of after major events would insure a more healthy attendance.

SCOTT SWANK — Junior — I definitely feel that I am a part of Elizabethtown College although there is very little personal recruiting by the resident students inviting commuters to join campus organizations. It seems that there is a great deal of indifference among the resident students towards making the commuters a vital part of the campus.

ALUMNI SPIRIT IS GROWING

Homecoming weekend, 1962, is now history; but oh, what glorious history. In all the excitement of the weekend, not all alumni present on campus registered, so we cannot get an accurate count, but it certainly appeared to me that this was the largest alumni turnout I have seen during my association with Elizabethtown College.

There was even a much greater attendance at the formal Homecoming Dance than I had dared to expect.

It seemed to me that everywhere one looked, at the dance or on Homecoming Day, alumni were grouped renewing friendships amid amazement at the physical changes taking place on campus — even in one year.

This display of interest speaks well for continuance of growth of this church-related college. With your strong support, the college can exist and compete side by side with state-supported colleges. The vital interest in Elizabethtown College was also displayed at Alumni Council meeting, held the Thursday evening before Homecoming. It makes me happy to report that in attendance were all the elected officers of the Council, nine of the ten council members, and, for the first time in my recollection, one of our three alumni trustees.

Without a bit of hesitation the new members got into the spirit of participation with new ideas for a continued and improved alumni program.

This year the ETOWNIAN is carrying articles about the Alumni Council members. We hope that reading about these persons will assist you in getting acquainted with your representatives.

Again I would remind you to seek out and speak to your council members, through letters or in person, so that they may better serve you.

Don't sit on your thoughts; the council certainly can't act on them if you alone retain them.

Another indication of this increased spirit of alumni is the interest being exhibited in the formation of the new Alumni Chapters. Your Alumni Secretary is in the process of forming 8 new chapters. As this goes to press two chapters have already been organized.

You might check the October issue of the ETOWNIAN to see if a chapter is being formed in your area. It is possible that with 4,500 names to check, yours was inadvertently overlooked and no personal invitation was directed your way. We hope you will excuse this oversight and will consider this a blanket invitation to attend the organization meeting in your area.

The alumni spirit of Elizabethtown College is growing. Are you a part of it?

PORTRAIT OF AN ALUMNUS

Homecoming Day gives an alumnus an opportunity to evaluate the college, its faculty, the buildings, the college program. The college, too, has the opportunity to examine the alumnus in one way or another.

In this evaluation, the college and administration and the faculty hope to find justification for their educational programs and efforts. What is the younger alumnus like?

The three or four year old alumnus is more mature physically than his in-college friends. He reflects experience on the job, reasonably satisfactory occupational placement, and contentment in his work.

The male alumnus will likely be pushing a baby carriage and leading a tot at the same time. The married male, too, is proud of his family and the young mother looks approvingly and with equal pride on her husband and family. Here, then, is reflected security—economic, emotional, and occupational.

If the alumnus is in a profession, he is pursuing higher education, either full or part-time. His educational goals are still beyond him, indicating that there remain unexplored fields of work and service. He has sensed the implications of "continuing education."

At the same time, he remembers the college which provided the ground work for his success and he looks with increasing appreciation upon his educational disciplining.

The loyalty of the alumnus is reflected in his communication with the alumni office. The communication may refer to job change, address change, marriage, promotion, or obtaining advanced degree.

It may be reflected also in his financial support of the college, in participation of chapter activities, in suggesting student prospects to the admissions office.

Whether the alumnus is on or off campus, he reflects a stature of attainment or growth which gives the faculty and college administration justifiable pride.

The college, thereby, on seeing this living symbol feels that it has proven its worthwhileness. Pride tempered with humility acclaims, "There goes one of our alumni."

Alumnus Directs European Tour

J. Kenneth Kreider, '61, is now taking reservations for European Friendship Tour II, which will cover 13 countries in 49 days beginning Sunday, June 23.

Designed to help people become acquainted with some of the customs, peoples, and traditions of the Old World, the tour will feature ten days in the U. S. S. R.

Other countries included in the tour's itinerary are Holland, Germany, Czechoslovakia, Austria, Hungary, Poland, Finland, Sweden, Denmark, Norway, Scotland, and England. The tour will end August 10.

Return tickets can be adjusted to stay in Europe for additional days or weeks. Accommodations are first class.

Further information can be obtained by writing Kreider at 39 Woodsdale Park, State College, Pa.

COMMITTEES REPORT

Alumni Council Presents Minutes Of October Meeting

(ED. NOTE: In accordance with action taken by council of the General Alumni Association, the minutes of the October 18, 1962, meeting are summarized for alumni.)

The Public Relations Committee recommended that an honors luncheon be held on Saturday, June 1, 1963, 12:00 noon; that an alumni chair be presented to an honored alumnus; that seniors be given a souvenir at the senior-alumni dinner; that more information of the campus edition of the Etownian appear in the alumni edition; that each chapter elect a news reporter to communicate with the alumni office; that the chapter officers picnic be continued; that alumni be encouraged to report to the alumni office what they would like to see in the alumni Bulletin (annual).

The Alumni Day Committee confirmed the recommendation that a distinguished alumnus be honored at a luncheon on Alumni Day. The committee recommended that afternoon activities consist of baseball game, varsity and alumni; campus slides; guided tours; that classes meet at 4:00 p.m.: Golden Anniversary class at Dr. and Mrs. Schlosser residence; Silver Anniversary, location pending; tenth anniversary, Dr. and Mrs. Roy E. McAuley; all classes of the last nine years and unassigned groups meet under the elms in front of Alpha Hall with professors mingling with the group; that faculty and their spouses be invited to the senior-alumni dinner; that Dr. Albert Gray be the dinner speaker.

The Nominating Committee submitted the following names for the offices indicated:

Vice President

Charlotte (Glasmire) Garman ('41)

Paul Grubb, Jr. ('55)

J. Albert Seldomridge ('52)

Female Council Member

Bertha (Groff) Graham ('34)

Ruth (Bishop) Jones ('37)

Shirley (Warner) Seldomridge ('53)

Male Council Member

Dr. Galen Jones ('40)

James Pannebaker ('58)

Women Alumni Trustee

Esther (Zug) Papson ('36)

Pearl (Brock) Risser ('40)

L. Anna Schwenk ('22)

C. G. Enterline, alumni secretary, reported that the June, 1961, directives of the council were carried out, that the alumni Directory was prepared and distributed; that the alumni edition of the Etownian is being sent monthly; that Homecoming Day plans were set up; that handbooks for chapter officers were distributed; that the alumni visited chapters throughout the year and that new chapters are being organized.

President Bitting reported on the sequence of buildings likely to be constructed on campus in the future; classroom building, dormitories as needed, chapel auditorium, field house.

Council also recommended that the college board of trustees consider naming the forthcoming classroom building Schlosser, in honor of many years and areas of service of Ralph W. Schlosser.

1944 Graduate Gets Armstrong Promotion

Dr. Galen E. Graham, who was graduated from Elizabethtown College in 1944 with a B.S. degree in Chemistry, has been named Manager of a Research Unit in the Chemistry Division of the Armstrong Cork Company's Research and Development Center.

Graham served part time as a laboratory technician at the Center in 1943 and 1944. He received a Ph.D. degree in Organic Chemistry from Purdue University in 1952 and rejoined Armstrong that same year. Since then he has served as a Chemist in Plastic Flooring Research and was named a Section Head in this activity in 1959.

Trustee Board Approves Budget Of $1.3 Million

A record high operating budget of $1.3 million for the 1962-63 school year was approved October 13 by the Board of Trustees. This figure represents an increase of approximately $200,000 over last year.

The record budget reflects an all-time record enrollment of 895 full time students at the College this year.

An expanded curriculum and building construction also account for the growth of total operations. Beginning this year the College is offering two new majors — music education and physics. Twelve members have been added to the faculty.

In a report to the Board on the progress of the building program, Pres. Roy E. McAuley announced that the new women's dormitory is now occupied, and that the student union building, built around the old gymnasium, is nearing completion, with portions already in use.

The two buildings are being constructed at a total cost of $1.2 million.

Dr. McAuley also reported to the board that a total of $201,000 was collected during the college's annual Giving Fund Drive.

The Board elected officers, and Dr. Joseph W. Kettering, Elizabethtown, was named chairman for his seventh one-year term.

The Rev. Noah S. Sellers, Lineboro, Md., was re-elected vice-chairman, and Dr. Horace E. Raffensperger, Elizabethtown, was elected secretary.

Miss Wenger Named To Advisory Committee

Miss Ethel M. B. Wenger, associate professor of education, has been appointed to the Educational Advisory Committee of the International Christian Youth Exchange.

The Exchange is a cooperative association sponsored by nine protestant denominations in the United States; it works closely with the Youth Department of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. and the World Council of Christian Education.

Director of Study Abroad Program

Dr. Byerly to Spend Year In Germany

Dr. Robert A. Byerly has been named European Director of the Brethren college study abroad program for 1963-64. Head of the department of Bible and director of religious activities on campus, Dr. Byerly will serve as advisor for the approximately 25 students who will spend the academic term studying at Marburg University, Marburg, Germany.

Elizabethtown College cooperates with the five other colleges affiliated with the Church of the Brethren in the "Brethren Colleges Abroad" program which began this fall.

The program is designed to meet the needs of college juniors whose academic interests will be strengthened by a year of study in a foreign University.

Byerly will succeed Dr. William G. Willoughby, Bridgewater College professor, who is advising the group in Germany this year.

In addition to coordinating travel plans and an orientation seminar aboard ship en route to Europe, Byerly will serve as one of the instructors, along with several German professors.

He has been to Germany twice in the past. In 1946 he visited the country as part of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

Byerly spent an entire summer in Europe as director of the International Student Peace Seminar at Kassel, Germany, in 1956. At that time he supervised 25 youth from 13 different countries.

Marburg University is the oldest Protestant University in the world. Located about halfway between Kassel and Frankfurt, the medieval city of Marburg was the site of the historic debate between Luther and Melancthon on the nature of the eucharist.

In addition to Elizabethtown other participating colleges include Bridgewater College, Bridgewater, Virginia; Juniata College, Huntingdon; LaVerne, LaVerne, California; Manchester College, North Manchester, Indiana; and McPherson College,

Chapters Plan Meetings

Alumni in northern and southern New Jersey and the Schuylkill Valley have responded to the call for meetings in their respective areas. The college administration and the general alumni association hope for an equally good response in the forthcoming meetings. Scheduled meetings follow:

Proposed Chapter	Meeting Place	Date
Lehigh Valley	Moravian College, South Hall Piano Studio Bethlehem, Pennsylvania Mr. & Mrs. Richmond Myers	Nov. 17, 1962 7:30 p.m.
Cumberland Valley	Church of the Brethren Greencastle, Pennsylvania	Dec. 1, 1962 7:30 p.m.

Nancy Sheaffer, '53, 110 Susquehanna Avenue, Lansdale, Penna., and Wilbur Cassel, '29, Fairview Village announce a Philadelphia Chapter meeting at Mooreheads in Collegeville, January 12, 1963 at 6:30 p.m. Alumni in the Philadelphia-Norristown area are encouraged to note the date and to plan to attend the meeting.

Miss Sheaffer, Mr. Cassel, and the program committee are planning an interesting evening of fellowship. Send your reservations to Miss Nancy Sheaffer, secretary of the Philadelphia Chapter.

BALTIMORE

The Baltimore Chapter of the Elizabethtown College Alumni Association sparked the fall meetings with a picnic on Saturday, September 22, 1962.

A group of fifty or more met in the grove of the Meadow Brook Church of the Brethren near Westminster. Alumni activities ran from 2:30 p.m. to 6:00 p.m.

The day was cool and breezy but a roaring fire place in the grove shed its warmth to those who could gather near enough. Leon E. Henise, '50 kept the younger set in vigorous action with touch football.

The Arthur J. Risser, '40, family demonstrated some fancy passing of football on their own while President Clyde R. Shallenberger and witty and lively William I. C. Knight kept the conversation moving.

The miracle of loaves and fishes was again in evidence. Alumni had brought sufficient food—sandwiches, frankfurters and rolls, pastries, fresh fruit—so that guests and the unprovided had sufficient. Still there remained enough food for an evening picnic, had one been called.

Officers for the year are Clyde R. Shallenberger, '49, president; Harvey S. Kline, '43, vice president; Mrs. Arthur J. Risser, '40, secretary; Leon E. Henise, '50, treasurer.

NORTHERN NEW JERSEY

Northern New Jersey alumni got off to a flying start in an organizational meeting at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. James Miller, '55 (Elva Jean Lehman, '56) 8 Oxford Lane, Madison on Saturday evening, October 27.

In addition to the Millers, the following alumni were present: Dr. and Mrs. John P. Ranck, '58 (Henrietta Kohr, '61); Dr. and Mrs. M. Alexander Glasmire, '37 (Helen Shutzer, '37); Mr. and Mrs. C. Lawrence Farver (Gayle Sweigart, '63); Marguerite Brown, '59, Galen B. Fahnestock, '50.

Among the guests and visiting alumni were Mr. and Mrs. James Miller, Sr., Elizabethtown, and Clarence G. Enterline, alumni secretary.

The meeting opened with introductions and invocation. The alumni secretary indicated the purpose of alumni chapters as expressed in a handbook prepared for E. C. alumni chapters, building and activities.

Officers for Northern New Jersey alumni are: Dr. James Miller, '55, president, 8 Oxford Lane, Madison; Dr. M. Alexander Glasmire, '37, vice president, 23 Oakridge Road, West Orange; Miss Marguerite Brown, '59, 33 Morris Avenue, Summit.

The officers are calling an executive meeting (to consist of newly elected officers and alumni attending the organizational meeting) in January, 1963 at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. M.

Rabbi Bark To Be Guest on Campus

Rabbi Nathan Bark, of the Boulevard Temple in Philadelphia, will be on campus November 14 and 15 as featured chapel speaker, lecturer for comparative religions class, and speaker for Wednesday evening ECCA session.

Rabbi Nathan Bark

Rabbi Bark received his B.A. Degree from Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Maryland. He was ordained at Hebrew Union College—Jewish Institute of Religion, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Previous to his present position in Philadelphia, Rabbi Bark served a congregation in Rome, Georgia and served as assistant rabbi at Temple Judea in Philadelphia.

Rabbi Bark comes to Elizabethtown through the Jewish Chautauqua Society, an organization which creates better understanding of Jews and Judaism through education.

Alexander Glasmire.

SOUTHERN NEW JERSEY

Through rain and sleet, snow and wind, drove nine enthusiastic Elizabethtown College alumni to attend the organizational meeting at Haddonfield, N.J., on Saturday, November 3.

The adventurers on this occasion were Dr. Samuel V. Geyer, '39, Haddonfield, Miss Beverly Jerrell, '59, Millville, Miss Dorothy E. Zlobik, '60, Bridgeton, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lantzy, '60, Haddonfield, Miss Madeline Brightbill, '59, Gloucester, C. G. Enterline, '31, and Dr. Jacob E. Hershman, '36, Elizabethtown.

Tourney Hopes High For Jay Soccermen

Booters Win 7 Straight Jaygals End With 4-2-2

Hopes for a post season tournament berth for the soccer team were running high; the women's field hockey team entered the Central Penn Tournament and came out with six all stars; and the cross country team dropped below .500 in early November athletic action at Elizabethtown College.

As of November 9 the booters had an 8-1 mark with two games remaining, the Jaygals were through on the regular season with a 4-2-2 log, and the harriers were set to run in their season's finale, a triangular meet at Johns Hopkins.

Coach Owen Wright's soccer men chalked up their seventh successive victory November 7 when they tripped Gettysburg 8-0 here. The shutout was the third straight and fourth in five games for goalie Frank Zimmerman.

Tony McGlaughlin, center forward, added four goals to his team leading total with two in each half. He had 16 going into the Wilkes game November 10.

Inside Al Hershey slammed in two goals against the Bullets and ran his runnerup scoring count to 13.

Still in a position to cop the Northern Division crown in the Middle Atlantic Conference if Lehigh, the current pacesetter, loses, Coach Wright's booters were at 6-1 in the division going into the conference finale at Wilkes. The Millersville contest, rescheduled to November 13 from a November 3 washout, has no bearing on the conference standings.

Should the division title elude them, as it did last year by a hair, the Blue Jays will still be in an excellent position, in terms of post season tournament bids, if they can win the last two.

Going into the Wilkes battle the only team to defeat the Jays was East Chester, 2-0, and that was early in the season.

In addition to Gettysburg the Jays' other shutout victims were perhaps their most formidable opponents — East Stroudsburg (2-0), Drexel (3-0), and St. Joseph's (2-0).

Hockey Team Sends Six To Mid-East Tournament

An 11-1 field hockey win over Moravian on October 31 concluded the regular season for the women, but they didn't hang up their uniforms as a team until after the Central Penn Tournament at Lock Haven State College, November 4 and 5.

As a result of their play at Lock Haven, six of the Jaygals were to compete in the Mid-East tournament at Pittsburgh on November 10 and 11. Should any of the six be named to the Mid-East all star teams, she will have the opportunity to play in the national tournament at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio, over the Thanksgiving holidays.

Miss Eshelman ended a brilliant college career with three first half goals in the Moravian game. The trio of tallies boosted her career total to 64, an Elizabethtown College record. Her 19 goals on the season also set a record.

Harriers Need Victory To Finish With .500 Log

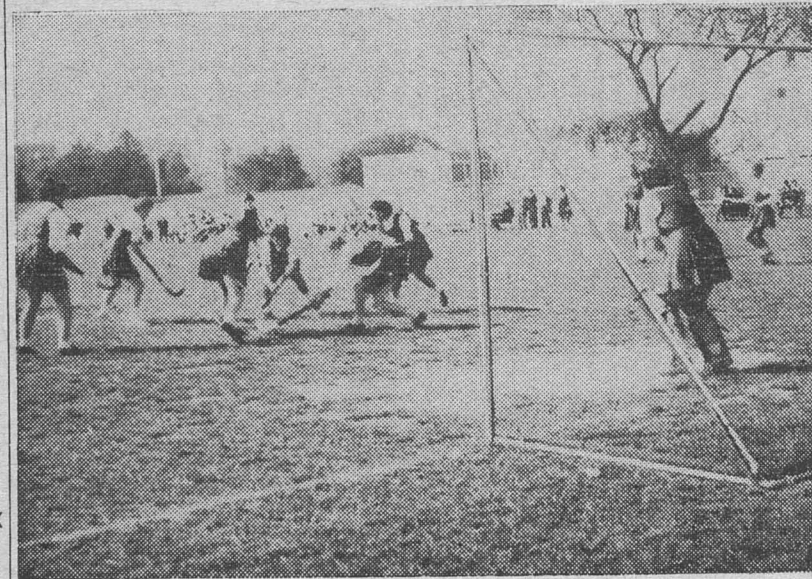

Coach Les Baum's cindermen kept their record at an even .500 with a win over Dickinson and a loss to Franklin and Marshall during the first week in November, but a 19-37 loss to Gettysburg on November 7 shoved them under with only a triangular meet remaining.

The meet was slated for November 10 against Johns Hopkins and Penna. Military College on the former's course. With a 4-5 record going into the race, the Jay runners had to defeat both opponents to finish at .500 or above.

In the first triangular meet of the season they finished between Temple and Muhlenberg, losing to Temple and beating Muhlenberg.

Against Gettysburg the best Elizabethtown could do was places five to eight. Freshman Al Owens broke the Bullet monopoly when he came in fifth. Bill Drean, Mike Staman, and Bill Reed followed him across the line.

Owens and Drean have been the only Blue Jays to win races this year to date. Owens split the tape first against Albright and Dickinson. Drean finished first against Moravian. The Jays won all three.

JAYGAL ACTION—E-town's field hockey team nears the opponent's goal in Homecoming Day action. Dickinson fell victim to the Jaygals in both the varsity and junior varsity contests.

Republicans Sweep Campus Straw Vote

As in previous years, Republican candidates won one-sided victories in the mock election held by students on the campus of Elizabethtown College.

With a small turnout of only 187 voters, Republican gubernatorial candidate William W. Scranton won by the largest margin, receiving 79 percent of the votes to Richardson Dilworth's 21 percent.

In the senatorial race Republican James E. Van Zandt pulled 65 percent of the votes to 35 percent for Democrat Joseph S. Clark.

Other results were as follows: Lieutenant Governor — Shafer (Rep.), 71.5 percent; McCann (Dem.) 28.5 percent; Supreme Court Judge—Roberts (Rep.), 72 percent; Keim (Dem.), 23 percent; Internal Affairs Secretary — Kelly (Rep.), 63 percent, Blatt (Dem.), 37 percent.

The election was sponsored by the Political Science Club.

Jay Cagers To Open At Rutgers Nov. 30

Six lettermen, including four of last year's top five scorers, will be on hand for the opening of the 1962-63 basketball campaign at Elizabethtown College.

Coach Don Smith's Blue Jay dribblers will first see action against Rutgers of South Jersey at Trenton, November 30. Their initial home game is slated for Monday, December 3, against Lebanon Valley.

The Jay's ace scorer of a season ago, Barry Boyer, has graduated, but Coach Don Smith has four high scoring holdovers in Dan Reitmeyer, freshman center; Jim Schlichter, junior guard; John Neely, junior guard; and Larry Evans, sophomore forward.

The other lettermen back include John Graham, senior forward, and Wally MacPherson, junior guard.

Reitmeyer, 6' 7" business administration major, ran second to Boyer in scoring last year with 285 points or 15 points per game. In addition he was second on the team in rebounds with 199.

Schlichter, 5' 9", and Neely, 5' 6", had 256 and 205 points in that order. Neely, captain of the squad this year, will be counted on as chief playmaker.

With 158 points and 112 rebounds a year ago, Evans will have to team with Reitmeyer in the height department. He is a stocky 6' 3".

Among the non-lettering members of the squad, the early standouts include Bill Bechtold, junior guard and forward who joined the squad late last season; Larry Wyles, sophomore forward up from the junior varsity; and Doug Boomershrine, 5' 10" freshman guard.

Last year the Jays record was 14 wins and 6 losses.

Hold Sadie Hawkins Day

The gals on campus had their say in the who, what, and where of dating on the weekend of November 9, when Sadie Hawkins Day was celebrated. Included in the scheduled events was a sing along session featuring the Four Profs, the crowning of the King of Dog Patch, and a record hop.

Election Coverage Provided

Two television sets were installed in the Baugher Student Center November 6 to provide students with an opportunity to follow the election returns. Instigated by the Political Science Club, the sets were furnished free of charge by the Jacob B. Fisher Appliance Store of Elizabethtown.

Wilde's Play Impressive

"The Importance of Being Earnest," Oscar Wilde's most famous play, was enthusiastically received by a relatively small audience, November 3. The community cultural program featuring the Cleveland Play House was hampered by the season's first snow storm in the Elizabethtown area.

Music Center Displayed

An Open House in West Hall was held by the department of music, November 11. Formerly a residence hall for students, the building was renovated this summer to house the expanded department which has added a music education program to its offerings this year.

Honor Group Adds 8

Baugher, all activities at the college were suspended Monday Pallbearers for Dr. Baugher were Dr. Galen Kilhefner, K. Ezra Bucher, Walter E. Brown, H. Martin Hoffer, Frank A. Shank and Earl H. Kurtz.

Honorary pallbearers were John F. Steinman, Joseph W. Kettering, Paul M. Grubb, Galen S. Young, J. Alfred Hamme, J. Aldus Rinehart, Harry Heintzen, David C. Stambaugh, Maj. Gen. Daniel B. Strickler, and C. J. Backstrand.

An estimated 700 persons attended the viewing Sunday evening at the Boyer funeral home, this borough.

One of the truly great educators of his time in the East, Dr. Baugher, a widely-known churchman and civic leader, was associated with Elizabethtown College for 45 years as student, teacher, dean, and president.

Until only last year he had been president of the college. He had retired in June after serving the college for 20 years as its president.

Dr. Stambaugh Named To Direct Summer Sessions

Dr. O. F. Stambaugh, head of the department of chemistry at Elizabethtown College, has been named director of Summer Sessions for the 1963 summer term, according to Dr. Roy E. McAuley, president of the College.

Dr. Stambaugh succeeds Dr. Donald R. Vosburgh, head of the department of sociology, who held the post for the last two years. Dr. Vosburgh will not be on the campus this summer.

Scheduling of courses and professors is now being completed for the two sessions, the first of which will begin June 17 and end July 19. Summer Session II will begin July 22 and end August 23.

Last year approximately 40 courses were offered each session, and each had an enrollment of about 285 students.

"Procedure for the sessions will remain about the same as last year," Dr. Stambaugh said. "We are especially interested in serving students with the basic courses of the various departments, but a number of advanced courses will be offered also."

Practice Teachers Set Record

Sixty-one seniors have reached the mid-point in their eight-week practice teaching experiences. Comprising the largest such group in Elizabethtown College history, they will teach through January 25.

Present THE MESSIAH

The College choir joined the choirs of Churches of the Brethren in Elizabethtown, York, Lancaster, and Lititz to present G. F. Handel's The Messiah. The group appeared in the Elizabethtown church on December 2, the York First Church on December 9, and the Lancaster church on December 16.

Unveil Portrait

A portrait of Elizabeth Myer, first dean of women at the College, was unveiled December 1 in the lounge of the dormitory bearing her name. Several descendants of Miss Myer participated in the ceremonies. Miss Ethel M. B. Wenger presided.

Peace Corps Chief Here

James Baughton, acting chief of the Peace Corps in the Turkey, Iran, Cyprus Division of the Near East-South Asian Regional Office, spoke in chapel, November 28.

Speaks in Baugher Series

Dr. Mary Willard, professor of chemistry at Penn State, was the guest lecturer for the second annual A. C. Baugher Chemistry Lecture Series, December 10 and 11. Two of her topics were "Fur Coats and Cosmetic Chemistry" and "Chemistry in Crime."

Swimming Pool Opens

Campus swimmers got their first crack at the brand new pool in the Baugher Student Center December 7, when there was an all-student swim from 8 to 10 p.m. An all-college swimming party was held from 3 to 5 p.m. on December 8. Faculty, staff, and families had the honors from 3 to 5 p.m.

College Choir To Be On TV

The Elizabethtown College concert choir will appear on WGAL-TV Lancaster, this month for two programs of Christmas music from G. F. Handel's The Messiah.

The programs will be aired at 3 p.m., December 23, and 1 a.m., December 25.

Directed by David P. Willoughby, assistant professor of music, the choir is accompanied by Miss Betty Markley, a senior from Annville.

Two Conferences On President's Agenda

Pres. Roy E. McAuley will attend conferences in Michigan and New Jersey early in January.

He will attend the meetings of the Council for Financial Aid to Education at Dearborn, January 5 to 9. On January 13 to 17 he will attend the Association of American Colleges Conference and meet with the Church of the Brethren Commission on Higher Education in Atlantic City.

Miss Emma R. Engle Resigns Post As College Registrar

Miss Emma R. Engle, registrar at the College, has resigned, according to Dr. Roy E. McAuley, president of the college.

Miss Engle has served the College for more than thirteen years, first assuming the position of instructor in English, and then advancing to the position of registrar.

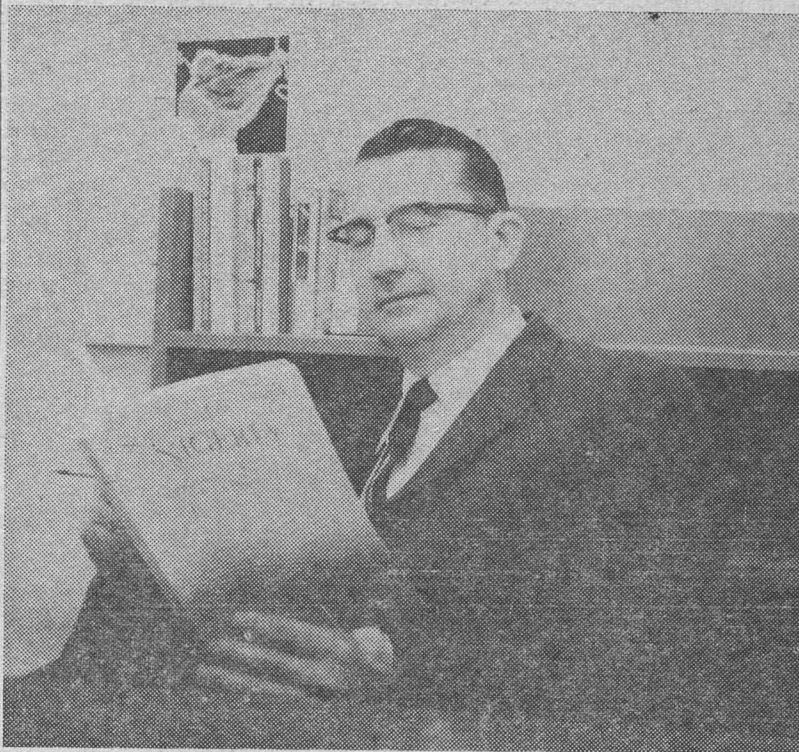

An alumna of Elizabethtown College, Miss Engle was graduated in 1948 with the bachelor of arts degree. She did graduate work at Columbia University.

Her first teaching experience was in the Coatesville Area Schools.

Miss Engle is active in community affairs. In 1961 she served as president of the Elizabethtown Business and Professional Women's Club.

She is also a member of the Soroptimist Club and the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admission officers.

Berkebile Named to Succeed Dr. Baugher in TWA Program

Dr. James M. Berkebile, professor of chemistry at Elizabethtown College, has been appointed director of the Teachers for West Africa Program (TWA), according to Dr. Roy E. McAuley, president of the college.

Berkebile succeeds the late Dr. A. C. Baugher, who directed the program from its inception in 1961 until his death last month.

A project of Elizabethtown College and the Hershey Chocolate Corporation, TWA is designed to procure teachers for service in Ghana and Nigeria. The Hershey Chocolate Corporation is underwriting the program.

Nine teachers are currently serving in the two African nations as a result of the program's first-year operations. Some 150 other colleges are cooperating in the program.

Dr. Berkebile joined the chemistry staff at Elizabethtown in 1957 after serving as head of the chemistry department and later as dean at McPherson (Kansas) College. In all he spent 14 years at McPherson.

In 1959-60 he was granted a two-year leave by Elizabethtown College to serve as an adviser to the government of Nationalist China for the purpose of helping Formosa improve the science programs in its secondary schools.

In the process he helped to establish 14 experimental centers for science education on the island.

Dr. Berkebile is married and the father of three children. He received his B.A. degree from Manchester (Indiana) College in 1934, his M.A. from Ohio State University in 1935, and his Ph.D. from Ohio State in 1951.

He is a member of three honorary societies; his professional memberships include the American Chemical Society and honorary membership in the Taipei International Medical Society (Taiwan, Formosa).

Dr. Berkebile is listed in Who's Who in American Education and in Leaders in American Science.

Since 1947 he has published numerous articles in professional journals, primarily in the field of chemistry.

"At the present time we are recruiting teachers for the 1963 group," Dr. Berkebile said. "Then in March we will work on final approval of applicants and placement."

As last year, selected teachers will attend orientation sessions on the campus and in New York City prior to their departure in August. More orientation will be given upon their arrival in Africa.

"A maximum of 25 teachers will be placed in Ghana and Nigeria this year," Dr. Berkebile added. "We're interested in getting people we can stand behind."

"The primary fields in which we are seeking teachers are chemistry, physics, biology, mathematics, and industrial arts. We're taking applicants in most all fields, but these are easier to place because the Peace Corps hasn't been supplying teachers in these fields as much as in humanities," he said.

TWA is cooperating with the African-American Institute, New York, for consultation and supervision on the field. The Institute also assists in making travel arrangements, according to Berkebile.

Twenty-Eight On Dean's List

Twelve juniors head the list of twenty-eight who earned academic recognition for the first half of the first semester.

In order to be eligible for the dean's list, students must obtain a minimum 3.5 average and be full-time students.

Students earning scholastic honors are:

SENIORS: Edward Beardslee, Virginia Colley, Sandra Farver, Donna Glass.

JUNIORS: Mary Anne Borke, David Farmer, Carolyn Frits, Virginia Heisey, Robert Kerr, Anne Keuhnelian, Albert Koch, Maryann Reagan, Scott Swank, Betty Wenger, Charlotte Wenger, Nancy Winger.

SOPHOMORES: Carolyn Carothers, Carlyle Crane, Anne Fleming, Robert Guthrie, Stephen Keiser, Martha Laudermilch.

College Member Of Exam Board

Elizabethtown College has been elected to membership in the College Entrance Examination Board, according to Dr. Roy E. McAuley, president.

D. Paul Greene, director of admissions, was named the College's voting representative by Pres. McAuley. Jacob E. Herschman, dean of instruction, is alternate representative.

Though the College has used CEEB scores as a requirement for admission over the past several years, it was not a member and was not entitled to a voting representative on the Board.

Some 360 colleges and universities in the United States are members of the Board.

WHAT DID WE DO WITHOUT IT?—All parts of the A. C. Baugher Student Center (shown above), constructed around the old Alumni Gymnasium, are now in use. The swimming pool, used for the first time on December 7, was the last major facility to be totally completed. Students, already well-acclimated to it, are trying to remember what campus life was like before its existence.

What We Need Most

EDITORS NOTE: Students were asked to give opinions on what building is most necessary on campus.

MARILYN YOUNG, Junior: A gym. We should be able to hold our games and other activities here on campus instead of being forced to use another gym. The student attendance at these activities would probably increase if they were not held quite so far away.

ROSANN POWNALL, Sophomore: A larger music building. The present building is not large enough to accommodate the large groups for their rehearsals. It is even difficult for the smaller groups to practice in their proper formations.

RICHARD FRANTZ, Junior: A good classroom building. We now have good places to live and a nice place for recreation: what we need next is a good place in which to receive the education we came here to acquire. Classrooms with the proper atmosphere are an important aid to learning.

JANICE HALL, Senior: A building with business classrooms. There is a need for classrooms with special features, such as a laboratory with electronic equipment for shorthand dictation and transcription as well as for foreign languages. This building should also include a machine room that is accessible to all business students at all times.

DAVID FERRELL, Junior: A theater. With the addition of a good place to present dramas on our campus the college should be able to attract the type of student who is really interested in drama and its presentation. It would give drama students an opportunity to experiment and give presentations for smaller groups in place of a full-scale production each time.

DORIS MAURER, Sophomore: A new business building. The present facilities for business education are inadequate, and the addition of modern business rooms would be a definite aid to furthering the growth of business education on our campus.

KAY ZAHN, Senior: A classroom building. It should be large enough to make possible its division into exclusive departmental sections. Each section would include the professors' offices as well as classrooms specifically for the individual department. This would eliminate the necessity of walking a mile each time a professor wants to show his students something that happens to be in his office.

ESTHER STREHLE, Junior: An auditorium and gym. We should not have to go off campus for all of our activities. It would be easier for everyone concerned, and attendance would probably be improved if these important and worthwhile activities could be held right here on campus.

SUE KLINGER, Freshman: A new business building. The classrooms and offices of the present business building are overcrowded and unbusinesslike. None of the rooms resemble modern offices, therefore, the students cannot be fully prepared to work with the equipment of the modern business world.

CHESTER ROSE, Senior: A men's dorm. There are a large number of fellows living off-campus this year, and many of them live quite a distance from the campus. This can be a pretty long walk when cold weather arrives.

From The Secretary's Angle

By C. G. ENTERLINE, Alumni Secretary
THAT TEN PER CENT

At this writing, two new chapters have been organized in Pennsylvania and two in New Jersey. Experience with these organizational meetings indicates that approximately ten per cent of the alumni who live in a given area will report for such an activity. This is a normal expectation. Not everybody is equipped or interested in risking time and talent for alumni work.

That ten per cent which does respond for an organizational meeting does side-step, however, bad weather, fear of assignments, personal preferences, or competing appointments.

The individuals who make up this ten per cent just happen to possess the interest for this kind of thing at a given time. In many cases, the respondents were leaders of their classes in high school and college. Again, they were participants in extra-curricular activities.

This group is creative, imaginative, dynamic; it plots and plans, develops and executes programs. It senses a job that needs to be done and seeks to perform the task.

Furthermore, it has the ability to involve others, the other ninety per cent of the group. It relates goals to the larger group, sets the pace and provides a sense of direction.

Without the other ninety per cent, however, leaders would be helpless. The larger body constitutes the followers, the appraisers, and the evaluators of on-going programs. This larger body provides the encouragement, furnishes the undergirding and the support of programs which leaders present from time to time.

The involvement of both groups in the pursuit of clearly defined goals relating to alumni activities makes for teamwork. In teamwork, each contributes to a working whole. No individual or group exists without the other.

The college administration and the alumni secretary acknowledge the hearty response which alumni have shown in the organizational meetings in the fall of 1962.

On the basis of alumni present in Johnstown-Pittsburgh area, one can count on eight for an organizational meeting; in Washington, D. C., twelve; Altoona-State College, six; Eastern Shore (Maryland), six; New York City and Suburbia areas, twelve.

Five or six are regarded as sufficient to get things going. Eight are regarded as very good.

These leaders constitute "that ten per cent". It is from this group that new chapters evolve.

Especially For Alumni...

By EDGAR T. BITTING
President, Alumni Association

The twelve apostles reached out with a message and now the twelve chapters of the Elizabethtown College Alumni As- sociation, also reach out with a message. It seems good things come in twelves because how many times have you not sampled a delicacy and approvingly answered, "I'll take a dozen."

Of course you can't join each of the dozen chapters. The offi- cers of your Alumni Associa- tion and your Alumni Council are proud of this step for- ward and hope that you will be proud enough to step forward and become a member of a chapter if there is one serving your area and if you have not already done so.

Six of these chapters have been organized this fall under the guiding hand of our alu- mi secretary. Even if you have not read it, it doesn't take a sharp pencil to see that the number of chapters has doubled.

This will enable your Alumni Association to increase its effec- tiveness. But only if more of you sign up to participate in the chapters.

It was my privilege to accom- pany Mr. Enterline on one of his six organizing jaunts, and I feel certain that all those per- sons in attendance were amply rewarded for the time they gave.

When the invitation to join and participate in chapter work reaches you, accept it. You will be getting on the Elizabethtown College bandwagon.

Did you know that the band- wagon is picking up speed? Mr. James Yeingst, Director of Pub- lic Relations of the College, put it so amply in his letter to you earlier this month, that a recita- tion of part of the letter seems to be in order.

"First, the College is in the midst of the most vibrant pe- riod in its history. Enrollment is at an all-time high, the physical plant was never in better condition, and THE REPUTATION OF ALMA MAT-ER WAS NEVER MORE AT- TRACTIVE.

"Second, alumni seem to be taking an ever-growing role in See BITTING— (Continued on Page 4)

Dr. McAuley: On Private Colleges

At an educational conference not long ago a speaker re- marked, "Actually there is no difference between public and private colleges, because pri- vate colleges have as broad en- rollments as do the public ones."

I agree with part of this statement. We are proud of our cosmopolitan study body and faculty here at Elizabethtown College. The entire statement cannot be accepted however. The Church college is dedicated to the effort of finding founda- tions for knowledge in the life and teachings of Jesus Christ.

The College as a whole does not always succeed in this, and some professors succeed more than others in the attempt, and some students find more of meaning in this effort than do others. But the pervading effort is here—which, perhaps, ex- plains some of the College's ec- centricities, idiosyncrasies, and inconsistencies.

The students, faculty, and administrators should not apol- ogize for these to students, fac- ulties, and others who see no need for Christian education. Our reason for being here is to propound insight and to learn in the light of Jesus Christ.

Trustees Give College Present-Day "Image"

By RICHARD LYTLE

The recent election of nine men to the Elizabethtown College Board of Trustees brings into focus a group seen on campus as a body only twice a year and heard from publicly just as seldom.

Nevertheless, it is a busy group, an important one; it is responsible for the overall "image" of Elizabethtown College.

Pres. Roy McAuley described the Trustees, 21 men and three women, at the recent BSC Dedication Service as the "working-est" group he had ever seen.

Another administrative official pointing out the Trustees interest in campus life, said, "They participate in college activities, they come to meetings, they like to know what's going on."

The Trustees come from all walks of life. While most are successful businessmen, some are schoolteachers, ministers, and farmers. With the exception of a small number, all live within the service area of the College.

Dr. Joseph W. Kettering, Elizabethtown, is beginning his seventh one-year term as Chairman of the group. The Rev. Noah S. Sellers, Lineboro, Maryland, is Vice-Chairman; Dr. Horace E. Raffensperger, Elizabethtown, Secretary. College treasurer Earl H. Kurtz serves the Board in the same capacity.

Kettering, Sellers, and Raffensperger were recently re-elected to three-year terms.

Members of the Board are nominated by the Eastern and Southern Districts of the Church of the Brethren, the Alumni Association, and the Board itself.

The Eastern District is represented on the Board by Dr. Kettering, Norman K. Musser, Columbia; Margaret M. Cassel, Lititz; Martha A. Bucher, Quarryville; S. Clyde Weaver, East Petersburg; Howard A. Merkey, Manheim; Norman L. Bowers, Landisville; and F. S. Carper, Palmyra.

From the Southern District, come Rev. Sellers; Chester H. Royer, York; Cyrus G. Bucher, Biglerville; and Jacob L. Miller, York.

Esther Z. Papson, Lebanon; Carl G. Herr, Lancaster; and Jay H. Eshleman, Germantown represent the Alumni Association.

Those named by the Board include Dr. Raffensperger, S. S. Wenger, Lancaster; Paul M. Grubb, Elizabethtown; J. Aldus Rinehart, West Englewood, N.J.; D. C. Stambaugh, Lancaster; Eli H. Stoltzfus, Phoenixville; John G. Hershey, Lititz; I. Wayne Keller, Lancaster; and John F. Sprengel, York.

Carper, Miller, Eshleman, Hershey, Keller, and Sprengel were among those recently elected. All but Eshleman had served on the Board in the past.

President McAuley is a ex-officio member of the Board.

Interestingly, not all are members of the Church of the Brethren. Most of those who are Brethren serve their home congregations as ministers in addition to their regular work. One gentleman, for instance, is a minister and a banker; another combines the ministry with teaching and farming. All of the Trustees show an active interest in other community work.

The duties of a college trustee are four-fold. With his fellow members he must determine the basic policy of the college; he must select the President, through whom the Board implements its policy; he must direct the securing of financial support for the college and take care of the college's resources; finally, he must serve as a public relations agent.

Dorothy Hess Named BSCM Representative

Dorothy Hess, sophomore, has been named representative for Elizabethtown College to the National B.S.C.M. Cabinet. Next year's national conference, which the cabinet organizes, will be held at Manchester College, North Manchester, Indiana. Kurtz Hersch, Chicago, is the new President of B.S.C.M.

Because the present Board of Trustees has served for an extended period of time, the present "image" or "look" of the College is largely due to their efforts. The College has progressed with the times, but not at the expense of its basic Christian foundations.

Enrollment Up Across Nation

Enrollment of full and part-time college students increased this fall for the 11th consecutive year to an all-time high of 4,207,000, the U.S. Office of Education reported this month. This exceeded by 8.1 percent the previous record of 3,891,000 set in the fall of 1961.

The number of students enrolled for the first time in college was 1,039,000, an increase of only 1.2 percent over last year's figure of 1,026,000.

The 1962 fall enrollees included 2,603,000 men and 1,604,000 women compared with 2,424,000 men and 1,467,000 women in the fall of 1961. The percentage increase for men was 7.4; and for women it was 9.3.

Of the first-time enrollees this fall 602,000 were men and 437,000, or 42.0 percent, were women. In the fall of 1961, 596,000 of the new enrollees were men and 430,000, or 41.9 percent, were women.

We Get LETTERS

EDITOR'S NOTE: This letter was sent to Dr. Hershman, but is printed in the interest of the student body and the success of the Brethren Colleges' Study Aboard program.

Gulentag, Deutschland is wunderbar! Back to English, this is the most wonderful experience I have ever had and I can't begin to express my thanks to everyone for giving me this opportunity.

Educationally, nothing could be more rewarding than actual participation in another culture.

I hope this program is receiving a great deal of publicity and that some students who would otherwise have no chance to travel will be selected. (How I wish I were at E-town to tell everyone about this year!)

The University lectures begin tomorrow but we don't officially attend classes until the 15th of November. This way the students may attend as many different lectures as they wish and "test" the professors, as it were, to see where they want to concentrate their efforts.

I'm all for this system, but don't know if it would work under the American system.

I thank you and the other people at Elizabethtown who have helped make it possible for us to be here.

Sincerely,
Sue K. Bucher

There are two kinds of circles—the one you go around in, and what you get from said going around.

Seek Relics For Alumni Day Exhibit

The Alumni Council approved the suggestion that Alumni Day feature an exhibit of older pictures relating to Elizabethtown College. In order to prepare for the exhibit, the committee needs pictures and personal help.

From the picture point of view, let us ask, "What's in your attic?" If you have old pictures of campus buildings, activities, professors, students, please send or bring them to the alumni office.

It would be helpful to attach the names of individuals to a picture of persons so that individuals can be identified. In order to avoid mutilation of pictures, do not write on the opposite side of pictures or photographs.

There is a need also for personal help to mount pictures and prepare them for exhibit. Tentative plans call for the setting up the exhibit in the Baugher Student Center.

Here, then, is a project involving personal interest. Submit your name to the alumni office. Mrs. Henry Libhart has consented to supervise the cleaning and mounting of these pictures on campus for the Libhart studio. But we need helpers.

In addition to the picture exhibit, there is the Danner Pennsylvania Dutch Dictionary and Colloquialisms exhibit. Suggestions for making the exhibit effective and meaningful will be appreciated. Send your ideas to the alumni office.

Edwin Boll Enters Contests In Spare Time, And Wins

Ever envy the big contest jackpot winners? In fact, did you ever question whether anybody ever wins those things in the first place?

The Alumni Council of Elizabethtown College claims a winner. In his spare time Edwin Boll, class of 1947, doodles with contest slogans and puzzles, and recently it paid off. He and Mrs. Boll spent ten days in South America as a result of his winning idea in a soap contest.

The contests, of course, are only a hobby. Edwin Boll is chief chemist for Armstrong Cork Company. In addition he is a faithful church worker and a loyal college alumnus.

A resident of 301 North Locust St., Elizabethtown, he serves as superintendent of the Intermediate Department at the St. Paul's Evangelical United Brethren Church School in Elizabethtown.

Now in his fourth year of a six-year Alumni Council term, he is a former officer of the Alumni Association's Lancaster County Chapter.

He is also an associate member of the American Chemical Society and past vice-president of the Mill Road Parent-Teachers Association.

Married to the former Minerva Hess, he is the father of three children: Dennis, 11; Charles, 10; and Deborah, 8.

Edwin Boll graduated from Elizabethtown with a B. S. in chemistry and later attended Johns Hopkins University.

"His service to the Alumni Council has been valuable," says C. G. Enterline, executive secretary of the Association.

1962 ROUNDUP

New Chapters Organized More On Planning Board

By C. G. ENTERLINE

New chapters have been organized in Schuylkill Valley, Cumberland Valley, Lehigh Valley, Northern New Jersey, and Southern New Jersey. From our experience in this organizational work, we are gaining confidence in the organizational work of other chapters.

A study of the geographical distribution of alumni indicates that chapters can be organized in the areas named below. Interested alumni in these areas are encouraged to communicate with the Alumni Secretary, indicate this interest, and suggest a meeting place and time. This could be done before the preliminary screening and sampling from the alumni office.

AREA	Approximate number of alumni in area
Johnstown-Pittsburgh	75
Altoona-State College	50
Eastern Shore (Maryland)	55
New York City and Suburbia	80
Upper and Western New York State	57
Florida	45

Alumni need not depend upon the alumni office to initiate an organizational meeting. Interested alumni may write for a list of graduates in a given area and organize on their own. If no list exists, one will be prepared as soon as possible. If a chapter is self-initiated, please inform the alumni office at once of such activity.

Other Chapter Doings: LEHIGH VALLEY

Through rain and snow, alumni of the Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton area battled their way to the piano studio of Mrs. Ruth B. Myers, Moravian College, on Saturday evening, November 17 to add another chapter to the Elizabethtown College Alumni Association.

Approximately 45 alumni reside in the area and five reported for the organizational meeting.

For organizational purposes, experience shows that approximately 10 per cent of the number of alumni in a given area can be counted on to attend.

For this meeting, five reported and were elected to the offices named: President, Rev. William Ellsworth, '53, Northampton; Vice-president, Mrs. William Ellsworth, '54 (Shirley Diehl); Secretary, Mrs. Richard O. Wenger, '59 (Yvonne Cosner), 782 Mohawk Street, Allentown; Treasurer, William Withers, '50, 318 North 14th Street, Allentown; Mrs. Richard Myers, '55 (Ruth B. Becker) 1944 Fairland Avenue, Bethlehem, Council Member. Present also were Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Enterline from Elizabethtown College.

Sidelights on the organizational meeting show that Hotel Bethlehem where the alumni secretary dined was overrun by football fans from Lehigh and Lafayette Universities. Furthermore, while the meeting was on, the alumni secretary lost some of the chrome mounting of his car.

Dr. and Mrs. Myers guided the Elizabethtown alumni through the newly opened Moravian College student center and theatre.

CUMBERLAND VALLEY

Eighteen alumni and friends of Elizabethtown College reported to the Greencastle Church of the Brethren on Saturday, December 1, for the purpose of organizing alumni in the Cumberland Valley.

Present at the meeting were, Rev. and Mrs. Irving Glover, '58, 241 E. Garfield Street, Shippensburg; Esther B. Miller, '30, 57 Linden Avenue, Greencastle; Cora E. Oellig, '31, and Margaret E. Oellig, '22, 239 E. Baltimore Street, Greencastle; Mildred M. Heckman, '26, R. D. 1, St. Thomas; Kathryn H. Stevenson, '28, and husband, 1700 E. Main Street, Waynesboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Clopper, '27, R. D. 6, Box 229, Carlisle; L. Anna Schwenk, '22, 325 S. Hanover Street, Carlisle; Grace K. Winter, '24, 223 East Baltimore Street, Greencastle; Ruth J. Witter, '56, R. D. 2, Mercersburg; Ina (Reichard) Shreiner, '57, R. D. 5, Chambersburg; Rev. Samuel D. Lindsay, '26, 36 South Carlisle Street, Greencastle.

Present also, were President and Mrs. Roy E. McAuley and C. G. Enterline.

Officers elected were:

President-Ralph H. Clopper
Vice-president-Mildred M. Heckman
Secretary-Ruth J. Witter
Treasurer-L. Anna Schwenk
SCHUYLKILL VALLEY

Alumni in the Schuylkill Valley responded enthusiastically to the call for an organizational meeting at Reading in the Hotel Abraham Lincoln on Saturday, November 10.

A wide assortment of occupations were represented: housewives, salesmen, college instructors, a mayor, public school teachers, a grocer, and a newspaper editor.

Attending the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Balthaser, '58 (Gerda Haas, '59), Shartlesville; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hedrick, '59 (Doris Hostetter, '61), 1500 Perkiomen Avenue, Reading; Mrs. William Fleck, (Mildred Snodgrass '41), Boyertown; Karl Kettering, '61, Wyomissing Park, Reading; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Spence, '47 (Colleen Taylor, '50), Boyertown; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Risser, '39 (Grace Reber, '38), Mohrsville; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence G. College Students' Poems Accepted For Publication

Poems written by two Elizabethtown College students have been accepted for publication in the Annual Anthology of College Poetry.

The student poets are:

Theodora A. Fair, Palmyra, and Jack R. Shaub, Lancaster.

Miss Fair, whose "The Mission" was accepted by the Anthology, is a junior majoring in secondary education at Elizabethtown.

Shaub is a senior liberal arts major. His poem is entitled "Oratory."

The Anthology is a compilation of poetry written by college students. Selections were made from thousands of poems submitted from all sections of the country.

Booters Win MAC Crown Finish Second In Tourney

A two-game split in the NCAA Atlantic Coast Regional Soccer Tournament, college division, at Garden City, N. Y., over Thanksgiving concluded another banner season for the Elizabethtown College soccermen.

The Blue Jay booters copped second place in the NCAA tourney with a first round win over Grove City (Pa.) College and a final round loss to the Tournament champion, Hartford (Conn.) College.

They had previously captured the Middle Atlantic Conference crown with a 4-1 triumph over Franklin and Marshall.

Counting the tournament play, the Jays were 12-2 on the whole season. They had an 8-1 MAC record, including the championship playoff win.

In the tournament the Blue Jays passed the first round with a 2-0 victory Friday made possible by a second-half rally, after a lackluster opening half.

Grove City took the play away from the Jays from the start, but couldn't capitalize enough to dent the goal cage. Then, in the second half the Jay offense began to roll and Al Hershey notched a goal in each of the two final stanzas.

Elizabethtown goalie Frank Zimmerman recorded his seventh shutout in 13 games with the win. It was Grove City's fourth loss against five wins and one tie.

Against the Hartford Hawks Saturday it was a different story. In a game that was tightly contested throughout, the New Englanders scored on a wind-blown head shot in the second quarter to take a 1-0 lead.

Then, with the Jays trying desperately but vainly to knot the count, the Hawks scored another in the final period to insure the 2-0 decision and grab the tournament crown.

The weather, featuring a driving wind, affected play by both teams and was a factor in strategies, but, as usual, it favored no one.

In the consolation contest Saturday morning Grove City topped Lynchburg (Va.) whom Hartford had toppled in the opening round.

On the whole season Elizabethtown racked up 50 goals to their opponents' 13. Tony McGlaughlin, sophomore center forward, led the team in individual scoring with 21 counters.

Hershey, a junior from Paradise, was right behind McGlaughlin with 20 goals.

The tournament was Elizabethtown's third. In 1959, after winning the MAC championship, the Jays were runnersup in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NIAA) tourney.

In 1960 they were co-champions with Newark College of Engineering of the NIAA tournament.

Jaygal Squads Begin Practice; Rules Revised

Coach Allegra Hess reports progress as her varsity basketball squad completes its second week of practice. "Drastic rule changes this season," says Coach Hess, "will insure a more interesting and a faster-moving game."

The squad will be working to top last year's record of three wins and five losses.

Returning for a fourth year of varsity action is forward Sue Wood. Veterans back for the third season of varsity ball are Anne Sharpe, and guard Susanne Markey; and seeking a second year with the varsity squad is forward Carolyn Moyer.

Coach Hess is also relying on several of last year's junior varsity players as well as freshmen with high school experience.

Among these promising players are sophomores Dorothy Hess, Lewanna Brown, and Andrea Snedaker and freshmen Karen Jo Young, Janet Ellenberger, Marilyn Fox, Darlene Savage, Sue Evoy, and Louise Wenger.

The first of the varsity's eleven contests is slated for January 10 with Moravian on the home court.

Coach Jean Finkbiner will again be working with the junior varsity squad as they also open their season early in January.

The group elected the following officers: President, Robert G. Balthaser; Vice-president, Jack Hedrick; Secretary, Mrs. Robert G. Balthaser; Treasurer, Mrs. Jack Hedrick.

The officers and other members constitute the initiating council; they were "in session" when the alumni secretary and Mrs. Enterline left at 9:30 p.m. Plans for the first activity call for a dinner meeting in March 1963 with a faculty member as guest speaker.

WASHINGTON, D. C. Within the shadow of the Cap-

Cagers Win Three Of First Four Wrestlers Defeated By Dickinson

JAY CAPTAIN—John Neely, captain of the 1962-63 men's basketball squad, sets up a play during a recent court contest. Neely is a Junior.

The Basketball team won three of four; the wrestlers dropped their opener; and the women dribblers were rehearsing for their opener in January as Elizabethtown College began preparations for the holiday recess.

Winners of three in a row, Coach Don Smith's cagers bowed for the first time at Albright, December 12. They had previously captured triumphs over Rutgers of South Jersey (away), Lebanon Valley (home), and Penn Military (home).

As the Alumni Etownian went to press, the Jays were preparing for the two contests remaining in December; Juniata at home on December 15 and Millersville away on December 18.

Coach Lester Baum's grapplers found themselves on the bottom looking up as a result of a 16-12 loss to Dickinson in their season's liftdier.

They had three home meets scheduled prior to the holiday layover. These were against Western Maryland, December 13; East Stroudsburg, December 15; and Penn Military, December 18.

The women have been working out under the direction of Miss Allegra Hess for several weeks, but they won't see intercollegiate action until January 10 when Moravian will move in.

The Blue Jay dribblers played Albright on even terms during the first half in the game at Reading, but the Lions capitalized on Elizabethtown errors and some sharp shooting of their own in the second half to win 68-56. The halftime score was 31-31.

Bill Bechtold, junior forward, scored 18 points to pace the Blue Jay offense. The only other double figure man was Dan Reitmeyer, sophomore center, with 13.

Against P.M.C. Bechtold also led the way in an 86-56 win on the home court. He notched 21 counters; Larry Evans, sophomore forward, had 16; John Neely, junior guard, added 12.

The Jays jumped on the slow starting soldiers to build an 11-1 lead in the first eight minutes. That grew to 40-21 by halftime, and they led comfortably the rest of the way.

Reitmeyer sparked a strong second half comeback against Lebanon Valley as the Blue Jays won their first home battle, 78-69, December 3. Trailing by 9 at intermission they closed the gap quickly and went on to win handily.

Reitmeyer's 20 points were good for second among the Elizabethtown scorers. Captain Neely, with 10 field goals and 2 foul conversions, had the team high, 22.

In the opener against Rutgers the Jays built a 43-28 halftime lead, saw it dwindle to almost nothing the second half, then settled down to win the game, 81-72. Evans was high man in that one with 20 points.

Baum's grapplers had a 9-0 lead after three bouts in the Dickinson match, but only Co-captain Gerry Greiner, in the 167-lb. class, could muster a win after that.

College Receives Grant of $1500

A grant of $1500 has been received by the College from Sears Roebuck and Company.

Presented by W. G. Jones, manager of the Company's Harrisburg store, the grant is part of $900,000 in funds being distributed to private colleges and universities across the country by the Company.

Pres. Roy E. McAuley accepted the check and indicated that it would probably be used for capital expansion.

Cross Country Team Tenth In MAC Run

The E-town harriers finished 10th in the Middle Atlantic Conference cross country run, Friday, November 16, on the Cobbs Creek Golf Club course in Philadelphia.

With a season record of six wins against five losses, the Jays were paced in the M.A.C. run by Mike Staman, who placed 41st among the 113 runners from 17 different colleges.

Staman was followed by Bill Drean, 42nd; Al Owens, 50th; Bill Reed, 79th; Jack Maciejewski, 82nd; and Dave Brownback, 85th.

Additional post-season competition included an A.A.U. Tourney in Harrisburg, November 18, where the team placed second. Winning individual trophies in that meet were Brownback, Drean, Maciejewski, and Reed.

itol building, eight alumni gathered in fellowship and business on Saturday evening, December 8, 1962.

The refreshment committee of Rev. Duane Ramsey's church (Washington D. C. Church of the Brethren) prepared a beautiful Christmas table and served in excellent style. On this point one would think that Greencastle and Washington were in competition for honors.

Present at the meeting were: Mr. and Mrs. John E. Eichelberger, '30 (May Strayer, '29), R. D. 1, Box 141, Oakton, Virginia; Reverend and Mrs. Edwin A. Ankeny, '58 (Ethel Webber, '58), Box 107, Germantown, Maryland; Miss Sandra Swann, '61, 782 Kenilworth Terrace, N. W., Washington, D. C.; Mrs. C. E. Guthrie, '49 (Winifred Knox), 827 Wilson Street, Fairfax, Virginia; and Mr. and Mrs. William L. Kendig, '60 (Esther Mostoller, '61), 9104 Hempstead Avenue, Bethesda, Md.

Also present were Professor Edgar T. Bitting, '50, Elizabethtown College, President of the General Alumni Association, Mrs. Edgar T. Bitting, '51, and C. G. Enterline, Alumni Secretary.

Officers elected are:

President -John E. Eichelberger

Vice-president -Reverend Edwin A. Ankeny

the program of the College. The formation of new chapters is proceeding very well. Alumni giving during the fourth Annual Giving Fund Campaign set a record. Attendance at recent Homecoming and Alumni Days has shown a marked increase. (Believe me, it's a pleasure to watch the reactions of alumni who come back to campus to see for themselves what's happening here.)

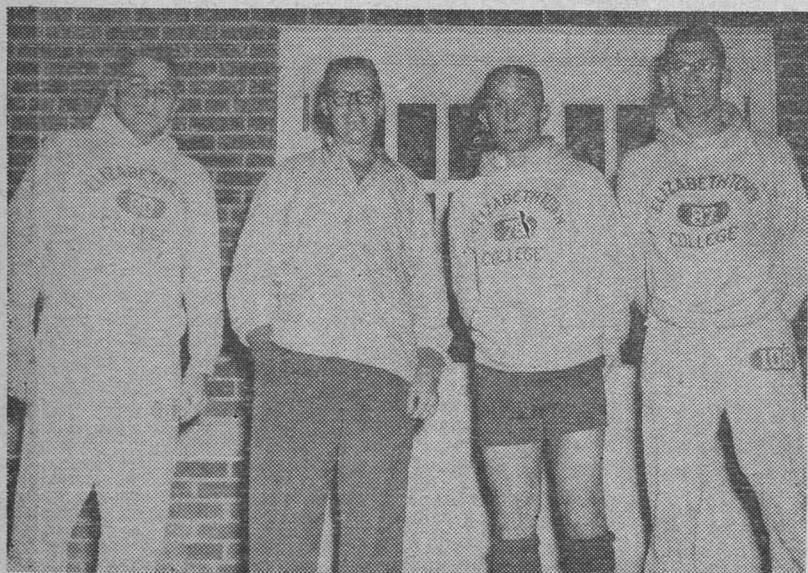

The last two sentences in the above portion of Jim's letter are especially true. With the upsurge in attendance on Homecoming and Alumni Day, the Alumni Association needs to be certain that it plans activities on these special days to warrant your return to campus.

Alumni Day activities are the total responsibility of the Alumni Day Committee and Sub-Committees. We are currently putting some things on the drawing board and realize that we need many volunteers.

With over 4,500 alumni it is impossible for me to know as many of you as I'd like, so I can't be certain of tapping all the valuable talent available.

Maybe you haven't served your College because you haven't been asked. Well, here is as personal an invitation as possible to direct to you.

If you feel you could help us in any way, drop a note to Secretary Enterline or me. Come on, don't be bashful. We need you!

Twenty To Graduate

Dr. Fred Bryan Named Commencement Speaker For Feb. 6 Exercises

Dr. Fred E. Bryan, superintendent of Harrisburg City Schools, will deliver the commencement address during the mid-term graduation exercises at Elizabethtown College, February 6.

Twenty students will receive degrees during the ceremonies at the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren, adjacent to the campus.

Of the graduates two will receive the bachelor of arts degree; eight will receive the bachelor of science degree; and ten will be granted the bachelor of science in education degree.

Candidates for degrees will be presented by Dr. Jacob E. Herschman, dean of the College. Pres. Roy E. McAuley will confer the degrees.

Dr. Bryan is a graduate of California (Pa.) State College (1933, bachelor of science); Columbia University, Teachers College (1937, master of arts); and the University of Pittsburgh (1952, doctor of education).

He formerly served as a teacher and administrator in public schools in Footedale, Point Marion, and Uniontown. Very active in community and educational affairs, he holds numerous posts in both areas.

New Training Program Proposed For Ed. Majors

A unique five-year training program for students preparing for public school teaching careers has been proposed by Elizabethtown College.

In essence, the program involves a combination of academic studies combined with a greater degree of on-the-job experience for students majoring in elementary or secondary education.

If the proposal becomes a reality, future teachers would spend almost a year and a half in public school classrooms gaining practical experience while completing their regular studies on the Elizabethtown College campus.

Students completing the five-year program would be awarded a Bachelor of Science degree and the usual provisional teaching certificate.

Prof. Elmer B. Hoover, director of teacher training, said similar programs have proved to be successful in Michigan and other western states. There is no comparable program in the East.

Prof. Eugene Eisenblise, a member of the Department of Education, worked with Hoover in planning the program. Both men will go to Michigan in the near future to review the program there.

"Students participating in the program would be hired by the school system in which they are placed. They would be assigned specific classroom duties, including correcting of tests, leading of discussion groups, and then actual teaching in the final stages of their training program," Hoover explained.

Hoover and other members of the Education Department have

Music, Dramatics Departments Will Present Musical

"Song of Norway," a musical based on the life and music of Edward Grieg, a famous Norwegian composer, will be presented by the music and dramatics departments of Elizabethtown College in the auditorium of the A. C. Baugher Student Center, March 8 and 9 at 8 p.m.

Mrs. C. G. Enterline, associate professor of English and advisor to Sock and Buskin, and David P. Willoughby, assistant professor of music and choir director, will direct the musical. Dr. Carl N. Shull, assistant professor of music, will assist in the production.

Dr. N. Franklin Stump

Dr. N. F. Stump Former Prof Dies At 65

Dr. N. Franklin Stump, psychology professor and director of audio-visual and testing here from 1955 to 1960, died at his home on January 15 after an illness of three years. He was 65.

He was to have been given the title Professor Emeritus during the College's February 6 mid-term commencement exercises.

He received his bachelor of science degree in 1921 from West Virginia State University; his master of arts degree from Yale University in 1923, and his doctor of philosophy degree from Cornell University in 1935.

In 1941 he was elected a Fellow in the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

He served in the public school systems of West Virginia. From 1929 to 1943 he taught at Keuka College, Keuka Park, N. Y., as a professor of psychology and education. From 1943 to 1945 he served in the general personnel department of the Revere Copper and Brass Company as director of training and testing. He taught in the industrial psychology department of Syracuse University in 1944 and 1945.

Swimming, Bowling Two Sports Events Top Activity List

Free swimming in the College pool and invitations to a wrestling meet and a basketball game will highlight the first "Winter Alumni Day" to be held on campus Saturday, February 16.

Winter Concert Slated Feb. 23

The Community String Ensemble and two student musical groups will present a Winter Concert at Elizabethtown College on February 23. To be held in the auditorium of the A. C. Baugher Student Center, the program will begin at 8 p.m.

In addition to the Community String Ensemble, which will be giving its first performance since its organization at the start of the current academic term, the Women's Chorus and the Concert Band will participate in the program.

David P. Willoughby, assistant professor of music at the College, is director of all three groups.

The program will be divided into three parts with each group performing singularly. Featured flute soloists with the String Ensemble will be Ray Kauffman, well known area musician.

He will play the Concerto in G Major by Gluck.

A graduate of Lebanon Valley College, Kauffman teaches music at Warwick High School, Lititz. He is also a part time instructor in woodwinds at Elizabethtown College. He plays with the Lancaster, Harrisburg, and Reading Symphonies.

Pres. McAuley Named To State Committee

Governor David L. Lawrence recently announced the appointment of Dr. Roy E. McAuley, President of Elizabethtown College, to a 12-member Advisory Committee on Alcoholism in the Department of Health.

The Committee is intended to give advice and to aid in coordination of the Department's comprehensive program to attack alcoholism as a major threat to Pennsylvania's health.

Prof. Edgar T. Bitting, president of the Alumni Association, announced that alumni are invited to spend an afternoon and evening on the campus to use the facilities of the Baugher Student Center. The Alumni Association membership card is all that's needed for the BSC activities.

Alumni and their families will be able to go swimming in the new olympic pool between 3 p.m. and 5 p.m. at no charge. A wrestling meet with Moravian is scheduled for 3 p.m. in the Alumni Gymnasium.

Passes to the basketball game with Scranton University will be given to the first two hundred alumni who ask for them at the Baugher Student Center during the day's activities. The varsity meets Scranton at 8:30 p.m.

Stevens Trade School will provide the opposition for the junior varsity game, starting at 6:45 p.m.

All that's needed for the swimming session is a suit and a towel.

The Jay's Nest will be open for light snacks throughout the day.

Professor Bitting is enthusiastic about the scheduled program.

"We've been wanting to have alumni get back on campus to see and enjoy the facilities of the new student center. The Winter Alumni Day gives them an opportunity for family fun in the center during the afternoon and a chance to see the basketball team in action in the evening," Bitting said.

In order to be admitted to the pool and to pick up the passes for the basketball game, alumni are asked to present their Alumni Association membership cards at the BSC.

Why not make a day of it on the campus?

Choir Set For 20 Road Concerts

The Elizabethtown College Concert Choir, directed by Prof. David P. Willoughby, will open its 20-concert Spring Travel Season February 17 at the Swatara Hill Church of the Brethren.

The itinerary will take the group to 15 churches, four high schools, and Juniata College. An evening concert at the Spring Creek Church of the Brethren, Hershey, on April 21, will conclude the schedule.

Special groups featured in the program will be the Dufay Singers, who sing music of the 15th to the 18th century; a women's triple trio; a men's quartet; and a mixed trio.

Among the numbers on the program are Haydn's The Heavens are Telling from the oratorio "The Creation," Jesu, Word of God Incarnate by Mozart, Hallelujah from Beethoven's "Mount of Olives," and O Give Thanks Unto the Lord by Berger.

The 39-voice choir is accompanied by Betty Markley, a senior from Annville.

Choir officers include Edward Beardslee, Chambersburg senior, president; Jack Neibert, Mechanicsburg junior, manager; Nancy Jo Buckwalter, Leacock senior, secretary-treasurer; and Kay Campbell, Ligonier junior, and Richard Lytle, St. Thomas senior, general representatives.

As we see it . . .

Why Not E-town?

The "A" is for Amherst;
The "B" is for Brown;
The "C" is for Colgate;
Then Darmouth comes around.
You know the E,
Why that's for Etown! . . .

These lines on alphabetized higher education are a part of a version of "The Eyes of Texas" sung by the Kerby Stone Four. As a result of this Columbia release, E-town College is making the airways on a nationwide basis. The line concerning E-town is even given in a typical Lancaster County twang.

A general first reaction to this news is one of disbelief on the part of our student body. After being convinced that the Kerby Stone Four really did include the name E-town, many students ask why, or how many other schools are also called E-town?

After doing a bit of research (just for the fun of it) we find that there are no other E-town Colleges or Elizabethtown Colleges. The song could be referring to only one school.

There are, however, many other colleges beginning with E from which the writer could have picked. After checking a list of colleges in the United States, we find there are 70 other colleges whose names begin with E. And many of these 70 names are words with two syllables (for you people interested in meter.)

Just what does all this prove? We know that E-town was selected for the song from a number of other choices. True, the school is very small in comparison with the others mentioned. Also true, this song will be forgotten before long.

And true, again an attitude of the students about their college is brought to light as a result of this recording. The attitude seems to be one of why would anyone choose E-town? This general feeling is carried beyond a mere name on a disk.

A lack of loyalty, respect, or spirit for our school is obvious. There seems to be a constant questioning with many students as to what is good about E-town. Needless to say, this frame of mind is harmful to a school and to its development. Instead of asking why E-town? . . . let us ask why not E-town? Give our school the support it needs and deserves.

CHALLENGE OF 1963

The reasonable success experienced in the organization of new chapters, in the amount of alumni giving, and in the inter- and attendance of alumni at various college functions should not dull the continued efforts of the General Alumni Association to improve and refine its procedures.

Two goals for 1963 emerge: 1—involve more alumni in forthcoming activities; 2—provide more effective and a larger variety of services through the placement-alumni office.

The development office reports a doubling of alumni dollars in support of the college without any appreciable change in the number of participants. Here is an opportunity to broaden the base of contributors.

Six new chapters were organized since October of 1962. Six others are beckoning for organization. A very positive sign of expansion in this direction rests on a long distance telephone call from an alumnus, "We are ready to go."

Again, attendance at Homecoming and Alumni Day activities does not make an alumnus. However, alumni who have not visited the campus in the last four years, can't appreciate the new look of the educational camp ground.

Communications between the college and alumni have grown. It must continue to grow. On the other hand, readership can improve, and feedback on the part of alumni to college can grow also in the way of supplying information of births, marriages, promotions, and achievements.

The General Alumni Association cannot meet the challenge alone. The officers count heavily on alumni support and morale. Neither do activities or programs rest on the president. The New Year anticipates increased participation in a greater number of activities on the part of an increasingly larger number of alumni.

The second goal involves an improvement and refinement of services. Among these are a more up-to-date address list with a corresponding decrease in undeliverable mail. Unclaimed mail becomes expensive business to the college.

Again, the alumni secretary anticipates the organization of six additional chapters so that eventually approximately ninety percent of the alumni will be chapter related.

The placement office, too, hopes to expand its services through developing more effective relationships with placement departments of other colleges. Through reciprocal relations between placement offices, our alumni in distant places can find help in sister colleges and other educational institutions.

Eventually, too, the alumni office will accumulate more statistical data covering these subjects: the number of graduates who pursue graduate work year after year; the number who enroll in seminars or pursue religious education (a church-related college should be interested in this kind of information); the percent of alumni and classes participating in the annual giving drive year after year, and so on.

Even though the past looks good, we must look forward to new tasks. A second look at the familiar and satisfying gives new perspectives. This we have dared to do. This is the challenge for 1963.

Especially For Alumni . . .

By EDGAR T. BITTING
President, Alumni Association

By now most New Year's resolutions have been broken, dreams of changes have faded and we are back to our true personalities once again. It is difficult to look ahead in 1963 and speculate as to the events that will transpire in our life. But here are some of the coming events for the Elizabethtown College Alumni Association that we hope will become a part of your life.

Many of you contributed toward the expansion of the Alumni Gymnasium into the beautiful A. C. Baugher Student Union. And now the college would like to contribute toward your enjoyment of that building. Your officers are presently working on plans to open the Student Union for your use at various times—one of them on February 16. The details are on page 1.

You know, this may be a bad move because when you see and use these facilities, you will all want to re-enroll at college, and where would we put you? Dr. McAuley reminds us that you better get that bathing suit out of moth balls and patch the knees if possible!

Second, the season for chapter meetings is upon us. The chapter officers and alumni secretary are working to provide interesting meetings for you. I hope you won't let them down.

With twelve chapters presently constituted, the nearest chapter dinner shouldn't be too far away. In case your name chapter watch the Etownian for announcements.

Third, the Fifth Annual Giving Campaign will soon be going full-steam. It would be wishing for a miracle to have alumni giving double again this year as it did last year. But let me inject a personal note to tell you of a miracle that just happened for me.

Many of you know I had a hearing loss that necessitated my wearing a hearing aid. Well, a few days before Christmas an operation was performed on my ear, and through God's miraculous powers I had a wonderful Christmas gift—the discarding of my hearing aid.

So I believe miracles still happen, and if we all help the miracle of a redoubling of alumni giving could take place.

And lastly, don't forget to reserve May 11 and June 1 for a return to campus. These are the dates of May Day and Alumni Day. If the attendance on the past Homecoming Day was an indication, you better plan to arrive early or accept the fact that you won't find a parking space.

All the foregoing point to a busy year for Elizabethtown College Alumni. Let's hope you

We get LETTERS

(Ed. Note—At the Request of the American Student Information Service the following letter was written as a report to the Service via the Elizabethtown College Alumni Office. Hilda I. Kolva is a member of the Class of 1962.)

During the past summer I had the experience of traveling to Europe and remaining for four weeks in one country to live and work with the people there. I was able to do this through the program of the American Student Information Service of Luxembourg.

The ASIS provides jobs in Europe for young people of the United States in addition to planning European tours for them. Theresa Bowman, a junior transfer student at Elizabethtown College, also participated in this program during the summer.

In June I flew via Belgian Airlines to Brussels, then to Luxembourg City, Luxembourg. After spending several days there, I began a thirty day tour of Southern Europe, along with sixteen other American students. This tour included the countries of France, Spain, Italy, Monaco, Switzerland, Austria, and Germany.

Following the tour all the students left for their various places of employment. Types of work available were, factory work, child care, farm work, resort work, camp counseling, hospital work, construction work, and work in a cooperative Kibbutz in Israel. The countries cooperating to provide jobs were, Finland, Germany, Luxembourg, Switzerland, Norway, England, Germany, France and Israel.

Since Theresa Bowman and I are nurses, we chose hospital work. Theresa worked for five weeks in the hospital ward of a home for the aged in Mannheim, Germany. I worked for four weeks in a 150-bed hospital in Wulfrath, Germany, a small town near Dusseldorf.

We worked with the nurses there and received the same wages as they. We lived in the nurses homes near the hospital. Laundry service and room and board were provided.

The nurses' day began at seven in the morning and didn't end until half-past seven in the evening, but then we also had a three-hour rest period, at which time the nurse was free to return to her room.

Each nurse had one and one-half days free each week. Frequently I had more time off because the director of nurses and the hospital administrator wanted me to see as much of Germany as I could in the four weeks that I would be there.

Near Wulfrath is the valley where the skeleton of the Neanderthal man was found, and I had an opportunity to visit the small museum there. I also had a boat trip on the Rhine River, visited several castles and ruins of castles, traveled through the Ruhr industrial area, and visited several of Germany's beautiful parks and zoos.

During my last week of work at the hospital, Theresa joined me. We visited with several German families and found them to be very friendly and hospitable. We felt honored when they expressed the wish that we would be able to remain longer, and also when they asked us when we would return to Germany. The German people were equally pleased to know that we had enjoyed our experiences in Germany.

The greatest problem for me

Cheating Policy Is Established

Upon the recommendation of the Student Senate and by agreement of the administration the following policy regarding cheating is, according to Dr. Hershman, in effect.

Students cheating in a regular test may be failed in the course or given a two-week suspension. Cheating in a final examination will preclude enrolling in the semester immediately following.

KNOW YOUR COUNCILMEN

CPA Robert F. Nation Returns To Serve Alumni

Elizabethtown College has been a stepping stone for numerous certified public accountants now in the field, and one of those has come back to serve the Alumni Association.

A relatively new member of the Alumni Council, Robert F. Nation joined the group in 1962 and will continue as a member through 1966.

He graduated from Elizabethtown with a B.S. in business administration in 1949 and is now a partner of Lee E. Boyer and Company, a certified public accountant firm in Harrisburg.

Residing at 9 Meadowbrook Lane, Elizabethtown, he is married to the former Annette Ruth Mumma, who attended the college as a member of the class of 1946. The Nations have two children, Susan E., 12, and David G., 9.

His business and community activities include membership in the Pennsylvania and American Institutes of Certified Public Accountants and the Elizabethtown Chamber of Commerce.

During his undergraduate days at the College his colleagues said he had a distinguishing "broad southern accent." Those around here who know him today claim the accent has mellowed.

Accents notwithstanding, he is, according to Alumni Secretary Clarence G. Enterline, "proving to be a real asset to the Alumni Council."

was the language barrier. I had no formal instruction in German. ASIS sent language records to study prior to leaving for Europe.

A knowledge of the basic phrases helped greatly and I learned much more while working there. Nevertheless, a greater knowledge of the language would permit a greater and better exchange of ideas.

As is was, there were amusing as well as frustrating situations in the attempt to understand one another.

Through this summer experience, I have come to appreciate and better understand the people of Germany. I have returned with clearer impressions of Europe.

College Receives Rembrandt Print

Elizabethtown College has received a print of Rembrandt's famous masterpiece, "Aristotle Contemplating the Bust of Homer" as a gift from two alumni, Mr. and Mrs. J. Kenneth Kreider, '61 (Carroll Hall, '60).

The framed print is now hanging in the main lounge of the Baugher Student Center.

Grants Given E-town College Rise to $6,500

Elizabethtown College has received a grant of five thousand dollars ($5,000) from the Smith Kline and French Foundation, Philadelphia, to purchase equipment for the Department of Chemistry.

The foundation made the grant after considering the record of the College in training students in chemistry.

Since 1954, the College has graduated thirty-nine chemistry majors. Of these, twenty-six have entered graduate school. Five have earned doctorates, and nine others are candidates for the doctoral degree.

Equipment to be purchased through the grant will be used to enrich the facilities in the various chemistry laboratories, according to Dr. Stambaugh, Chairman of the Department of Chemistry.

A second gift, of $1,500, from Sears, Roebuck and Company is to be used in the continuing development of the College.

W. G. Jones, manager of the Harrisburg branch of the company, presented the check to Dr. Roy E. McAuley, president of the College. President McAuley announced that the gift will be used for capital additions on the campus.

The Sears, Roebuck Company is distributing nearly $900,000 in unrestricted grants to private colleges and universities across the nation.

New Chapter Work Takes Sec. Far, Wide

By C. G. ENTERLINE

Now that one phase of chapter work is completed, let us examine the route traveled and alumni involved in the organization of new chapters.

Six new chapters were launched since October 27, beginning with northern New Jersey and ending with Washington, D. C. on December 8, 1962. Between these dates and places, are southern New Jersey, Schuylkill Valley, Cumberland Valley, and Lehigh Valley.

The distance covered approximates 1500 miles and involved a total cost of $185.00. The lodging cost was negligible because the alumni secretary returned to his home after each trip.

The major expense item was travel. Minor expenses involved an evening meal and the cost of refreshments after business meetings. These costs were negligible too because churches served graciously and gratuitously. One of the hotels in which a meeting was held gave facilities free.

Alumni reporting for these six meetings numbered 54. The number of alumni represented in these six new chapters is 550, covering New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and District of Columbia.

Fortunately, the weather on the whole, was quite delightful for travel. Trips were doubly rewarding; first, because the responses of leaders to the call for attending these meetings were excellent, ranging from five to sixteen; second, because, on most of the trips, someone accompanied the alumni secretary.

The following persons joined the alumni secretary at one time or another: his wife, Dr. and Mrs. McAuley, Professor and Mrs. Edgar T. Bitting, and Mr. and Mrs. James Miller.

An examination of the classes represented in this leadership shows a range from '22 through '61, with a concentration in the years of '58, '59 and '60.

Suggestion

Alumni who were not reached on the original "interest survey" are encouraged to write to the officers in their respective chapters. The officers are interested in having a complete list of alumni in their respective areas; they are also interested in knowing that you are concerned about the future course of each chapter. If you have any suggestions and are willing to help in the promotion of this kind of work, tell your officers about it. Communicate!

Total Costs Here Lower Than Norm

The average cost this year to attend colleges in Pennsylvania similar to Elizabethtown College is $1,879.00. The cost at Elizabethtown figured in the same manner, as for the institutions reported, is $1,725.00 or less. Thus our cost is more than $100 lower than the Pennsylvania average. Elizabethtown College is above average in the amount of total financial aid given students. This is according to studies prepared and presented by the Pennsylvania Association of Colleges and Universities.

Cagers Continue Winning Ways Gals Start Fast; Matmen Sink

A blistering offensive attack braced by a shooting percentage of 54 percent earned the Blue Jay Basketball squad a decisive triumph over formidable Drexel in the last home contest of the first Semester, January 16.

The 86-59 victory was the Jays' eighth against two losses. In the Middle Atlantic Conference they have a 6-2 log good for fifth place behind Albright, Moravian, Scranton, and Susquehanna. The two losses were to Albright and Moravian.

In other sports the wrestlers were still looking for a winning combination, having won only two of their first seven meets; and the women's basketball team was off to a good start with two one-sided victories in their first two encounters.

Larry Evans, the 6'3" sophomore forward from Saxton, set the pace for the dribblers against Drexel, but, as usual, it was the offensive balance that forced the Dragons off the pace early and kept them out of contention throughout the contest.

Drexel was leading the Southern Division of the MAC at the time and had one of the best defensive averages among small colleges in the nation.

All five Blue Jay starters went into the battle with double figure averages, and they came out the same way. Evans hit 12 times from the field for 24 points; Bill Bechtold racked up 20 points; Dan Reitmeyer had 15; John Neely, 15; and Jim Selichter, 12.

In addition Evans grabbed off 13 rebounds while Reitmeyer snared 11. Neely netted nine assists; Selichter had eight.

Previously Coach Don Smith's men had split a pair of one-sided ball games. They trounced Wilkes here, 91-61, on January 12, but were victimized by a flashy Moravian crew at Bethlehem on January 10, 92-75.

Bechtold and Selichter, with 16 points each, were high men for the Jays in the Wilkes outing. At Moravian Evans pumped through 26 for the team high.

In the first game after the Holiday break the Smithmen swamped Lycoming at Williamsport, 100-74.

The Jays were to play Gettysburg on January 19 and now remain idle until the beginning of the second semester when they'll start with Dickinson at Carlisle on February 8.

Coach Les Baum's grapplers snapped a four meet losing streak and had a two meet win skein going for them, but Gettysburg put them back in the loss column January 12 with a 15-9 decision here.

The Jay matmen, with six freshmen among the eight starters, won their first two at the start of 1963. They tripped Juniata, 22-8, and Lebanon Valley, 17-9, after taking it on the nose four times prior to Christmas.

Against Gettysburg, however, only Gerry Jackson and John Shoemaker, both freshmen, and Jack Lehman, senior co-captain, were able to add to the Jays' scoring column. Co-captain Gerry Greiner, unbeaten in the first six meets of the season, lost his first against the Bullets.

Muhlenberg remained on the first semester docket for Baum's men (Jan. 19, here). Their first scrap of the second semester will pit them against Ursinus at Collegeville on February 9.

Miss Allegra Hess had her women dribblers off to a good start with lopsided wins over Moravian and Muhlenberg in their first two games.

Ann Sharpe threw in 33 points in a 59-18 mauling of Moravian, and she came back to net 23 more while the Jaygals were drubbing Muhlenberg, 49-33.

Sue Wood and Carol Moyer shared some of the scoring load with 24 and 21 in the two games respectively.

The Gals had a home game slated with Shippensburg on January 18 and won't play again until February 8, when Bridge-water, a real power over the last several years, comes up from the South to do battle. That one was rescheduled from February 22.

Honors To Wright

PROGRAM

been working with Dean Jacob Hershman for more than a year in developing the five-year project. The plan was presented to Lancaster County School Administrators recently and was viewed as "having possibilities."

"We have a lot of details to be ironed out before the program can be put into action. However, if the area schools decide the plan has merit and are willing to cooperate, we may be able to start within a year," Hoover related.

He pointed out several advantages of the five-year plan.

"First, we get prospective teachers into the classroom setting well in advance of their final year in college, the normal time for practice-teaching under the current four-year program.

"Second, the student completing the five-year program will be a better qualified teacher upon his graduation because of his added in-service training.

"Third, by earning money as a teacher while in college, the student's financial problems will be eased."

Participating students would get their first taste of classroom experience during their third year in college. Other semesters in public school classrooms would be scheduled during the fourth and fifth years.

Money and Banking Class Tours Federal Reserve; Trapped With $12 Billion

Twenty-seven members of the Money and Banking Class and their professor, Edgar T. Bitting, toured the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia on January 8, and in addition to a full day of travel, lectures, tours, and discussion the group accidentally cashed in on an exciting experience.

While showing the huge bank's intricate vault, the tour guide flipped the wrong switch and locked the group, guide and all, inside the vault with some $12 billion for several minutes.

The guide attracted attention by waving a white handkerchief to someone on the other side of an emergency window, and the group escaped. The $12 billion remained intact.

Al Hershey Given All-America Slot

Al Hershey, left inside for the Middle Atlantic Conference Champion Elizabethtown College soccer team, added All-America honors to his post-season soccer credits recently.

Named to the second All-America team, the 5'8" junior from Paradise had previously been selected to two other post-season all-star teams. He was chosen on the first All-Pennsylvania-New Jersey-Delaware team and the first Middle Atlantic Conference team.

The All-America berth was announced at a banquet honoring the All-America selections and attended by Hershey and his coach, Owen L. Wright, at the Hotel Manhattan, in New York, January 12.

In winning the honor Hershey became the first Elizabethtown

Al Hershey

College player to achieve so high a rating. Fred Seltzer, senior from Annville, received an honorable mention at fullback last year, and two former Blue Jay stars, Warner Cheeks and Carroll Hershey (Al's brother) gained honorable mentions in 1960.

Seltzer was given a fourth team center halfback post and Bensing a fifth team left halfback spot on the All-Pa.-N.J.-Del. teams. Stern was an honorable mention at right halfback on the MAC team.

Hershey and McGlaughlin were key members of the Blue Jay offensive machine which rolled up 48 goals to the opposition's 11 while posting 12 wins in 14 contests in 1962.

In addition to the MAC championship, Elizabethtown won a second place trophy in the NCAA Atlantic Coast Regional Soccer Tournament at Garden City, Long Island.

openings are limited.

STUMP

From 1945 to 1955 he held the position of director of consulting services of the Bausch and Lomb Optical Company, Rochester, N. Y., following which he came to Elizabethtown.

Dr. Stump was a member of the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren, was a member of the church choir, served as president of a Sunday school class, and was very active in other church affairs.

He is survived by his wife, Lillie Werner Kohler Stump; a stepson; two sisters; and a brother.

Oil Painting Course Given Next Semester

Elizabethtown College will offer a sixteen-week course in techniques of oil painting to college and non-college enrollees during the second semester of the current academic term, according to Dr. Jacob E. Hershman, dean of the College.

The course will meet Monday evenings from 7 to 9:30 p.m. beginning February 11. The college will grant three college credits for successful completion of the course.

Instructor will be Henry M. Libhart, assistant professor of English and teacher of the college's course in art appreciation.

According to Libhart the subject matter of the course will rest mainly in still-life, thereby providing the student with such principles and techniques of the art as to permit his applying them readily to the other subject-matter areas.

"Although there will be necessarily some instruction in drawing, it will be subordinated to the primary training in the techniques of painting oils," he said.

An accomplished artist, Libhart has been offering instruction in painting in his home for several years. He recently sold one of his own paintings to the Montclair Art Museum, Montclair, N.J.

Registration will be held on campus in the Registrar's Office, Alpha Hall, February 6, 7, and 8 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Enrollment

Co-Ed Letters In Three Sports

By ED WORDEN

EDITORS NOTE: This is the seventh in a series of feature articles highlighting athletes who are in their final year of competition for the Jays.

After four sports-less years at Solanco H.S., Sue Wood has played three sports here at E-town. "The high school was pretty far from home," she says, "it was nearly impossible to stay for practices after school."

Sue holds a varsity letter in tennis, and was a member of the first five last year. She was undefeated.

The blond senior has three varsity E's in field hockey. As center-halfback, she was elected to the Central Penn Team II this year and to the first team her sophomore year. This season, she scored four goals.

In basketball, Sue is a three-year veteran and was chosen as a co-captain this year. Previously a forward, she is now the "roving" player. This means that she plays forward and guard at once.

"Women's basketball is better to watch this year," she promises. "The 'roving' player makes the game faster and a lot more interesting."

Sue will graduate in June with a major in business administration.

Women's Auxiliary Holds Luncheon Presents $1000 For Zug Library

The Women's Auxiliary of Elizabethtown College contributed $1,000 to the college during a luncheon meeting of the organization in the A. C. Baugher Student Center, on the campus, February 9.

To be used in purchasing periodicals for the library, the gift was the second of five yearly contributions pledged to the college. The check was accepted by Dr. Roy E. McAuley, president of the college.

A Lebanon County woman, Mrs. Richard Eckroth, Palmyra, was elected first vice-president of the Women's Auxiliary of Elizabethtown College Saturday, during a luncheon meeting of the organization in the Baugher Student Center at the college.

Mrs. Wallace Baldwin, Palmyra, president of the auxiliary, had charge of the meeting, which featured an address by Mrs.

Co-op Teachers To Meet Here

Supervisors and cooperative teachers from elementary and secondary schools that work with Elizabethtown College in its student teacher program will meet at the College on March 16.

Prof. Elmer B. Hoover, head of the Education Department and director of the teacher training program, announced that the group will meet in the Alumni Auditorium of the A. C. Baugher Student Center for light refreshments and a discussion session at 6 p.m.

A public concert by the Boys Choir of the Milton Hershey School, Hershey, and a tour of the building will follow.

"We expect about 100 teachers and supervisors from the schools with which we cooperate in the student teacher program," Hoover said. "By discussing the various methods and problems involved in the program, we hope to establish better rapport between the cooperating schools and the College."

During the first semester of the current academic term 62 students did their practice teaching in nearby schools. About ten students are scheduled for practice teaching during the second semester.

Austin Fellenbaum, professor of education at the college. A harpsichord recital was presented by Dr. Henry Hood, a member of the department of history.

Miss Anna Schwenk, Carlisle, was elected corresponding secretary for the group.

In addition to president McAuley, several other college officers spoke briefly. They included Dr. Joseph W. Kettering, chairman of the board of trustees; Dr. Jacob E. Hershman, dean; and James L. M. Yeingst, director of public relations.

College Receives L. D. Rose Library

The balance of the late Prof. L. D. Rose's library was given to the Zug Memorial Library recently by Mrs. Rose, Miss Anna M. Carper, librarian, announced recently.

In 1961 Prof. Rose had given the library a large part of his collection.

"This collection which reflects his interest in Brethren history and in German literature will provide a living memorial to the former professor and librarian," Miss Carper said.

Professor Emeritus Rose, a former German teacher, librarian, and the Brethren Historical Library director here for 25 years, died last year at 78.

Sixty-two On Dean's List

Sixty-two students qualified, with a 3.5 average or above, for the dean's list first semester of the 1962-63 academic year.

The Senior Class took top honors with 26 members on the honored list. Seventeen juniors, twelve sophomores, and six freshmen complete the list.

Students earning dean's list honors are as follows:

JUNIORS: Edward Bruno, Elizabeth de Vitry, David Farmer, Virginia Heisey, Robert Kerr, Anne Keuhnelian, Joyce Wagner Kintzer, Albert Koch, Maryann Reagan, Virginia Rudy, Scott Swank, V. Beth Swanson, Janet Walton, Betty Wenger, Charlotte Wenger, Nancy Winger, and Linda Young.

SOPHOMORES: Marie Brackbill, William Brown, Bertha Campanelli, Carolyn Carothers, Carlyle Crane, Carol Gould, Robert Guthrie, Jane Idell, Stephen Keiser, Martha Laudermilch, Linda Logan, and Ralph Meyer.

FRESHMEN: Charlotte Breedon, James Kipp, Joan Meekley, Petra Mulkeen, Clarice Ott and Barry Shaffer.

DISCUSS EARLY ADMISSIONS

Guidance Counselors To Meet Here March 1

Guidance counselors and principals from high schools in four counties will meet at Elizabethtown College to discuss the College's Early Admissions Program for accelerated students, March 1.

The counties represented include Dauphin, Lancaster, Lebanon, and York.

Under the program, begun at the College last fall, qualifying high school juniors are admitted to College as freshmen and receive credit for their senior year in high school and their freshman year in college at the same time.

According to Dr. Jacob E. Hershman, dean, there are now 12 students at the College under this program.

"This meeting will give us a chance to discuss the success of the program in its first year of operation and to make some projections for next year and the following years," Dr. Hershman said.

The counselors and principals will meet in the main lounge of the Baugher Student Center at 1:30 p.m.

After a tour of the Student Center, the group will convene in the Brinsler Lecture Hall to

Musical, Concert Slated For March

Two public musical programs will be presented on the campus during the first half of March.

"Song of Norway," a musical based on the life and music of Edvard Grieg a famous Norwegian composer, will be presented by the music and dramatics departments of the College in the Alumni Auditorium of the A. C. Baugher Student Center, March 8 and 9, at 8 p.m.

Mrs. C. G. Enterline, associate professor of English and advisor to Sock and Buskin, and David P. Willoughby, assistant professor of music and choir director, will direct the musical. Dr. Carl N. Shull, assistant professor of music, will assist in the production.

On March 16 the Glee Club of the Milton Hershey School, Hershey, will perform in the Alumni Auditorium beginning at 8 p.m.

Well-known throughout Central Pennsylvania, the boys are being sponsored by the Special Events Committee of the Student Center Board.

Community Cultural Series Features Vienna Choir Boys

The Vienna Choir Boys, now on their 19th tour of North America, will appear in Elizabethtown, March 21, as one of the series of College-Community Cultural Programs.

Sponsored by Elizabethtown College in cooperation with the Patton School, the concert will be held in the Elizabethtown Area High School auditorium beginning at 8 p.m.

The choir, made up of 22 boys between the ages of eight and 14, has won fame throughout the world. Featured in its program will be "The Village Barber," a comic opera in one act by Johann Schenk.

Founded in 1498 by Imperial Decree of the Holy Roman Emperor Maximilian I, the choir was exclusively controlled by the Hapsburg Court until the fall of the Empire in 1918. Following that time the historic Seminary

School had to depend on itself for support, and the public concerts were initiated in 1926.

Because of the changing of the boys' voices, every choir that has appeared in North America has been a different one. In the organization's Imperial past such boys as Josef Haydn and Franz Schubert sang with the group.

During this tour the group will be heard in some 60 cities.

The College-Community Cultural Programs are arranged by the Lyceum Committee of Elizabethtown College. The Patton School is represented on the committee for community programs. Chairman of the committee is Dr. Carl N. Shull, assistant professor of music at the College.

Garfield Todd Slated To Speak Here Next Month

The Hon. R. S. Garfield Todd, Specialist in African Affairs and former Prime Minister of Southern Rhodesia, will be on the campus of Elizabethtown College as a Danforth Visiting Lecturer, March 25 and 26.

One of a series of Campus Cultural Programs under the sponsorship of the College's Lyceum Committee, Todd's appearance will be in association with the Teachers for West Africa Program.

His schedule while on campus is being arranged by R. Bruce Lehr, assistant professor of languages. In addition to speaking in the student assembly, Todd will speak to small groups of students, faculty, and interested persons during his stay here.

He will talk on current African affairs and background events responsible for conditions in Africa today.

COMING . . . Internationally-known Vienna Choir Boys will present a concert in Elizabethtown Area High School auditorium, Thursday, March 21, at 8 p.m. One of series of College-Community Cultural programs, concert is sponsored locally by Elizabethtown College and Patton Masonic School for Boys. Vienna Choir Boys are presented to American audience through S. Hurok, of Hurok Attractions, N. Y., who is especially noted for his presentation of Bolshoi Ballet to United States. A near historic group, Vienna Choir Boys date back to times of Mozart and Johann Sebastian Bach

Especially For Alumni...

By EDGAR T. BITTING
President, Alumni Association

The other day I read a statement which still bothers me. It appeared in the "Off the Beaten Track" column in the student edition of the Etownian. The opening paragraph in this unsigned column read like this: "Congratulations and best wishes are in order for all the winter graduates. By this time, each must have received at least three letters asking for contributions to the alumni fund . . . or are the requests inserted into the diploma?"

My first reaction was to wonder if the writer of that column had never looked around campus to see the many tangible things provided by the alumni. And then I thought back to my undergraduate days and realized that my thought at that time ran in a similar manner.

I never took time from all the pressures of undergraduate life to stop and think that I was not paying my way at Elizabethtown College, and that someone else had made all the buildings possible.

It thus appears that we must educate our underclassmen to the benefits of the Alumni Association. It does seem that we neglect them until they become alumni and receive that first letter asking for their financial support.

But how much time can they spare and how much interest would they have in listening to another lecture on the value of the alumni association. I can well visualize the response to such a meeting. It takes a post-graduation realization and time to mature to appreciate the many things that formerly were taken for granted.

The college administration and the officers of the alumni association recognize this problem and are working to overcome the feeling expressed in the above mentioned column.

They have called upon the Public Relations Committee of the association to assist in designing a brochure to introduce the undergraduate student body to the role of the alumni association. Certainly this is a step in the right direction.

Regardless of the reaction from our undergraduates or from our most recent alumni, we will soon be calling on you to give assistance in the Fifth Annual Giving Campaign.

We need all the financial assistance we can muster to increase the alumni giving record of the previous campaign, and we will need many workers to assist in the operation of the campaign. Please don't let your officers down in either area.

While your contributions to the college will be fully deductible for income tax purposes in 1963, their treatment in future years appears uncertain. The proposed tax law will allow personal deductions only in excess of 5% of your income.

Contributions are a part of these personal deductions so a change in the law would certainly have an effect on contributions to the college and to our churches. This is not to suggest that our motive in contributing is to reduce our income tax, yet we certainly take it into consideration. Perhaps you may want to let your representative in Washington know your thinking on this matter.

I'll end this letter with another reminder for you to reserve Saturday, June 1, 1963, Alumni Day, to return to campus. The day's activities will begin with a Recognition Luncheon at noon and conclude with the Annual Alumni Banquet in the evening at which time Dr. Albert L. Gray will speak. If I didn't see you at the Winter Alumni Day, I hope to see you in the spring.

PERSPECTIVES

Of interest to alumni workers and college presidents, is the relationship between organized alumni and the college represented. How does an alumni association view its relationship to the college? How does the college view its relationship with the alumni association?

Two extreme views on the part of the association might exist. First, the association may assume an independent existence. In this situation, communication between the general association or clubs and the Alma Mater would be exceedingly limited.

Next, the association might be so dependent upon Alma Mater that it has not become aware of its inherent strength or its potential. In this case, the voice of the alumni would hardly be heard.

These extreme positions could develop through the association's failure to capitalize on leadership; through financial independence of a large organization; through a loss of vision or reason for organizing associations. Many other reasons can be given.

Let us examine, now, extreme views which an educational institution might take toward an alumni association. First, a school or college might take a detached view toward alumni as a group. After students have been in school for a prescribed period of time, a school could show little or no interest in them.

In spite of institutional indifference, alumni could organize in near and far places but would share little with the alumni office of the institution itself. Alumni groups would be characterized as islands of interest with the college as a somewhat weak common denominator.

On the other hand, an institution could be so over solicitous and condescending as to provide every facility, service, and idea to rob alumni groups of their own creativity. Actually such a situation might be difficult to find. These extremes suggest some kind of reasonableness.

The best relationships between alumni and an educational institution lie in cooperative effort - efforts directed toward specific goals. By the very nature of an alumni association - no matter how exciting or glamorous its program and its activities - the association exists primarily for the good of the college.

In the promotion of activities relating to the welfare of the college, alumni continue their

Student Teachers Speak

EDITOR'S NOTE: Sounding Board asked the Senior practice teachers how they felt about their teaching experience. We also asked them how they felt about returning to the role of a student again.

PHIL REESE, Secondary—"I enjoyed it very much, but I found it became somewhat tiring towards the end. If a student teacher could devote his full time to teaching in a program similar to that of a State Teachers College, he would benefit more and so would his students. Am I glad to be back? It's wonderful."

DAVE EBERSOLE, Secondary—"I'd be hesitant to go into a teaching position without this experience. I don't think I can say how profitable the experience was until I actually begin teaching on my own. One thing I've learned is that discipline should be a teacher's greatest concern. Glad to be back? I'll let you know that after I take my first test."

DAVID MOYER, Secondary—"If you want to find out whether or not you really know something, try teaching it. I probably learned just as much as I taught. I sometimes wondered whether a teacher really has patience, or just lacks energy."

MARY ZUG, Elementary—"I really enjoyed it, although I was busy all the time. I found that teaching in the textbook and teaching in the classroom are two entirely different things. Glad to be back? Amen."

SHIRLEY WATTERS, Secondary—"I loved it. I had a real good group of kids and a great cooperative teacher. A shortcoming of student teaching was the lack of contact with the campus and also not being a full faculty member of the high school, but it can't be helped. Glad to be back? I don't know yet."

FRED SELTZER, Elementary—"A mixed reaction. I enjoyed teaching but I'm looking forward to having my own classroom where I'll have complete control. A student teacher's problem is that he is only a student teacher. As far as being back is concerned, if I had the decision to make, I'd much rather be with the children in a teaching situation."

DORIS WEIR, Elementary—"I found it a very rewarding experience and I think that you learn so much practical knowledge that could never be found in a textbook. The enthusiasm of the children is very inspiring to a beginning teacher. I'm glad to be back on campus, but I'm looking forward to teaching next fall."

HUBERT CALLIHAN, Secondary—"No one can quite realize what really confronts a teacher until he goes into it. From our textbooks we form pre-conceived opinions about teaching; they are a help, but teaching is something which is individual to each person. I realize now how much more difficult it is to be out working than to be a student. It's good to be back as a student, although I enjoyed practice teaching very much."

JOANN METZLER, Elementary—"Student teaching has been a wonderful experience and for me perhaps "the" highlight of my college career. Not only was it challenging, but it was also rewarding. I have found teaching to be like life—the more you put into it, the more you get out of it. As I begin classes, I have mixed feelings. I am glad to be back on campus again and in classes, but I really miss the activity and enthusiasm of thirty-eight lively youngsters."

KADY MacGREGOR, Secondary—"I am glad that I had the worthwhile opportunity to student teach these past eight weeks, but am quite happy to be back here at school again. I feel like I missed quite a bit of campus life by being cramped up in my room practically every night preparing lesson plans, correcting papers, etc. I dislike being two places at the same time. I find both can't be done, and done well."

Co-eds Express Enthusiasm For 'Brethren Colleges Abroad'

Three Elizabethtown College students, Sue Bucher, Phyllis Lachman, and Janet Risser, were among the 24 from seven colleges who were accepted for study at Marburg University, Marburg, Germany, as part of the "Brethren Colleges Abroad" program for this year.

"Brethren Colleges Abroad" is a cooperative attempt by the six colleges of the Church of the Brethren to provide an opportunity for study abroad.

The program is designed to meet the needs of college juniors whose academic interest will be strengthened by a year of study in a foreign university.

Great enthusiasm concerning the program and its merits has been displayed in the letters of all three co-eds.

The general enthusiasm is exhibited by Miss Lachman in the following paragraph taken from one of her letters to the college: "How many students have expressed an interest in the program for the next year? I have one word of definite advice! GO."

Janet Risser gives encouragement through a letter in the following manner: "I would heartily encourage the students at E-town to take advantage of this program next year. I consider this one of the greatest opportunities of my lifetime. If I can in any way help promote this program on campus, I would be glad to do so."

Sue Bucher admits that, "The program is undoubtedly a wonderful, worthwhile, and successful venture."

Students interested in the B. C. A. program for the 1963-64 scholastic year are still able and are encouraged to apply, according to Dr. Byerly. All interested applicants should see Dr. Berkebile or Dr. Byerly for further information.

Other comments of interest from the co-eds now abroad include: Phyllis Lachman—"If anyone is already planning to come, perhaps he could write and we would be glad to give help on any problem. I believe my concern over courses was unnecessary. I believe one can get the necessary hours. Courses are more specialized—no surveys. I really think the program is wonderful, and I have yet to regret my coming."

Janet Risser

Janet Risser — "This year will mean as much to me culturally and socially as academically. Learning to adjust to a new system of social behavior makes one keep an open mind and a mature head. After a while it is easy to understand why the people think the way they do. Above all, I realize that people are the same, basically, the world over."

Sue Bucher — "For me, the language is my greatest concern—it is imperative that one converse with the people in their own 'Sprache'. On the other hand, I'm confident that competence in handling the German is not the most important thing. Of course, it's difficult to learn, especially with no previous background, but frankly, my poor Deutsch has proved a means of contact with the Germans. They are very sympathetic, pleased to help with pronunciation, and very happy that we're trying to learn their language."

education in human and public relations. Thus, the college and alumni profit.

It appears that Elizabethtown College alumni have a reasonable purpose, a workable program, and a sensible view of their relationships with the college.

According to their constitution, "The purpose of this Association shall be to promote by organized effort the interests and welfare of Elizabethtown College, to encourage closer fellowship among the alumni and former students—and to establish closer contact and better understanding between the college and its graduates and former students."

discuss the program. Included will be a statistical report on the accelerated students' performances during the first semester of the current academic term.

D. Paul Greene, director of admissions, will discuss the program's operation during the coming year.

"We will have our 12 accelerated students on hand to give comments and answer questions by the counselors and principals," Greene said.

Also on the program will be a discussion of a related program that enables the Elizabethtown Area High School to send selected seniors to the College for one or two courses.

Kenneth Grosh, Elizabethtown High School guidance counselor will describe the program's first semester of operation. There were 18 local high school students taking courses under this program.

A similar meeting for counselors was held last year. This year principals and county superintendents are also being encouraged to attend.

Reorganized Chapters Meet In Phila., Jersey

By C. G. ENTERLINE

With the reorganization of the Camden-Philadelphia Chapter into separate clubs—North Jersey, South Jersey, and Philadelphia—the Philadelphians met recently west of the city of Brotherly Love, and the New Jersey clubs met (or will meet) in their respective areas.

PHILADELPHIA

Two Students to Study Off Campus

Sophomore Judith Ullery has been accepted as a student at the International Christian University, Mitaka, Tokyo, Japan, and will spend the 1963-64 academic term, her junior year, studying there.

A liberal arts major from Feasterville, Miss Ullery will fly to Japan some time in August and remain there until the following August. She will return to Elizabethtown College for her senior year.

In addition to taking courses at the University, which operates on a trimester basis, she will travel in the Orient.

Elaine Flemming has been selected to attend the Merrill-Palmer Institute of Human Development, Detroit, Mich., during the second semester of the current academic term.

Miss Flemming, a junior psychology major, began a 16-hour program in human development at the institute on February 5. She will receive full credit from Elizabethtown College for her work and return here as a senior next fall.

Elizabethtown College was approved as a cooperating institution in Merrill-Palmer's undergraduate program in the behavioral sciences last year.

The Philadelphia group met at Moorehead's, Trappe, on Saturday, January 12. The dinner program featured Dr. Roy E. McAuley, president of the College, who brought the group up to date on proposed buildings, curricula, and on recent innovations. Alumni secretary, C. G. Enterline, showed recent slides of campus and organizational meetings.

Philadelphians honored the reservations by 100 percent. The heavy fog might have discouraged an ordinary crew. According to the response, the new chapter is strengthening its pulse for new activities. This was the first chapter meeting of 1963.

Present also at the meeting were: Dora M. Zeigler, -25; Dr. Jay Eshleman, -32; Mr. and Mrs. John H. Speidel, '41; Leah K. Meyer, '43; Carrie Ellis, -11; Catherine Detwiler, -25; Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Eshleman, -30; Belva Cassel, '61; Kathryn Kauffman, '35; Nancy Sheaffer, '60; Jon A. Singer, '62; Mary H. Fridy, -37; and friend; Marilyn Bucknum, '62; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Reber, -36; and Arden Bortz, '53.

Officers elected for the year of 1963-64 are: president, Norman R. Bitterman, 208 Summit Avenue, Ft. Washington; vice-president, Jon Singer, 8 Ridley Avenue, Aldan; Secretary, Nancy Sheaffer, 110 Susquehanna Avenue, Lansdale.

NORTH JERSEY

The first meeting of north Jersey alumni was held on a snowy and icy afternoon of January 27, at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. M. Alexander Glasmire, '37, 23 Oakridge Road, West Orange, N. J. The hospitality of the host and hostess and the comfortable quarters made for a period of warm fellowship.

The group set their sights and planned for an all-family picnic on Sunday, June 23, 1963, at Surprise Lake, Watchung Reservation, New Jersey.

In addition to the Glasmires, the following alumni were present: Dr. and Mrs. James Miller, '55; Miss Marguerite Brown, -59; Dr. and Mrs. John Ranck, '61; Mr. and Mrs. Galen B. Fahnestock, '50.

Officers for 1963 are: Dr. James Miller, president; Dr. Alexander Glasmire, vice-president; Miss Marguerite Brown, secretary.

Eight Hundred Brethren Youth Visit Campus

Some 800 high-school-age Church of the Brethren Youth and their counselors and pastors attended the first annual Brethren Youth Day held on campus, Saturday, February 2.

The youth, representing 60 churches in the eastern and southern Penna. districts, were guests of the College for a full program of activities from 1 p. m. to 8 p. m.

Mrs. Harold J. Ebersole

She graduated in 1949 with the bachelor of science degree in business education. Elected to the Council in 1962, she will serve until 1967.

Mrs. Ebersole is the wife of a dentist and spends much of her time in the role of housewife and mother of two sons, Jeffrey H. and Bruce C. The Ebersoles live at 313 Lincoln St., Hummelstown.

An active church worker, she also participates in the activities of a local women's club and the Women's Auxiliary of the Harrisburg Dental Society.

As a student at Elizabethtown Mrs. Ebersole played leading roles in three Sock and Buskin plays. Her interest in student choral groups and her soprano voice were well known to the student body.

She came to Elizabethtown College from Uniontown.

Campus Station Nears Reality

WWEC To Air Varied Program

By KAY ZAHN

"This is WWEC—AM, 740 on your radio dial . . ." These long-awaited words of Elizabethtown College's newest venture on behalf of the college are approaching reality.

Music, news of national and school interest, special and sports' events running from 7 to 12 p. m. daily will soon be the order of the day on the Elizabethtown radio.

Saturdays and Sundays will bring a different schedule, combining with week days to produce forty to forty-five hours per week of broadcasting time.

Station Manager, Mark Miller stated that while some popular "45's" will be played the stress will be on LP's with the hope that WWEC will produce programs of professional FM quality.

News breaks will be fairly frequent with news being gathered by NBC radio as well as student reporters working under Dick Lytle, News Program Director. Special events such as Dr. Schlosser's lecture on the poetry of Tennyson and Browning and the college production of the Messiah have been taped and will be played for student edification.

Plans include on the spot reporting of sports events. This, however, is a more expensive project than meets the eye, entailing the renting of telephone lines between the station and the place of the game.

Planning for WWEC began two years ago as the dream of WEZN radio announcer and student, Fiske Martin, and others, including Martin Heilman, Dick Lytle, Phil Reese, and Don Kerkeslazer.

Miller is at present working with an executive committee comprised of Assistant Manager, Phil Reese; Chief Engineer, Mar-

As for the rest of the season, the Jays certainly have their work cut out for them. Capt. John Neely said, "The team has to get over basketball's equivalent to stage fright. We have proven that our offense is good; now we have to put more concentration and value in our defense."

The entire student body is cognizant of the fact that the Jays have trouble on foreign boards. The team plays five of the remaining nine games away and one big one at home against Scranton. This mental bloc has got to be conquered.

Prior to the varsity game, which begins at 3:30 p.m. in the Elizabethtown Area High School gymnasium, the fathers will be introduced with team members. Lycoming College will be the Blue Jays' opponent in the basketball game.

Student Elections Attract Record Turnout Of Voters

Joe Eshleman Wins Senate Presidency Guthrie Named VP

A record 90 percent of the student body turned up at the polls on March 13 and elected Joseph K. Eshleman, a chemistry major from East Berlin (near York, Pa.), to the presidency of the Student Association for the 1963-64 term.

Bob Guthrie, a sophomore chemistry major from Watsonstown, was elected vice president; Bonnie Ginter, York, won a second term as secretary; Jack Neibert, Mechanicsburg, was named to fill the new post of treasurer.

Elected on the same day were Ed Worden, Etownian editor; Ed Holle, Conestogan editor, and Mark Miller, station manager of WWEC.

Of the 856 students eligible to vote, 784 cast ballots.

Newly elected officers and members of the new Student Senate and Committees on Men's and Women's affairs—the latter groups are still to be elected—will be inducted during student assemblies on April 17 and 18.

A Leadership Retreat for old and new student government personnel will be held at Camp Swatara, Bethel, on the weekend of March 29.

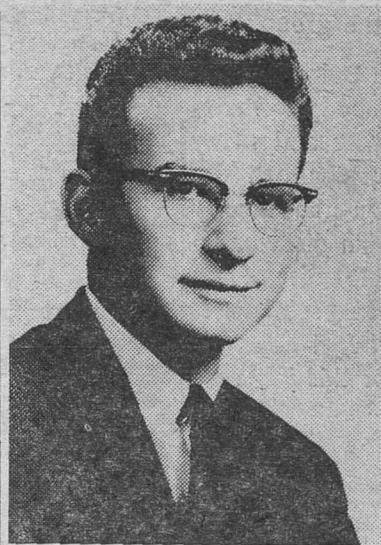

A junior, Eshleman defeated two classmates for the office of senate president. The unsuccessful candidates were Robert O. Kerr, Alquippa, and Thomas W. Pimmel, Philadelphia.

Eshleman is 20. He plans to attend medical school after graduation here. His past experience in campus activities includes work with the literary staff of the CONESTOGAN and the Constitution Committee of the Senate.

A commuter this year, he was a resident student during his freshman and sophomore years.

The main planks in his running platform were: better communication among campus groups, more emphasis on quality in the campus social program, greater interest in commuter participation in campus life, the formation of a men's dormitory council, and investigation of honor system possibilities.

First Alumni Recital Set

Six Elizabethtown College alumni will perform in the First Annual Alumni Recital at the College on March 24, according to Prof. Nevin W. Fisher, head of the department of music.

The program will be held in the Alumni Auditorium of the Baugher Student Center beginning at 3:30 p.m.

Vocalists to perform include Mrs. D. Paul Rice, Elizabethtown, lyric soprano; D. Paul Rice, Elizabethtown, baritone; Mary Gladfelter, New Cumberland, coloratura soprano; and Edwin Keener, Elizabethtown, tenor. Mr. and Mrs. Rice will sing solos and duets.

Two pianists, Linda Hollinger, Manheim, and Dr. David E. Schlosser, Mt. Joy, will also be featured.

Prof. Fisher announced that the affair would become an annual event with different alumni participating each year.

Band Concert Here March 31

Elizabethtown College's Concert Band will present a public concert, "Music for an Afternoon," in the Alumni Auditorium of the Baugher Student Center, March 31, at 3:30 p.m.

The program will feature numbers by a brass quintet, a woodwind trio, and a flute quartet. The band is directed by Prof. David P. Willoughby, assistant professor of music.

The brass quintet will play brass literature of the 17th Century.

Lyceum Committee Slates Vienna Choir Boys For March 21

The Vienna Choir Boys, now on their 19th tour of North America, will appear in Elizabethtown, March 21, as one of the series of College-Community Cultural Programs.

Sponsored by Elizabethtown College in cooperation with the Patton School, the concert will be held in the Elizabethtown Area High School auditorium beginning at 8 p.m.

The choir, made up of 22 boys between the ages of eight and 14, has won fame throughout the world. Featured in its program will be "The Village Barber," a comic opera in one act by Johann Schenk.

Linda Eshelman

May Day Slated May 11 Linda Eshelman Queen

Miss Linda Eshelman, a striking brunette and vivacious coed, has been chosen to rule as queen of the May Court on May 11, 1963. Maid of Honor will be Miss Donna Ransom while Janice Hall and Mary Zug will be the Senior Class May Court Representatives.

Linda, a native of Elizabethtown, stands 5'5" tall with brown hair and eyes and is enrolled in the liberal arts course with a major in English.

Linda's avid interest and excellent ability in sports is well known to all. She has played varsity hockey and tennis since her freshman year, always concluding the seasons with berths on all-star teams and in tournaments. She has been a member of the Varsity Club for four years.

Because of her interest in the field of journalism, Linda was chosen as editor of the "E-townian." Her scholarship is shown by the appearance of her name on the dean's list several semesters while at Elizabethtown. She is a member of Sigma Lambda Sigma, an honorary scholastic society for girls. She also belongs to the SPSEA.

Miss Donna Ransom, a petite senior from Shillington, has been elected as maid of honor to the queen. Standing 5'2" tall, Donna has brown hair and eyes. She is enrolled in the liberal arts course with a major in sociology.

Donna was also a member of the Homecoming Court this year. Her campus activities include the Committee of Women's Affairs, chorus, and a job in the library. She played hockey for two years. Her special interests are swimming and dancing.

Misses Janice Hall and Mary Zug will be the senior attendants to the queen. Janice, a business education major from Hopewell, has brown hair and blue eyes. She was also an attendant in the court in her sophomore year. Janice is a member of the SPSEA, the Eastern Business Teachers Association, and the Brethren Student Christian Association.

Mary Zug, an elementary education major from Lebanon, has been an attendant on the court in both her freshman and junior years. A brunette with brown eyes, she stands 5'6" tall.

Monday, February 25, members of the Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior classes selected their representatives for this year's May Court.

The juniors selected Esther Strehle and Diane Miller. Judith Hart and Lynn Benham will represent the Sophomores, and the Freshmen Class chose Susan Evoy and Sondra Eisenbise.

African Specialist Scheduled Here Soon

The Hon. R. S. Garfield Todd, Specialist in African Affairs and former Prime Minister of Southern Rhodesia, will be on the campus as a visiting Danforth Lecturer, March 25 to 27.

Appearing under the sponsorship of the College's Lyceum Committee and in association with the Teachers for West Africa Program, Todd will present a public lecture on Monday, informal lectures to classes and student groups on Tuesday, and an assembly address to the student body on Wednesday.

His schedule while here is being coordinated by Prof. Bruce Lehr, assistant professor of language.

QUEENS COURT: Nine happy co-eds pose after being chosen to the 1963 May Court in recent elections. May Queen Linda Eshelman will reign over May Day festivities with her court. Left to right the representatives are: Sondra Eisenbise, Judith Hart, Lynn Benham, Esther Strehle, Mary Zug, Maid of Honor Donna Ransom, Janice Hall, Diane Miller, and Susan Evoy.

Sounding Board

What's Best At E-town

EDITOR'S NOTE: For this edition of the ETOWNIAN, the Sounding Board asked several students what they thought to be Elizabethtown College's most appealing aspect.

JANICE FOOTE, Freshman: I like the fact that it is a small campus and you can be an individual as well as a part of the group.

RALPH ENGLE, Sophomore: Being a small college. This enables the student body to maintain close contact with each other and many friendships and lasting relationships can develop. The relationship between the faculty and students is ideal—just enough distance to maintain respect, but a nearness because of the college size. One of the greatest problems is getting along with people, and I feel E-town's environment helps prepare us for this job very well.

MOLLY MOERSCHBACHER, Senior: Well, I think in its growth, not in the number of students or size of enrollment, but rather in the growth of participation in sports and social events, I can see our most appealing asset. There seems to be more school spirit and a little more tendency to get in there and help with college events.

JOAN DELP, Sophomore: I think it's the friendliness which is a most evident attribute. I have noticed that since my first day here as a Freshman and I feel that it is still present. I hope that it will remain a characteristic of this college in the years to come.

RICHARD WRIGHT, Junior: I really don't think there is one particular feature that would draw students to this college. There are various factors some of which are: it is a small Liberal Arts College; it has a small, but beautiful campus; and the athletic teams are above average. Socially, it could stand some improvement, however.

LARRY KOZUBAL, Junior: I suppose you could say that the most appealing aspect of this college is the closeness of the relationships formed both with student and teacher. A small college life this one gives a better opportunity for individuals to have closer, more lasting friendships.

NANCY KAUFFMAN, Senior: The fact that it is a small Liberal Arts College, you can go into varied subjects and get a broad education. For instance, where else could anyone be an English major and a Secretarial Science student at the same time! There is an informal atmosphere here also. It's not Ivy League collegiate, but in its own way it is in a different way.

PHIL BENDER, Junior: The first thing that appealed to me was looks of the campus. Of course the kids are sincerely friendly. I am in no position to judge the standards of Elizabethtown in comparison with other colleges, but I think the academic standards are rather high.

ANNE SHARPE, Junior: After much deliberated thought, I guess I would have to admit that the friendly atmosphere and nature's adorning beauty certainly are prevalent on our campus. I only hope that E-town's extensive building program does not extend to the dell which adds to such beauty.

Pres. McAuley Speaks

On Investment Counseling

One of the exciting things a college president is called upon to do is to aid in the fund raising efforts made essential by the differential between what a student pays for his education and what it costs to educate a student. Thus one can understand how it has become popular to joke about the college president being a "professional mendicant," or "an educated bum," or etc. ad nauseum.

On one occasion I entered an office, indicated who I was and announced my purpose of seeking funds for the College. In a half joking, half cynical reaction the company official to whom I was speaking interrupted with, "O, you're out begging!"

A college president need never beg! A beggar is one who seeks support and offers nothing in return. A college president offers the various constituencies opportunities to invest and to share in the molding of young minds, the development of pliable character, the maturing of attitudes and values. The returns on such investments are certainly at least as great as can be expected in any other enterprise.

In this role as college president, I am not a beggar; I am an investment counselor.

From The

Secretary's Angle

By C. G. ENTERLINE, Alumni Secretary
BUDDING ALUMNI

To steal a line, "Spring is bustin' out all over" with college freshmen for September, 1963. This is true for Elizabethtown College and for other colleges too.

Somewhere along the line, someone will be responsible for attending the budding process. This budding process on the part of incoming students extends through the stages of pre-admission, admission, post-admission, and graduation.

Our concern here relates to the image we create in the early contacts with prospective students. It is too late to expect college graduation exercises to develop students miraculously into mature alumni.

One of the early contacts with prospective students is the admissions officer or a representative of the college at College Night with his brief case, containing an assortment of pamphlets, brochures, and visual aids. Student attitudes and images are quickly formed during these preliminary meetings.

Among the forces of influence, are the college ambassador's ability to communicate effectively with students; reporting to interviewing centers on schedule; ability to answer questions intelligently; evidence of up-to-date-ness of college plans, curricula, and student activity programs.

This is a big order and perhaps this suggests that, if alumni offer their services to represent colleges for admission purposes, they be trained and informed carefully for this specific purpose.

In addition to the representative's influence on the budding process, is that of the literature he carries. The format of the college catalogs, the color of the brochures, the size of the pamphlets, as well as the number and kinds of giveaways.

In the background, too is the influence of successful alumni with whom they have neighbored or associated. In the case of Elizabethtown College, approximately 4500 alumni stand as living witnesses of an academic adventure and achievement.

These "witnesses" continue their role throughout the admission and post-admission stages. They help to confirm the new student's decision and judgment about coming to Elizabethtown.

It is most satisfying to a student to discover that every sector or phase of activity confirms his decision. For him, there is a relative consistency of strength in all areas.

Reinforces are the friendliness and understanding of the faculty; the satisfying experiences during orientation week; the encouraging messages from alumni chapters from which they came; the guide lines of The Rudder, the student's handbook; and the appropriate identification of buildings, rooms facilities.

The budding process moves into fuller bloom in the longer four-year stretch with graduation as a goal. The General Alumni Association aims to

We get LETTERS

(Ed. Note—The following letter was received by and carried in the Campus edition of the ETOWNIAN. It is printed here in the interest of Alumni.)

Editor Etownian:

I would like to take issue with the first item in your unsigned column of Off The Beaten Track in the February 8 edition of the Etownian. Since your name was not signed to the column I could not contact you personally and so must utilize this letter.

I wonder if you ever played basketball in the Alumni Auditorium, or witnessed a play or sporting event there; I wonder if you ever walked into the library and used those facilities; I wonder if you ever had the opportunity to hear an excellent lecture or use the laboratories in the Gibbs Science Building. If you did, you were using some of the tangible assets on this campus provided by alumni.

Perhaps you didn't realize it, but you aren't paying your way here at Elizabethtown College—

if you were, the cost would be prohibitive. Your tuition expenditures do not provide anything to build new buildings and yet you are helping wear out the existing ones. What I am suggesting is that if it weren't for the many faithful alumni who have contributed to past alumni funds, you wouldn't be enjoying your college days as much as you are.

Not all alumni give spontaneously, they have to be reminded; when the college does solicit from our mid-winter graduates at the appropriate time, I am certain some of them will reward their Alma Mater. At the present time, they have not received a single letter, let alone three as you suggest, asking for contributions.

Sincerely,
Edgar T. Bitting,

Alumni

Director Seeks Especially For Alumni ... Student Needs For 63 Summer

By SHARON LANNING

"If the students want a course, we will endeavor to find a faculty for it." Dr. Stambaugh, explaining how the courses are chosen for the Summer Sessions, added that there are approximately 100 applications for Summer Sessions now, as well as a number of inquiries.

Dr. Stambaugh stressed that there will be two special workshops under the direction of the psychology department. In session one (from June 17 to July 19), there will be a "general college orientation" course which will probably cover note-taking and taking college exams.

The second session (July 22 to August 23) will have a "diagnostic reading" course on reading comprehension. "It is not a speed-reading course," said Dr. Stambaugh.

According to Dr. Stambaugh, Summer Sessions classes are held six days a week and last the usual fifty minutes. Summer Session credits are limited to a maximum of twelve for ten weeks.

Students come to Summer Sessions for varied reasons: to improve grade averages to make up courses, to lighten their winter loads, and to finish college in three years. Also, Summer Sessions are an inexpensive way of checking their college potential.

There is also a Summer Sessions group of unsuccessful high-school students who, if they take the maximum twelve credits and get a C average, are eligible as freshmen here. Dr. Stambaugh added, "A very encouraging number of these have been able to come to college." He added, "We hope to graduate a large number of them."

Most of the Summer Sessions teachers are from the college's resident faculty. Faculty from outside will probably be helping in the workshops.

Three Students Serve As Pages

Three students are currently serving as pages in the Pennsylvania House of Representatives in Harrisburg.

The three—Thomas Bradley, Lawn; Roger Cabbage, Washington, D. C.; and Scott Swank, Mountville—were sworn in January 21 and have been working at the capitol three or four days per week since then.

Under the general sponsorship of Representative Edwin D. Eshleman R-(Lancaster), the trio was selected from the college by Prof. Clyde K. Nelson, head of the department of history. They are among 20 pages in the House this year.

Bradley and Swank are juniors majoring in history and political science. Cabbage is a pre-law major and already has been admitted to Dickinson Law School, Carlisle.

Among the pages' responsibilities while on duty in the House are the running of general errands for congressmen and the delivering of bills, committee reports, and messages.

"It's not only a job, but an education; and we get to make some valuable contacts," Bradley said.

Alumni Day - June 1

Can we do it?
Who is the "we"?
"WE" are the alumni of Elizabethtown College.
What are WE to do?

We are to help this private, church-related, liberal arts college with financial support.

Why are you reminding me of this now?

Because the college is about to formally launch its Fifth Annual Giving Campaign with the alumni.

What do you mean, formally?

This campaign really began on September 1, 1962. Since that time many alumni have given without being solicited in a formal, concentrated campaign.

Bitting

This is excellent and shows the growth of understanding by the alumni of their alma mater's needs. Isn't this enough?

No. Most people are lethargic and have to be reminded and prodded a bit. This is just human nature.

Well, how much does the college want?

It isn't a question of what the college wants, it is what it needs to grow and maintain the high standards found in other private, liberal arts colleges. There are many places where the funds could be used, such as books for the library, teaching equipment and campus renovations.

How much was given by alumni in the past?

Some statistics are presented below, but first you must know that the dollars of alumni giving shown are from alumni who have no relation to the college as trustees or businessmen. The amounts from such alumni are shown under other categories, which if included would certainly improve our alumni statistics. Nevertheless, here are the results of the first four annual giving campaigns:

Year	Alumni Giving	Number of Contributing Alumni (approx.)	Total Number of Alumni (approx.)	Degree of Alumni Participation
1. 1958-59	$ 8,233	585	4,000	14.6%
2. 1959-60	$12,814	450	4,150	10.8%
3. 1960-61	$ 8,352	525	4,300	12.2%
4. 1961-62	$17,634	580	4,500	12.9%

Music Department Needs Instruments

The Music Department is in need of additional band and orchestral instruments, music, and books on musical subjects.

Friends of the College who donate an instrument will receive an acknowledgement with tax deductible evaluation of the gift. Books will be appraised and acknowledged if the value is estimated at more than $5.00.

The College is also interested in purchasing instruments in good condition from individuals. Most urgently needed: 4 clarinets, 2 saxophones, 2 snare drums, 4 cornets or trumpets, and violins, violas, or cellos.

Anyone wishing to donate or sell items should write to the College c/o Prof. David P. Wiloughby (regarding instruments) or Dr. Carl N. Shull (regarding books or music).

This alumni giving doesn't appear to be very large.

I must agree that it has been limited, but it has been an important contribution. Over the years alumni giving has completely constructed the Student-Alumni Memorial Gymnasium-Auditorium. This auditorium has been preserved in the recent renovation and bears a plaque to remind us of our alumni memorial. The alumni gifts have been used to help finance all new construction—not in total, but the assistance has been most helpful. There is at present a fund which has grown through investments to $40,006 as of January 31, 1963. This fund is to be used for construction of a field house—a building which is currently under discussion and coming closer and closer to reality.

I notice that even though the alumni contributions have shown an increase, the number of alumni who contributed has not grown commensurately.

This is true and is the area where we alumni have room for the greatest improvement. I feel that a gift, no matter how small—five dollars or ten dollars—will give the donor a sense of belonging to and helping perpetuate a college which stands for high ideals. It means the continuance of such an institution at a time when the state is making inroads into higher education. It seems to me that once the state moves in, politics and not the quality of education will often dictate decisions. I am certain we alumni don't want to see this happen.

The average gift in the Fourth Annual Giving Campaign in 1961-1962 was approximately $30. What would you like to see this year?

As president of the alumni association I would like to see the average gift drop to $25. But that would be a decrease in giving.

Let me finish—with the degree of participation advancing to above 20% from the present 12.9%. This would mean 1,000 alumni giving $25 or a total of $25,000. I hope you will do your part when asked.

Also a pre-medical student, Guthrie is a member of the present Student Senate and a member of the Constitutional, Academic, and Lyceum Committees. He is a member of the Science Club and served on several committees.

Miss Guinter is a junior elementary education major; Neibert, also a junior, is majoring in accounting.

Worden is a junior from Claymont, Delaware. He is a liberal arts student majoring in English. Holle, another junior, is from Upper Saddle River, New Jersey. He is majoring in business administration. Miller is a junior liberal arts major from Newark, Delaware.

The election for members of the Student Senate was scheduled for March 20. Members of the Committees on Men's and Women's Affairs will be chosen on March 25.

WWEC—On The Air Programs Slated

WWEC turned into reality when at 7:30 p.m. February 27, it officially began broadcasting. WWEC creates a new channel of communication that is fast proving to be a greatly appreciated asset to the college community.

An extensive amount of planning, hard work, and determination has gone into the creating of WWEC.

David Martin stated that the executive committee is planning to gather quite an extensive li-

Chancel Players To Travel Again

"Between Two Thieves," a religious drama by Warner LeRoy, will be presented by the Chancel Players of Elizabethtown College in several churches during the second semester.

The group is scheduled first at the Drexel Hill Baptist Church on March 27.

The play tells the story of a retrieval of Christ in modern times. Many of the Biblical characters are involved but in a modern day setting.

Mrs. C. G. Enterline, associate professor of English and dramatics instructor at the College, is director of the play.

Ronald Mummert, York; David Ferrell, Camp Hill; Stanley Delp, Lansdale; Betty Wenger, Denver (all junior students).

Linda Logan, Bridgewater, Va.; Lisa Emery, Atlantic Highland, N. J.; Herbert Smith, Lebanon; Nancy Johnson, Rheems (all sophomore students).

Martha Wright, Harrington Park, N. J.; and James Kipp, Newport (both freshmen).

assist this development by introducing itself to the freshman and sophomore classes, by means of a carefully prepared brochure, in the fall of 1963 and spring of 1964.

More and more, alumni chapters are inviting students and their parents to their regional meetings. The York Chapter and the newly organized South Jersey Chapter recently did this.

The faculty and the administration contribute to the development also. Recently a professor was asked to speak to a chapter and his reply was, "I feel that I have done too little for our alumni; I'll be happy to consider it."

Then, too, the Alumni Council invites the president of the senior class into one of its sessions to acquaint him with alumni processes.

Thus, the number of approaches to help a college freshman pass from bud to flower are many. The approaches involve people, things, effort, and time. A real task exists in integrating the forces which play on the budding process.

Our task—help to grow an alumnus!

WWEC cuts through the sound waves cross campus with a varied program. Music, news of national and school interest, on the spot reporting of sports events, and tapes of special events such as campus concerts, lectures of speakers, and science tapes will be broadcast. The WWEC Weather Broadcast has drawn unusual interest!

The schedule throughout the week will be uniform with E. C. weekend scheduled for Saturday and Sunday.

Radio Station Given Records

WWEC, the student radio station, has been given 36, 16-inch long playing records, according to Mark Miller, station manager.

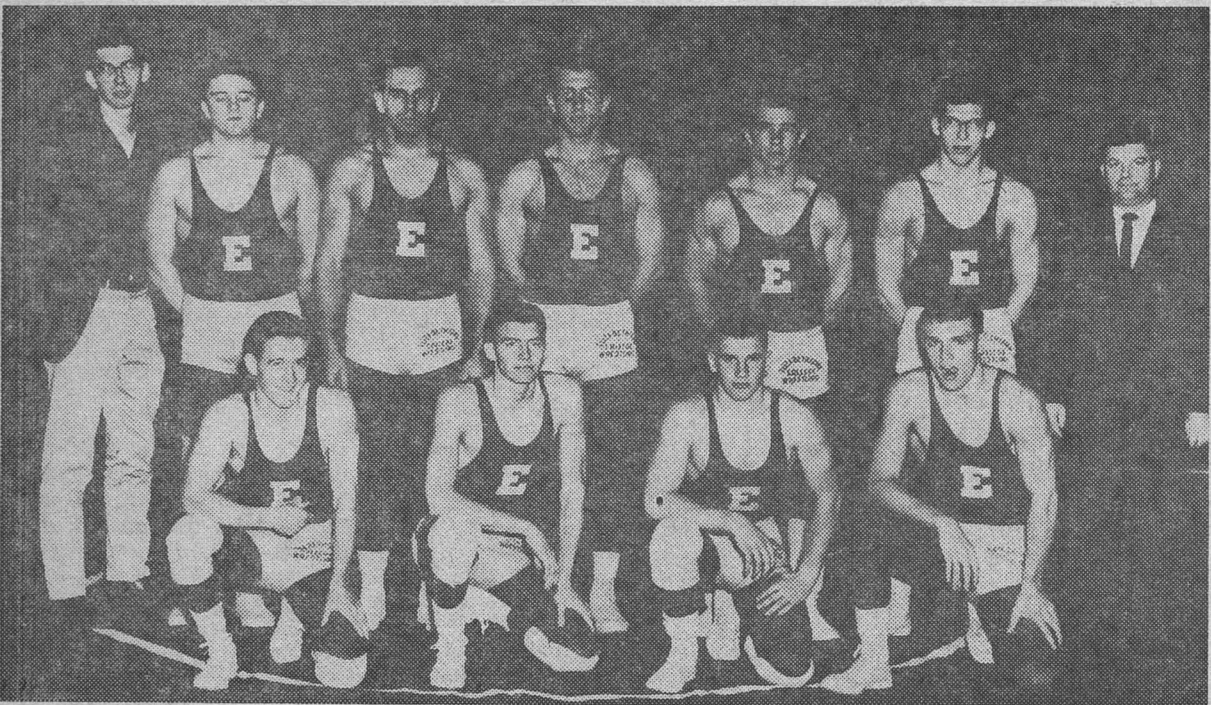

Contributed by Prof. Edgar T. Bitting, head of the Business Department, the records were produced by the War and Navy Departments for the Armed Forces Radio Service. They were used on the Navy's USS Orvetta.

Numerous well-known performers are featured on the records.

Matmen Come Back Fast For .500 Finish

By ED SIEBER

Elizabethtown College placed a respectable 12th in the 20 team Middle Atlantic Conference wrestling tournament March 1 and 2. The meet was held at Hofstra College, Hempstead.

The Jays most consistent grappler throughout the season, Jerry Greiner, again was Coach Baum's top performer. The E-town ace went as far as the semi-final round before he tasted defeat to a Lycoming grappler.

A week previous to this, the Jays concluded their most successful season in the school's history. A decisive 26-6 victory over Albright, at Reading, gave the Baummen a final slate of 6-6. This was the first non-losing season in the nine year existence of the sport at Elizabethtown.

Four pins in the Albright meet were largely responsible for the lop-sided score. Greiner, Jeff Bensing, Ed Hazel, and Dick Shelley all put their men down for the "count". Bob Yunninger and "Jake" Lehman were the other winners. For Lehman, it marked his final collegiate conference match.

The victory over the Lions capped an outstanding comeback for the Jays which saw them win six of their last eight matches. Greiner's top record was 11-1 in the conference with Jerry Jackson at 9-2 in second place.

Course Offered On Water Safety

By ED WORDEN

A water-safety course, under the official sanction of the American Red Cross, is being given in the new BSC pool. Thirty-two students are currently enrolled.

The total course requires 20 hours (10 weeks). Each week the students have a lecture on their textbook, which was written by the Red Cross. This is followed by a demonstration and land drill, after which students practice the new techniques in water. Four written tests and a final exam will be given.

Taking the course are professors, high school teachers, and college students. Although granting the Senior Lifesaving badge upon completion, the program also concentrates on new methods of boating and swimming safety.

"The number of capsized-boat accidents over the summer is alarming," said Richard Wolf, an instructor. "We hope that our students will be able to take care of themselves and others in an emergency of this kind."

Wolf, head track coach at EAHS, and Dean Steinhart, basketball coach for HS jayvees, are water-safety instructors in the Lancaster Chapter of the American Red Cross. They have volunteered to teach the course.

No credit is given, and the course is free. Requirements are identical to those in the regular Senior Lifesaving program.

Dean's List Student

Judith A. Bollinger, Sophomore, was omitted from the Dean's List for the first semester published in the Feb. 8 edition of the Etownian. Miss Bollinger is to be included on this list of academic achievement.

Bechtold Top Team Scorer

Jays End Season With A 15-5 Log

By TOM FARROW

The Elizabethtown College basketball team ended one of its most successful campaigns March 2 with a 92-72 victory over the Lycoming Indians at the E-town high school gymnasium.

Jaygals Finish Winning Season With 8-3 Slate

The Jaygals ended a successful season with an easy 62-18 win over Lebanon Valley at home March 7. The victory raised the courtsters' final log to 8-3 for the season.

Once again, Anne Sharpe led the gals with 27 counters while Sue Wood and Carolyn Moyer contributed 14 and 12 respectively.

Co-captains Anne Sharpe and Sue Wood played their final games for the Jaygals. Miss Sharpe ran her 11-game scoring total to 268 points which gives her a 24.4 game average.

Lock Haven handed the Jaygals their third loss with a 65-49 score on March 5. The attack by Lock Haven out-piced the Blue team and dominated the scoring in every quarter.

Anne Sharpe was high for E-town with 26 tallies. Sue Wood with 11 and Carolyn Moyer with nine contributed to the Jaygal cause.

The J. V. Squad dropped their contest, 34-6.

February 28 the team brought home its seventh victory by downing Millersville 48-30. They led from the opening seconds and at the end of the first quarter posted a score of 17-3. Anne Sharpe's 22 counters were supplemented by Carolyn Moyer's 12 and Sue Wood's 10.

Varsity guards were Karen Jo Young, Dorothy Hess, Marilyn Fox, and Susanne Markey.

Spring Sports Season Opens On March 30

Elizabethtown College will open its spring sports season March 30 with the baseball and women's tennis teams both scheduled at Bridgewater (Va.) College.

The men's tennis team is slated to open at Washington College on April 3.

Three doubleheaders are listed on the baseball schedule beginning with the opener at Bridge-water. Other twinbill dates on the 20-game log include Dickinson at Carlisle on April 20 and Juniata at Huntingdon on May 7.

Coach Owen Wright has had his baseball squad working out for about two weeks. About 28 players, including nine letter-men, have reported.

Miss Allegra Hess, women's tennis coach, began drills for the Jaygals' eight-match session on March 13. The men's tennis team began work-outs under Coach Don Smith about the same time. They will play 13 opponents this year.

Last year the three teams combined for a cumulative record of 19 wins and 18 losses. Individually the baseball squad posted the best record-13-5. The women's tennis team compiled a 5-2 log; the men's team was 1-11.

Bill Bechtold led the Blue and Grey with 30 points and 59% shooting from the floor. After missing his first four shots Bechtold then ran off a string of seven streight and only missed on five others throughout the remainder of the game.

The 30 counters gave Bechtold a total of 329 points for the season and high scoring honors.

Dan Reitmeyer turned in another fine performance as he hit for 16 points and a season's total of 314 to place second in team scoring.

Reitmeyer also led Coach Smith's charges with a twenty-rebound afternoon and game honors in that department. Reitmeyer also took season's honors in rebounding as he amassed 301 for a 15.1 a game average.

Larry Evans and Capt. John Neely split 26 points in a tie for third place scoring. Evans also hit the 300 point mark for the season with exactly that number and a total rebounding mark of 257.

Jim Schlichter aided the attack with 9 points, and John Graham, playing his last game in a Blue Jay uniform, collected five pointers.

The win gave the Jays their fifteenth of the season as compared to 5 reversals.

The trip to Susquehanna University added insult to injury as far as the Jays were concerned as S.U. turned back the Smithmen 74-28.

Bill Bechtold displayed his talent for being able to score no matter how tall the opposition with a 17 point performance and the only highlight of the evening for any Jay fan.

E-town's hope for its most successful season was dashed Saturday evening, February 23, by an upset-minded Juniata quintet.

The game was close the entire way, but Juniata had enough left to come out on top 68-67, to hand a literally stunned Blue Jay five their fourth loss of the campaign.

Once again Bechtold led the scoring brigade with 19 points, followed by Reitmeyer's 17, Evans' 15 and Schlichter's 10.

The Jays must now wait until next year to gain the acclaim that was so nearly theirs in 1963. Only time will tell.

Book Collection Contest Winner Is Scott Swank

Scott Swank, a junior from Mountville, has won the student book collection contest at Elizabethtown College.

His entry of more than 180 books in the humanities was judged the best of eleven entries submitted to local contest judges.

A history major, Swank will receive a cash award of $25.00. In addition to his campus responsibilities, he serves as a page in the Pennsylvania House of Representatives, Harrisburg. He was recently named to the Dean's List of Honor for the first semester at Elizabethtown College.

Sandra Farver, Elizabethtown, was runnerup in the campus contest and, because she is a senior, will represent the College in the National contest for student book collectors. She is a sociology major.

Walter Judd To Speak At June Commencement

Dr. Walter H. Judd, congressman from Minnesota for 20 years, and former medical missionary in China, will deliver the Commencement address at the College's graduation exercises, June 2.

Approximately 120 seniors will be graduated during the ceremonies to be held in the Elizabethtown Area High School Auditorium beginning at 3 p.m. The Baccalaureate and Commencement services will be combined as last year.

Dr. M. R. Zeigler, former European representative of the Church of the Brethren and internationally known leader in Church World Service, will receive an honorary degree.

Pres. Roy E. McAuley will confer the degrees upon the graduates who will be presented for graduation by Dr. Jacob E. Hershman, dean of instruction.

Dr. Judd, a native of Nebraska, served in the House of Representatives from 1942 until 1962 as Representative of the Fifth Minnesota District.

Dr. Walter H. Judd

His mission work took him to South China from 1925 to 1931 and to North China from 1934 to 1938.

He delivered the keynote address at the Republican National Convention in Chicago in 1960.

Trustees To Hold Special Meeting For 10-Year Study

A special meeting to review a ten year projection of Elizabethtown College will be held by the Board of Trustees, April 27.

The group will meet in the Baugher Student Center, on the campus, at 9 a.m.

Dr. Joseph W. Kettering, chairman of the Board of Trustees, announced that the Board is particularly interested in forward-looking plans for the next decade as they apply to the student body, faculty, alumni, physical facilities, and finances.

Reports of the Ten Year Projection Committee will be reviewed along with reports by the College's chief administrators.

Dr. I. Wayne Keller is chairman of the Ten Year Study Committee on Finance; Dr. Galen C. Kilhefner is chairman of the Ten Year Study Committee on Academic Affairs; and Dr. H. E. Raffensperger is chairman of the Development Advisory Committee.

May Day Committees Pick Carnival Theme

By LAVON MANNING

The May Day committees have been hard at work planning the festivities for May 11, 1963, the seventeenth annual May Day. The committees have chosen a carnival theme and propose to carry the idea throughout the day.

Clowns, balloons, carousel music, and gypsies will be on hand to add color and provide entertainment for the queen and her court. Little children and gay dancing will also help to set the carnival mood for the day.

Nancy Karlheim and Dennis Hartenstine are co-chairmen for the affair and are working with seven committees.

The organization committee is composed of LaVon Manning, Janet Esbenshade, Marilyn Meagher and Sharon Sullivan. Misses Manning and Esbenshade will direct the May Pole dance.

Sue Wood, Anne Fleming, and Doris Weir are on the court committee to assist the queen and court throughout the day.

On the costume and make-up committee are Margie Hollinger, Barbara Trout, Linda Logan, Sue Wood, and Anne Fleming.

The college band, directed by Prof. David P. Willoughby, will provide appropriate music for the occasion, assisted by Nancy Winger and Donald Fitz on the music committee.

Debbie Jones and Clyde Creider make up the dance committee; Bob Bailey is the sole member of the sound committee.

The participants for the May Pole Dance have been chosen from the freshmen class and are as follows: Barbara Burg, Sue Bantley, Kathy Domenech, Eugenie Kinneman, Janet Kizenberger, JoAnn Panfile, Linda Shover, Barbara Trout, Martha Wright, Marie Pollock, Kitty Shields, and Martha Bonner.

Cast Selected For May Play 'Spring Dance'

"Spring Dance," a three-act comedy by the great American playwright, Philip Barry, is the play chosen to be presented this year on May Day evening. The performance is to be given in the round in the Alumni Auditorium.

The story centers around a small girls' school near Yale and Harvard and concerns the problems the college students meet as they make dates for the coming dance.

Students taking part in the presentation include: Margie Hollinger, Larry Sauder, Bonnie Hancher, Mary Davis, Sue Deitrich, Doris Weir, Don Fitz, Neil Cunningham, Ron Mumert, Dave Ferrell, Phil Buithis, Eleanor Hall, and Nancy Kauffman.

Pres. McAuley noted that the pressure of inflation and additional needs for various academic departments are still present, but that the fees for students can remain constant because of added support received by the College through its fund-raising program.

In making the announcement, Pres. McAuley stresses the fact that Elizabethtown College, through careful planning and by making full use of facilities, is able to offer students a quality education at a cost below costs of comparable liberal arts colleges.

It is to be added, however, that in light of the continuing price spiral across the country, Elizabethtown College cannot guarantee that the charges will remain constant beyond the 1963-64 academic year.

Alumni Day Approaching

C. G. Enterline, executive of the Alumni Association, and Prof. Edgar T. Bitting, association president, announced that they are "pulling out all stops" in order to make Alumni Day, June 1, 1963, the best ever.

In addition to the attraction and facilities of the new A. C. Baugher Student Center, the day will feature class reunions, exhibits, a luncheon honoring Prof. and Mrs. E. G. Meyer, and a dinner with an old friend, Dr. Albert L. Gray, as guest speaker.

Administrators, Profs Promoted

Six faculty promotions and three administrative promotions were announced at Elizabethtown College recently by Dr. Roy E. McAuley, president.

Alumnus To Speak Before Honor Group

An Alumnus now on the staff of the International Studies Division of the Institute for Defense Analysts in Washington will speak before ABRAXAS, the Men's Honor Society of the College, May 18.

Dr. Ernest W. Lefever, who is also a part-time professor in international politics at American University, will discuss the subject, "The Relevance of the Impossible Ideal."

The meeting, which is open to the public, will begin at 8 p.m. in the Brinker Lecture Room of the Gible Science Building.

The Institute for Defense Analysts is an independent research agency which prepares studies for the U.S. Government. Besides his responsibilities with the Institute and American University, Dr. Lefever is a consultant to the Council on Religion and International Affairs, and he lectures regularly at the Foreign Service Institute.

Spring Concert Scheduled Here

Students in the concert band, women's chorus, and concert choir will present the annual Spring Concert in the Alumni Auditorium of the Baugher Student Center on April 27 at 8 p.m.

David P. Willoughby, assistant professor of music, is director of the three groups.

Though each group will perform individually the concert choir will present several numbers with instrumental accompaniment including two with the concert band.

No admission will be charged.

Faculty promotions include Elmer B. Hoover, head of the Education Department, who was promoted from associate professor to professor; Dr. David I. Lasky, head of the Psychology Department, from assistant professor to associate professor; and four promoted from instructor to assistant professor.

In that group are Donald P. Smith and Owen L. Wright of the Physical Education Department; Glen W. Snowden, Bible and Philosophy Department; and Joel D. West, Psychology Department.

An administrative promotion was given to Dr. Carl M. Zeigler, associate professor of Bible and philosophy, who will become acting head of that department during the absence of Dr. Robert A. Byerly, who will spend the year in Germany as director of the Brethren College Abroad Program.

Administrators given promotions in rank include Edward L. Crill, dean of students; and D. Paul Greene, director of admissions. Both were promoted from assistant professor to associate professor.

All promotions will take effect in September.

Hoover, also director of teacher training, joined the faculty in 1947. He holds degrees from Juniata College (B. S., 1937) and the Pennsylvania State University (M.Ed., 1939).

Laskey joined the staff in 1960. He received degrees from Temple University (A.B., 1956—A.M., 1958).

Smith has been teaching and coaching here since 1954. He received a bachelors degree from the University of Mississippi in 1950.

Wright joined the faculty in 1961. He holds degrees from Bridgewater College (B.A., 1958) and the University of Illinois (M.S., 1961).

Snowden also joined the staff in 1961. He has degrees from Franklin and Marshall College (B.A., 1954) and Yale University (B.D., 1958).

Christian College Day Observed Soon

Joining with Protestant churches and church colleges throughout the country, Elizabethtown College will observe National Christian College Day on Sunday, April 28.

About 450 of the United States' 2,000 institutions of higher learning are supported by Protestant denominations whose total membership in about 150,000 congregations exceeds 50,000,000 persons.

All of the nation's 50 states except Nevada, New Mexico, and Wyoming have at least one church-related college or university.

The Church of the Brethren, which founded and supports Elizabethtown College, is affiliated with a biblical seminary and five other liberal arts colleges across the nation.

Sounding Board

Chapel — Good or Bad?

EDITOR'S NOTE: For this issue of the Etownian the Sounding Board asked various students their opinion of the chapel programs this year and where improvement is needed.

ROGER CUBBAGE, Senior: They've been o.k., but I can't say that I've received a lot of inspiration from them.

CAROLYN CAROTHERS, Sophomore: The speakers are definitely not interesting enough to hold the students' attention. Some of them have been good, but I think there should be some that would talk on subjects that definitely touch youth.

BILL McKUEHN, Freshman: I think there is a definite need for improvement, but how it should be brought about is above me to say. Most students, myself included, use this time to catch up on last night's homework or sleep—not too many seem to be inspired to greater heights. Whether it's the choice or the quality of speakers is not for me to say, but there have only been a couple that have held my attention at all. Why not get away from those Bible-spouting preachers and get someone who says something different from what we hear on Sunday mornings?

MARTHA BONNER, Freshman: I feel on the whole that the speakers have been good; on the other hand, the woman who spoke one week was simply out of it. The chapel service itself is very beneficial and the little bit of religion we get doesn't hurt anybody.

CLARK RENNINGER, Junior: They could improve by having better speakers and unlimited cuts.

LARRY EVANS, Sophomore: I really don't think there is anything wrong with the chapel programs. Stay consistent with the outside speakers and the professors from campus, and I can't see any need for improvement.

FISKE MARTIN, Senior: Two improvements that I would suggest—One: make chapel attendance voluntary and two: get Oliver Greene to be a speaker on a regular basis.

JUDITH ULLERY, Sophomore: In my opinion the chapels serve the purpose of disrupting the week's studies, but as far as being an inspiration or something to look forward to—well, they're just not. A variety of speakers is necessary, not the same preaching every week. We need some dynamic people who offer challenges to the student in student's terms—not sugar-coated words that mean little to our generation.

FRANK ZIMMERMAN, Junior: I don't think that chapel itself is good, because religion, no matter how much, is not something that should be forced or mandatory—especially on the college level. We should be able to decide for ourselves at our age.

JIM STANLEY, Freshman: The speakers should be improved upon—they have a tendency to cause many students to use that time to sleep. The length should be pre-determined and shouldn't fluctuate as it does now.

From The Secretary's Angle

By C. G. ENTERLINE, Alumni Secretary COMMUNICATION DID IT

As I entered the gymnasium in the student center by the north door last week, I saw a brass plaque on eye-level with the inscription, "Student-Alumni Auditorium-Gymnasium. This sign, measuring approximately 8 x 18 inches, is the answer to a concern which was expressed by alumni in 1961.

Reference to the Alumni Association minutes of October, 1961, reveals a motion that the word "alumni" appear somewhere in the naming of this Student Center. This motion carried with it the suggestion that Norman Reber, then president of the Association, communicate this sentiment and wish to the college president. This plaque is evidence of communication and a suggestion carried to completion.

Change in any situation brings with it adjustments of some kind. In the construction of the Student Center, alumni could rightly inquire, "What's going to happen to the old gym; don't we have a stake in it?" The motion referred to above expressed this concern.

Now, the Student Center is completed; the retention of the name "alumni" indicates that the college board considered the recommendation and followed through.

The Baugher Student Center brings together the new and the old in a very unique way. In a sense, the new and the old buildings, which have been made into a meaningful whole, are a symbol of growth in educational and recreational facilities at Elizabethtown College.

Traces of growth are woven into the intricate layers of brick, the pillars, and the junction of the former and the present. In this, the present is identified in the past in time, effort, and people. Earlier minutes of the Alumni Association attest to the thinking which preceded the construction of the original building.

This plaque also indicates in a practical way that ideas of the Alumni Association can be communicated to the college administration and the college board of trustees. "The voice of the people is heard."

Of course, there are many voices and many publics. Among these are the student body, the alumni, friends, college administration, the board of trustees, and indirectly, the town. Each group has its own perspective and interpretation of college needs, timing, and sequence of construction of buildings.

These many publics must be heard. Some will say that the college is moving too fast in a given direction or too slowly; others might suggest that the college is moving in the wrong direction or in too many directions.

At any rate, two-way communications between parties concerned can bring about common understandings and develop teamwork in executing master plans of the college.

It is hoped that future buildings and educational plans can be so unified and integrated that they may express a harmonious whole and satisfied cultural and educational needs. The right kind of communications will help to bring this about.

Especially For Alumni...

By EDGART T. BITTING
President, Alumni Association
CONTINUING TO SERVE

Our sojourn at Elizabethtown College certainly gave us time to learn that the motto of the college is "Educate for Service." And it is nice to think that most alumni have rendered this service in some way or other after leaving "E-town."

Not only do we look for service by alumni to humanity, but we look for service by the alumni to their alma mater. It would be redundant to again remind you of the many ways you can render service to "E-town," instead may I remind you of a few of the ways the college continues to offer service to you. You are aware of a few of these; others are new and in the development stage.

The college provides you the opportunity to return to campus and renew old friendships. Several days are set aside on the college calendar to specifically urge you to return—Homecoming Day, Winter Alumni Day, May Day and the regular Alumni Day.

May I remind you again (how could you forget if you got this far in your Etownian reading) that May 11 is May Day and June 1 is Alumni Day.

It shouldn't take a special day to get you back on campus. As a professor I can truthfully say that one of the joys of teaching is to have former students return and tell of their work after leaving E-town.

The college library is available for your use during regular library hours. I believe you will find these hours printed elsewhere in this issue. There is a slight restriction which all alumni will understand and appreciate as you realize the student body now numbers nearly 900.

That restriction is that all books must be used in the library and cannot be placed out for circulation. If you do return to use the library you will be reminded of the pressing need for some expansion of the facilities—facilities that were constructed to serve five hundred not nine hundred.

The September 1963 edition of the Etownian will announce the dates and times when alumni will be able to use the swimming facilities in Baugher Student Union Building. The pool will be made available for use by alumni and their immediate families one Saturday a month during the 1963-64 school year.

Some other suggested alumni activities have been an alumni week during the summer when alumni and their families can live on campus and take part in a cultural and study seminar; a series of great books lectures and discussions; a series of lectures by outstanding E-town alumni.

My term as alumni association president is rapidly drawing to a close, but I know your new officers would like some direction to assist them in planning for increased alumni activities.

Why not assist them by voicing your thoughts on these projected activities and suggesting even better ones? The suggestion box is the nearest U. S. Post Office mail box.

Know Your Councilmen

Busy Magna Cum Laude Grad Graces Council Membership

Magna Cum Laude graduates are few in number, but the Elizabethtown College Alumni Association has one on its Alumni Council. She is Mrs. J. Wilbur Garman (Charlotte Mary Glasmire), a member of the Class of 1941.

Named to the Council in 1960, she will serve through 1965. She resides with her family at 1434 Hollywood Drive, Lancaster.

Presently the kindergarten supervisor of the Manheim Township Schools, she is also active in religious, civic, and social affairs.

Before attending Elizabethtown Mrs. Garman had studied music theory, harmony, and conducting at New York University. She immediately put this experience to good use by serving as accompanist in chapel and singing in the touring choir under Prof. E. G. Meyer.

An honor graduate in elementary education, she holds the last diploma signed by Dr. Ralph W. Schlosser as college president—"a fact I am very proud of."

A truly "all-around" student she didn't stop with studies and music. Sports, drama, and publications were also among her interests.

She was a member of the only undefeated women's basketball team in the College's history (they won 23 consecutive games); she was business manager of Sock and Buskin, the campus dramatics club; she was the College reporter to the Lancaster newspapers and the press representative at state newspaper conventions; she also served on the Y.M.C.A. Board.

In addition to her work at NYU and Elizabethtown, she did post graduate work at the University of New York and the Pennsylvania State University.

Now Mrs. Garman finds her responsibilities at home and at school supplemented with various professional responsibilities such as teaching in workshops and making speeches.

She is a member of the Pennsylvania Sabbath School Association and holds honorary lifetime teaching certificates in Christian leadership training courses. She has contributed a number of educational articles to professional journals.

As for her work on the Alumni Council, she considers it "a wonderful way to know what's really happening at our Alma Mater, and to discover where many of our old friends are."

Judging from her present activities and accomplishments Charlotte Glasmire Garman hasn't lost any of the enthusiasm she generated as a youthful coed at Elizabethtown College. "It's a busy, busy life," she said, "but a wonderful one."

Plan Luncheon At Conference

The Elizabethtown College Alumni Luncheon at the Annual Conference of the Church of the Brethren in Champaign, Illinois, will be held on June 29 in the Illini Room of the Illini Union, according to an announcement made by Conference officials.

Time of the luncheon will be 12 noon to 1:45 p.m.

The Conference will be held on the campus of the University of Illinois.

Persons in the Conference's food package plan will be admitted without charge. Others will be required to purchase a ticket at $1.50.

Tickets will be required and will be obtainable at registration or at the ticket window in Assembly Hall. It is suggested that reservations be made twenty-four hours before the time of the luncheon.

Included on the menu will be ham loaf, buttered lima beans, Mexican slaw, apple crisp, and beverage. It will be served buffet style.

Mrs. J. Wilbur Garman

Library Facilities Extended to Alumni

The alumni office received information recently that the library facilities are being made available to alumni during library hours. Because of the demand for books and services on the part of campus students, all books must be used in the library. No books are available for general circulation.

As the college grows larger and services expand, alumni find themselves submerged in different areas — from the pool to books. Possibly both areas have implications for "continuing alumni education."

Library Hours

Receive Subscription From New York Firm

Elizabethtown College will receive a subscription to the Standard & Poor's Industrial Surveys as a gift of Standard & Poor's Corporation, New York, Pres. McAuley announced recently.

The Surveys present statistics on American industry in the form of regularly compiled research information. Regular cost of an annual subscription is $192.00.

Prof. Edgar T. Bitting, head of the department of Business, noted that the information included in the Surveys is particularly well adapted for use as reading and reference material in connection with instruction in finance and economics.

Alumnus

He received the A.B. degree from Elizabethtown College in 1942 and holds two degrees, B.D. and Ph.D., from Yale University.

In his speech to the Men's Honor Society Dr. Lefever will relate Christian ethics to current United States foreign policy problems.

Armon C. Snowden, assistant professor of bible and philosophy, is faculty secretary of the society. Faculty advisors are Dr. Charles S. Apgar, head of the Biology Department, and Henry M. Libhart, assistant professor of English.

There are ten student members in the group. Scott Swank, a junior from Mountville, is president.

Suggestions

for Alumni Chapters

1. Requisition the use of the Baugher Student Center for a Saturday afternoon caravan to campus. Swim, Bowl, etc. (Requisition early)
2. Invite college professors to your chapter meetings. Let them bring you up to date in their subjects.
3. Invite newly admitted college students from your area, their parents, recent graduates to your meetings.
4. Place the newly graduated on committees. Get them involved early.
5. Request booklets, brochures relating to the college, items from book store for display at chapter meetings.
6. Sponsor scholarship for needy and capable person from your chapter.
7. Officers of chapters plan meetings early in the year to develop good programs.
8. Retiring officers pass minute books, alumni handbook, pertinent chapter materials to newly elected officers.
9. Each class hold a meeting of its own annually or at regular intervals on or off campus at a time other than Alumni Day.
10. Prepare biographical sketch of alumni in the area (South Jersey did it!)
11. Recommend alumni for citations, honors, achievements to college and or the All Pennsylvania College Alumni Association, Washington, D.C.
12. Encourage combined alumni meeting of graduates of sister colleges in areas where alumni are somewhat scattered. Example: Tidewater Alumni Association; University of Omaha ("Unofficial Area Alumni Association"); Brethren Fellowship, Boston.
13. Plan "Presidents of Chapters Retreat" to explore by workshop neglected areas of activity.
14. Establish contact persons for chapters with specific locations; these centers to supply information and operate a file card system of alumni.
15. Support the newly created venture, Annual Alumni Recital, initiated by the Music Department in 1963.
16. Each chapter sponsor its own cultural program and keep talent alive.
17. Should the General Association for representation on "College Bowl of the Air?" (We could use the scholarships.)
18. Plan a summer picnic. (Baltimore, North Jersey, Juniata, Newark [Del.] are planning picnics or have had them.)

Wilbur Weaver Attends College Store Meeting

Wilbur E. Weaver, assistant to the treasurer at the college, attended the 40th annual meeting of the National Association of College Stores at the Sherman House, Chicago, April 23 through April 26.

Weaver is manager of the college store and post office, both of which are located in Baugher Student Center.

Four Chapters Meet New Officers Elected

South Jersey Group Adds A New Twist To Chapter Session

A new twist — and one that proved very worthwhile — was added to the initial dinner meeting of the South Jersey Alumni Chapter in March as members of next fall's freshman class and their parents met with area alumni.

The spirit generated by alumni and the students who will enroll in September, was one observer phrased it, "terrific."

Approximately 50 attended the dinner session, which included a display of college-related goods sold in the campus store, a presentation of colored slides depicting college growth, and music by "The Roosters," a male quartet made up of C. G. Enterline, '31, Wilbur "Bud" Weaver, '37, Paul Grubb Jr., '55, and Bruce Van Order (a freshman student).

Other College representatives present were J. L. M. Yeingst, '57, director of Public Relations; Edgar T. Bitting, '50, of the Business Department; and Dr. O. F. Stambaugh, of the Chemistry Department.

Bob Goudie, '57, served as master of ceremonies for the affair. Chapter officers introduced were Mrs. Shirley Lantzy, '60, president; Miss Madeline Brightbill, '59, vice-president; and Miss Dorothy Zlobik, '60, secretary.

Harrisburg Chapter Lists Dinner Speaker

Dr. Arthur Climenhaga, president of Messiah College, Grantham, will be the featured speaker at the Harrisburg Chapter dinner meeting, May 11 at the Dutch Pantry in Camp Hill.

Reservations should be made by May 4 with Mrs. G. Book Roth, 276 S. West Street, Carlisle. Tickets are $3.00. The affair will begin at 6 p.m.

Alumni Recital Well Received

"Our first annual Alumni Recital was well performed and well received." This was Prof. Nevin W. Fisher's appraisal of the March 24 program sponsored by the College's Music Department.

Prof. Fisher, head of the Department, said that he will try to engage different alumni performers each year.

Featured participants this year were Gloria Gladfelter Rice, '57, lyric soprano; D. Paul Rice, '55, baritone; Linda Hollinger, '62, pianist; Mary Gladfelter, '62, coloratura soprano; Dr. David E. Schlosser, '39, pianist; and Edwin L. Keener, '44, tenor.

PENINSULAR CHAPTER

Alumni from the Delaware-Maryland peninsula met in the exclusive quarters of the Newark Country Club to organize a new chapter on March 19.

Promoted by David Myers, '52, the meeting was well attended.

In addition to the period of fellowship and feasting on fine steaks, the group enjoyed seeing recent colored pictures of the campus and the interiors of new buildings.

Alumni present were: Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Spanuth, '61, Amstel Avenue, Newark, Del.; David Myers '52, 2501 Cleveland Avenue, Claymont; Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Hoerner '55, '51, Grendon Farms, Wilmington 8; Mrs. Gretchen (Sherman) Weaver '50, 3011 Ogletown Road, Newark; Mr. and Mrs. William Beaton '55, 111 Netherfield Road, Glenville, Wilmington 4.

Miss Linda E. Hollinger '62, 79 E. Cleveland Avenue, Apt. 2, Newark; Mr. Harris F. Aungst '61, 31 Phyllis Drive, Newkirk Estates, Newark; Rev. Ronald Hershberger -55, 28 Belmont Avenue, Richardson Park, Wilmington. Present from the college were C. G. Enterline, alumni secretary, and Michael Fryer of the Class of 1966.

Officers elected are: President—David Myers; Vice President—Henry R. Hoerner; Secretary—Treasurer—Miss Linda E. Hollinger.

SCHUYLKILL VALLEY

The newly organized Schuylkill Valley Chapter of the Elizabethtown College Alumni Association held its first annual meeting at Reeser's Restaurant, Reading, on Saturday, March 24.

James L. M. Yeingst, '57, director of public relations at the college, outlined the growth of the college. He pointed out growth in number of buildings as well as expanding areas in curricula, early admissions and accelerated programs.

"Bob" Balthaser, '58, president of the Schuylkill Chapter, presided at the meeting. In addition to Mr. Yeingst, other representatives from the College were: Professor and Mrs. Edgar T. Bitting, and alumni secretary, C. G. Enterline.

Attending also were: Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Sheetz, '50, Sinking Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Harold K. Risser, '38, Mohrsville; Prof. and Mrs. Jack Hedrick, '59, Reading; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Balthaser, '58, Shartlesville.

Officers for the year 1963-64 are: Robert Balthaser, president; Harold K. Risser, vice president; Mrs. Robert Balthaser, secretary; Mrs. Harold K. Risser, treasurer.

LANCASTER COUNTY

Approximately 100 Lancaster County alumni attended that chapter's dinner meeting at the Dutch Town and Country Inn on April 5.

Featured was Dr. James M. Berkebile, professor of chemistry, who spoke on the Teachers for West Africa Program, of which he is director.

Clifford Huffman, '47, was toastmaster. College officials on the program were Pres. Roy E. McAuley, C. G. Enterline, and Prof. Edgar T. Bitting.

A mixed octet entertained with three selections. In the vocal group were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Grubb, Jr., '55, Mr. and Mrs. Walton Moyer, '53, '54, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rice, '55, '57, Mrs. David Willoughby, '58, and Wilbur E. Weaver, '37.

Officers elected for 1963-64 are Huffman, president; Alan Whitacre, '53, vice president; Janet Trimmer, '56, secretary; and Glenn Forney, '54 treasurer.

Added to the chapter council were Caleb Bucher, '37, and Ruth (Royer) Douple, '42.

Ball Team Wins 3 Net Squads Lose 3

Elizabethtown College's baseball team celebrated its return to action after a 12-day Easter and Spring vacation with a 6-0 victory over Western Maryland, April 17. It was their first home game and their third win in five games.

Meanwhile the men's tennis team was to get back on the courts on April 18 against Dickinson after having lost the opener at Washington College, 8-1; and the women's tennis team was slated for its second match on April 25 at Millersville. The Jaygals lost their first at Bridgewater by a 3-2 count.

Righthander Gene Marderness hurled a one-hitter while his mates picked up nine hits, including four extra base blows, against Western Maryland.

His first pitch in the top of the first inning was racked for a double, and from there he slammed the door, striking out 12 along the way.

Elizabethtown's big gun was Fred Seltzer, senior center-fielder, who lashed out a single, double, and triple in four trips to the plate. Catcher Gerry Bottorf slammed a home-run to left field with one on in the second.

Previously the Jays defeated Lebanon Valley at Annville, 13-9; lost to Washington, 7-6; and split a doubleheader at Bridgewater, winning the first 4-2 and losing the second 6-1.

At Lebanon Valley Rich Wright copped the pitching victory in relief as Dave Myers, sophomore shortstop, led the hitters with three safeties and two runs scored.

The Washington defeat was a heartbreaker as the Blue Jays held a three run advantage going into the bottom of the ninth. But things caved in on relievers John Neely and Tony McGlaughlin, and the hometown wound up with four runs and the victory.

John Suffel captured a pitching victory in the first game of the Bridgewater twin-bill, but the Virginians capitalized on seven Blue Jay errors to defeat Marderness in the nightcap.

Coach Owen Wright's men were slated again on Saturday (April 20) at Dickinson for another doubleheader and were to return home to face Franklin and Marshall on April 23. They were scheduled next at Susquehanna on April 25 and will be back home against East Stroudsburg on Saturday, April 27. From there it's four in a row on the road.

smarting from the onesided defeat at Washington College where a doubles victory prevented the shutout, were aiming for their initial victory in the Dickinson match.

They had two home matches on tap against Lycorning and Dickinson again on April 20 and 23, in that order, followed by road contests at Franklin and Marshall and Gettysburg on April 26 and 27.

The women's tennis vacation was to last until April 25, when the Jaygals were to face Millersville away. Next up is a match at Dickinson on May 2.

In their opener at Bridgewater Linda Eshelman and Molley Moreschbacher, two seniors, won in straight sets, but those were the only two points the Jaygals could muster.

Synchronized Swimmers Prepare May 11 Exhibition

May Day events will be highlighted this year by a synchronized swimming exhibition. More than twenty girls are working in preparation of this project whose theme is "Around the World."

Miss Luise Kempel, a junior student, is the director and creator of this synchroized swimming course. Faculty advisor to the group is Miss Patricia J. Barr.

Featuring music and costumed swimmers, the routines will portray characteristics of nine different countries or sections of the globe.

An announcer will keep the audience informed as each formation takes place. A candle routine will be the finale to the one hour show scheduled for 4:00-5:00 May Day afternoon.

Campus Shorts

Buttrick Here

A theologian from England, Dr. George A. Buttrick, lectured on the campus as a Danforth Visiting Lecturer on April 24 and 25. In addition to speaking before two chapel audiences, he presented a public lecture and met informally with students and faculty.

Leaders At Retreat

Student government leaders, old and new, met with administrative officials at Camp Swatara, near Bethel, March 26 to 28, to discuss College policy and plans for next year. Newly-elected and retiring government officers, senators, men's and women's committees, and publication editors were invited to the three-day affair.

Coed Honored

Kathryn MacGregor, a senior, was honored at the April 1 meeting of the Annville branch of American Association of University Women held at Hotel Hershey. She received a national membership in the AAUW for 1963-64 as a result of her high scholastic standing among the women in the class of 1963.

Smith Gets Award

A $25.00 cash award presented annually by the Lancaster Chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management to the Elizabethtown College senior business major with the best scholastic average was won this year by Larry Smith, class president.

Bensing Named Most Improved Grappler of E.C.

Jeffrey Bensing, junior, was recently named the Most Improved Wrestler at Elizabethtown College for 1962-63. Honored at the winter sports banquet, Bensing, was presented a trophy, donated by a former wrestler at E-town. Bensing had no wrestling experience in high school; he first began the sport at mid-term last year. He wrestled varsity the last match of the season in 1961-62 and the last five of the 12 contests this year.

Combining a 1962-63 season record of two wins, two losses, and a draw, Bensing contributed 12 points to the team effort.

In addition, Bensing boasts the fastest pin of the season, downing his opponent in two minutes, four seconds.

Test Scores Show Srs. Know Most On Current News

Elizabethtown College students apparently have a fairly good grasp of current events, according to the results of an examination taken by a random selection of representatives from the four classes this week.

The test, prepared by Time magazine, was administered as a project by the Young Republicans Organization on the campus.

Seventy-nine students took the test, which covered all phases of current news from domestic and international developments to sports events. There were 105 questions. The median score for all participants was 63.74 correct. Time says anything from 60 to 78 is "good."

In terms of class competition, the seniors were first with a median score of 68.60. Then, in order, came the sophomores with 65.09, the freshmen with 64.81, and the juniors with 56.90.

Of the 21 individuals with the highest scores, there were eight seniors, six sophomores, four freshmen, and three juniors.

Dan Reitmeyer Bill Bechtold Hon'd by MAC

Two Elizabethtown College basketball players were honored when the Middle Atlantic Conference announced its All-Northern College Division Team.

Dan Reitmeyer, 6'7" sophomore center from Boyertown, was cited on the second team, and Bill Bechtold, 5'11" junior forward from Jim Thorpe, was given an honorable mention.

Both men were key figures in leading the Blue Jays to 15 wins in 20 games over the 1962-63 season, which saw the Jays land in the third place in the MAC's Northern Division.

Bechtold was the team's leading scorer with 329 points and a 16.5 average. Reitmeyer was second in team scoring with a 15.7 average on 314 points and first in rebounding with 301 for a norm of 15.1 in that department.

Dick Kosman, Moravian senior, was named the most valuable player in the division this year.

Other members of the division's first team are Steve Nisenon, Hofstra; Bill Witconis, Scranton; Tom Pearsall, Albright; and Clark Mosier, Susquehanna.

Campaigning Is New In Men's, Women's Committee Elections

Members of the Committees of Men's and Women's Affairs were chosen in an all-campus election Wednesday, March 24.

This year, for the first time, applicants for both committees ran a campaign similar to the Senatorial campaign; petitions were necessary for nomination. Over twenty women students campaigned for the Committee on Women's Affairs while nearly the same number of men showed interest in running for the Committee on Men's Affairs.

Chosen to represent the women for 1963-64 are Janice Cramer, Virginia Heisey, Linda Hirst, Jane Idell, Mary Ann Poljanec, Nancy Winger, Linda Young, and Marilyn Young. Sharon Sullivan was selected as alternate.

The committee itself selected Linda Young as President and Nancy Winger as Secretary.

Summer Sessions Begin June 17

After a lull of about two weeks, the campus will officially re-open for the start of Summer Session I. Registration for the session will take place on June 17; the session will last through July 19. Session II will begin July 22 and end August 23.

A total of 76 courses will be offered during the two five week sessions. Workshops scheduled include the Eighth Annual Special Education Workshop and Institute (July 22 to August 2), Developmental and Remedial Reading Workshops (July 22 to August 2; August 5 to 16) and the Pennsylvania School of Alcoholic Studies (June 21 to 21).

Prof. O. F. Stambaugh, chairman of the Chemistry Department, is director of summer sessions.

Trustees Study Projections For Decade Of College Growth

The future of Elizabethtown College will feature a controlled growth in students, faculty and facilities, according to a projected program currently being considered by the College's board of trustees.

Dr. Joseph W. Kettering, Elizabethtown, chairman of the board, indicated that the total development of the College in the next ten years will be governed by the trustees' desire to maintain the environment of the small college with a Christian emphasis.

"This consideration is the basic premise upon which we are building our projections for the future. We don't want to grow merely for the sake of growth," Dr. Kettering said following a recent meeting of the board.

It was emphasized that the current projections for growth are merely broad guideposts for study. There has been no formal action by the trustees to adopt the proposed projections.

About 120 To Graduate During June 2 Exercise

About 120 seniors will officially join the Alumni Association June 2. A combined Baccalaureate-Commencement program to be held in the Elizabethtown Area High School auditorium beginning at 3 p.m. will mark the end of the undergraduate trail for the Class of 1963.

Featured speaker for the occasion will be Dr. Walter H. Judd, congressman from Minnesota for 20 years and former medical missionary to China. He will speak on "The Christian College and a Free Society."

Dr. M. R. Zeigler, former European representative of the Church of the Brethren and internationally known leader in Church World Services will receive an honorary degree.

Pres. Roy E. McAuley will confer the degrees upon the graduates, who will be presented for graduation by Dr. Jacob E. Herschman, dean of the College.

Two professors here, Dr. Robert A. Byerly and Dr. Ralph W. Schlosser, will participate in the conferring of the honorary degree. Special music will be presented by a mixed quartet; Dr. Carl N. Shull will be organist.

Other participants in the program will include the Rev. Glenn C. Zug, Harrisburg; the Rev. Alan L. Whitacre, East Petersburg; and the Rev. W. Ellis Powell, Allentown.

CLASSES END

TUESDAY, MAY 21

Classes end Tuesday, May 21. Final examinations are scheduled to begin May 22 and will last through Friday, May 31.

Two Co-Eds Set To Work In Paris Under ISTC Plan

Phyllis Gladfelter and Pernella Provost, two sophomores, have been accepted to participate in the International Student Travel Center's Road-to-Rome Seminar. Both will work in restaurants in Paris this summer.

The goal of the ISTC is to provide stimulating work, study and travel experience abroad as an essential part of education and a means of furthering good will. In the past both students (ages 16-35) and teachers (no age limit) have participated in such programs, which include paying jobs and orientation seminars, some with tours.

For the most part, job openings are in unskilled categories with minimum or no language qualifications. They cover such occupations as farming, construction and factory work, child care and hotel-resort work. Wages are based on the standard rates in the various countries and many range from room-and-board in a Spanish work camp to $190 a month in a West German factory.

ISTC members are at liberty to make their own travel arrangements or sign up for a seminar program that includes low-cost jet transportation and tours.

One of the more extensive programs ISTC has planned is the Road-to-Rome Seminar, a 21-day, 7 country tour that precedes the job assignments. This year, for the first time, there will also be a Middle East Seminar in Israel. Round-trip jet travel to Tel Aviv will include one-week stop-over in Rome and four weeks in Paris. A two-day seminar in Tel Aviv on the culture and history of the region will be followed by a five-day tour of Israel and a month's work on a Kibbutz.

Near 1,300 Here For May Day

Fair skies and cool breezes greeted May Queen Linda Eshelman and her court May 11, and a successful runoff of special events combined to make the Seventeenth Annual May Day celebration another happy occasion.

About 1,300 people were on hand for the crowning ceremonies in the dell, but the surprise hit of the day turned out to be the synchronized swimming exhibition in the Baugher Student Center pool, where latecomers had to be turned away.

Sounding Board

Students Rate The Etownian

EDITOR'S NOTE: For this issue of the ETOWNIAN the Sounding Board asked the students to give their opinions, pro and con, concerning the school paper and also to offer any suggestions for its improvement.

NANCY GRUBB, Freshman: The only thing that I ever found fault with school papers is the great amount of administrative censorship. We should be able to say what we want since it is the students' paper.

BOB KERR, Junior: I think it has greatly improved over the previous years and I'd like to see it published more often.

ESTHER STREHLE, Junior: The school paper is very well edited, but I would like to see it every week instead of every two weeks. The news concerning engagements, and the like doesn't seem to be up to date—someone that was engaged last October shouldn't have to wait this long to have it announced in the paper. The sports are covered very well.

FRED SELTZER, Senior: I think that sometimes the coming social events should be discussed more fully, giving more background and generally promoting greater interest in them. The Social Calendar in itself is rather inadequate. I have no complaints to register in the sports department. As an improvement,

ON THE JOB: Judith Ullery, Etownian reporter for Sounding Board this week, takes careful note of Fred Seltzer's comments.

I think there should be added a Professor's Column where each week different professors write of interesting events that had occurred in their classes, criticisms of current campus events and any thing else they would believe to be of interest to the campus in general.

GEORGE BEROTTI, Senior: One reason I like the paper is that I live off campus and work, too, and I really can't keep track of just what's going on—the paper helps me know what the students are doing, what's happening, where, etc. When I first came, the print seemed rather muzzled and too good to be true, but since then I have even read some unfavorable things.

MARY ANN POLJANEC, Junior: I think that for the most part we have a very good paper. I'd like to have it published every week if possible. I particularly enjoy the Alumni news. I really can't offer any suggestions for improvement—it's already pretty good.

Think It Over

Optimism: A cheerful frame of mind that enables a tea kettle to sing though in hot water up to its nose. —Anonymous

From The Secretary's Angle

By C. G. ENTERLINE, Alumni Secretary

The tally committee just announced the results of the voting for alumni officers. Voting for officers is just one way to participate in alumni affairs. Let us observe a few areas of activity and then look at the degree of participation in the spring vote.

More and more alumni are participating in the preparation of articles for the alumni BULLETIN. This year, for instance, they contributed to "We Salute"; alumni are represented on the college board of trustees; the number contributing to the financial support of the college is increasing; each year different alumni accept responsibilities in chapter work and the general association. Participation is evident also on Homecoming and Alumni Days.

Participation, however, appears to be somewhat limited in the area of voting.

According to the tally committee, eighteen percent of the alumni voted in the 1963 spring election for officers of the general association. This is five percent better than last year. But does an 18 percent vote for officers reflect a real concern in alumni? From one point of view, this might be good enough; there remains, however, a big opportunity to improve.

This limited voting seems to indicate that a majority of alumni are satisfied with what the minority is doing. If this assumption were applied to a national situation, it is conceivable that a vibrant minority could displace an indifferent and disinterested majority. Assumptions, then, that the voting few will represent the wishes of the majority, may be dangerous.

Occasionally one hears that certain groups, favored few, or cliques run certain organizations. It is out of situations like this—failure to exercise one's franchise—that the problems arise. If membership in the Alumni Association depended on the criterion of voting our membership files would be really reduced.

It will be interesting to see what the tally committee will report in 1964.

Especially For Alumni...

By EDGAR T. BITTING
President, Alumni Association

PARTING SHOTS

You might ask if this is another request for a contribution. Well, yes, I guess I must admit that it is. At least it is a reminder.

And why shouldn't it be? Two things bring this to my attention. First, I just read in a newsletter from the American Alumni Council that the participation of Princeton University alumni in the University's fund drive was an impressive 67.3 percent.

By chance I also picked up a copy of the Report of Gifts from our own Fourth Annual Giving Fund for the 1961-62 school year. I notice that our participation percentage for the last forty classes varies from five to 33 percent.

And so it looks like we have a job to do here at Elizabethtown. I would feel that I have not done my job as Alumni President if I didn't once again urge you to reconsider your decision on giving to the College.

The future of private colleges is at stake. Alumni of such institutions should realize the importance of their continuance and be willing to support them. There is a spirit, a sense of service, an atmosphere, a philosophy of life that permeates such a college. We can't afford to have this vanish.

Since this is my final letter to you while acting as president of the Association, I would like to take a few moments between pre-registration and final exams to share some observations I have made during the past year.

I feel sorry for those persons who failed to get out to their chapter meeting. I can truthfully say that attending such meetings has been a great joy for me. During the year I attended about six such meetings, and it was always a pleasant surprise to see former classmates and students—to reminisce about our years at E-town. For anyone needing a spring tonic I recommend your next year's chapter meeting.

I sense an increase in alumni spirit. Perhaps this is just wishful thinking, but as I sat back and surveyed the action at several chapter meetings, it seemed that pride for Elizabethtown College emitted from every person present. Perhaps the response to the Fifth Annual Giving Fund will be a further indication of this.

Alumni seeking change of employment should contact the Alumni Secretary, who also serves as Placement Director for the College. Many times during the school year, requests for applicants' names cross the Secretary's desk; if he knew of your desires, he could provide you with a splendid opportunity to advance to the position you desire.

The College administration should consider relieving the Alumni Secretary of assigned teaching duties. The demands of serving a growing Alumni Association and the expanding placement service allow little or no time for a third responsibility.

If more alumni could return to campus and see the physical growth here I know they would have a greater sense of pride in their alma mater. Observing a few classes would then provide a greater appreciation of the scholastic growth. Remember Alumni Day, June 1.

I want to thank those of you who took time to write or speak with me concerning the programs we implemented this year. It was encouraging to know that we were not going it alone. It has been a pleasure to serve as your Alumni Association President.

Church Conference Luncheon Scheduled

Elizabethtown College alumni attending the Annual Conference of the Church of the Brethren in Champaign, Illinois, will attend a luncheon in the Illini Room of the Illini Union on June 29. It will begin at 12 noon.

The Conference will be held on the campus of the University of Illinois.

Stambaugh, head of the Chemistry Department. The exhibit is on display on the second floor of the Gible Science Building.

Picnic Planned Here For Chapter Officers

The General Alumni Association is planning a summer picnic for all officers, on Saturday, July 27, on the college campus. It will combine pleasure with a brief period of business.

Recreational possibilities include the use of the swimming pool, game room, bowling alleys, and the athletic field.

On the more formal side of the afternoon activities, will be a sharing of information with chapter leaders of progress in alumni association work.

Participants in the program will be Dr. Roy E. McAuley, president of the College, James L. M. Yeingst, Director of Public Relations, C. G. Enterline, Alumni Secretary, and Hiram J. Frysinger, president of the Alumni Association.

Outlined, the program for the afternoon of July 27 looks like this:

1. Assembly time—Drift in any time after 1:00 p.m.
2. Recreation 1:00-3:30—Baughman Student Center.
3. Organized Recreation for children while parents are in conference 3:30-4:30.
4. Meeting of Alumni Officers,

3:30-4:30—Room 209 (BSC)

- a. Dr. Roy E. McAuley
- b. James L. M. Yeingst
- c. C. G. Enterline—the College and the Alumni Association since September, 1962—colored slides.
- d. Hiram J. Frysinger

5. Picnic: 5:00 p.m. — Campus Fireplace.

- a. College will provide beverages (hot and cold), cups, ice cream, and napkins.
- b. Picnickers will bring their own luncheons.
- c. In case of rain, settle down in Alumni gymnasium.

6. Leave at will

The idea for a chapter officers picnic was conceived in the spring of 1962. The August, 1962 picnic, though quite informal, was well represented for the first year. This augurs well for a still better attendance and a better program.

New Alumni Officers Announced

Edwin Boll, '47, 301 N. Locust Street, Elizabethtown, chairman of the nominating committee and the tally committee, announced the results of the spring election for alumni officers.

Hiram J. Frysinger, present vice-president, will automatically move into the presidency.

Paul M. Grubb, '55, 623 East Hummelstown Street, Elizabethtown, was elected vice president; Albert E. Chapter Activity Accelerated; Groups In Five Areas Convene

Two Chapters Formed In Florida, Penna.

Two more chapters were added to the Alumni Directory last month when alumni in Florida and another group in the Johnstown-Pittsburgh area gathered for organizational purposes. Details on the new chapter meetings follow.

Johnstown-Pittsburgh

Elizabethtown College alumni of the Johnstown-Pittsburgh-Somerset Triangle met at Green Gables, Jennerstown, to form a new chapter on Saturday, April 20. Sixteen alumni, friends, and representatives of the college assembled at the foothills of the Alleghenies to enjoy an evening of fellowship.

The alumni secretary, C. G. Enterline, brought alumni up-to-date on college buildings and activities. The group elected the following officers:

President, Mrs. John W. Roudabush, -33 (Alta Weaver), 611 Schrader Avenue, Johnstown; Vice-president, Mrs. Zona Mae (Findley) Hare, '61, First Street, Cairnbrook; Secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Howard Grey, -32 (Anna Cassel), 620 Gromley Avenue, Carnegie.

Others present were: Prof. and Mrs. Hubert M. Custer, 327 Freeman Drive, Johnstown, who will be re-joining the Elizabethtown College faculty in September; Howard Grey and son, Robert; Miss Lois Countryman, -59, 383 W. Patriot Street, Somerset; John Roudabush; Mr. and Mrs. James E. Murphy, '35, 312 Spruce Street, Windber; Rev. and Mrs. Eli S. Keeny, '27, 317 John Street, Greensburg; Miss Kathleen Diann Weller, -60, 996 Adams Street, Windber; Ira D. Brandt, '24, Elizabethtown College.

Florida

The most distant alumni chapter from Elizabethtown College campus is that of Florida. Rev. and Mrs. William Stoneback, '57 (Elaine Holsinger, '57), piloted the new organization into a successful venture on Saturday, April 27, in the Winter Park Church of the Brethren. Rev. and Mrs. Stoneback are ministering to the church there.

Because of the relatively scattered number of alumni in a large area, the new chapter is considering the placement of a number of vice presidents over specific areas. This original and unique idea might be applied to existing chapters and new ones still to be organized where a similar situation exists.

Dr. Jay Eshleman Article Published

Dr. Jay H. Eshleman, an Elizabethtown College alumnus and a member of the Board of Trustees, has written an article appearing in the April edition of DENTAL PROGRESS, a quarterly published by the University of Chicago Press.

His article, "Dentistry and Our Changing Society," discusses the need for the dentistry profession to change with the times.

Dr. Eshleman was a member of the class of 1932. He earned a D.D.S. degree from Temple University Dental School in 1934 and immediately opened an office for general practice in Philadelphia.

He has been active in local and national affairs of dentistry traveling widely and lecturing to local, state, and national dental association in the United States and Canada.

Since 1948 he has been lecturer on dental economics and dental practice management at Temple University Dental School.

Dr. Eshleman is president-elect of the Pennsylvania Dental Association, president of the Temple University Dental Alumni Association, and a member of the editorial board of DENTAL PROGRESS.

North Jersey To Meet

Alumni in Northern New Jersey will hold a picnic at Suprise Lake, Watchung Reservation, on Sunday, June 23.

The program consisted of a period of fellowship, viewing campus slides, and a business session. The women of Winter Park church served refreshments.

Officers elected for the Florida Chapter are: President — Rev. J. William Stoneback, 1721 Harmon Ave., Winter Park; Sec'y-Treas. — Homer Reber, -33, 210 South Hampton Street, Orlando.

Other alumni present were: Mrs. Homer Reber, '49 (Mary Brown); Mrs. Robert G. Miller, '53 (Joyce Lerew); 3107 Ivel Drive; Orlando; Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Cashman, '07 (Bessie Horst, '14), Star Route, Box 10, Eustis.

Mobil To Give Aid

Elizabethtown College is among 43 Pennsylvania schools that will receive financial aid from Mobil Oil Company in 1963 through the Foundation For Independent Colleges, Inc.

TRUSTEES

Financially, the operating budget has gone from $297,917 in 1952 to the current figure of $1,627,242.

"Our potential for growth is great. However, we don't want to grow like Topsy. We want to develop our campus by adding the facilities we think we will need to provide the best possible education for a proper-size student body," Dr. McAuley said.

"We want to continue to be, in essence, a small college with the same values that have been a part of the College's program since the institution was established," he added.

York

Approximately fifty York County alumni assembled at the Lincoln View Restaurant near Thomasville on May 4 to hear Professor Clyde Nelson, head of the history department at Elizabethtown College, speak on "The European Common Market".

Elmer Q. Gleim, '39, the toastmaster, kept the program moving with appropriate quips and stories. Under Romaine Dushman's leadership, alumni demonstrated their ability to sing. Reverend Earl Ziegler, '51, offered the invocation and introduced Professor Nelson.

Officers elected for 1963-64 are: President — Rev. Earl Ziegler, '51, Brodbeck; Vice President — Dr. Galen V. Jones, '40, 448 Atlantic Avenue, York; Sec'y-Treas. — Jeanette (Leber) Merritt, '60, 1417 W. Market St., York.

Elected to the executive council of the York chapter was Helen R. Neiser, '48, 1832 Church Road, York.

Baltimore

Dr. and Mrs. Charles S. Apgar presented the beauty of Alaskan country in the form of slides to alumni in the Baltimore Chapter on Saturday, May 4, in the Messiah United Church of Christ, 5615 The Alameda, Baltimore, Md. Dr. Apgar is head of the Biology Department at Elizabethtown College, and Mrs. Apgar is professor in the same department.

Approximately thirty alumni and friends attended the dinner meeting. The pictures were of particular interest to Arthur J. Risser II and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Risser, '39 (Pearl Brock '40). Son Arthur plans to enroll in the University of Alaska in September.

The program featured also Mrs. Arthur J. Risser's cub scouts in a calisthenics exercise under the direction of Thomas Risser, a junior in Baltimore City College. Deana, a sophomore at Elizabethtown College, performed a difficult act of acrobats.

Officers of the Baltimore Chapter for 1963-64 are: President — Curtis W. Dubble, '49, 18 Chase Street, Westminster, Md.; vice-president — Daniel C. Haldeman, '47, R. D. 1, Roger Ave. Elliot City, Md.; secretary — Robert M. Graham, '50 626 Longview Dr., Baltimore 28, Md.; treasurer — Leon E. Henise, '50, 850 Edgedale Road, Towson 4, Md.

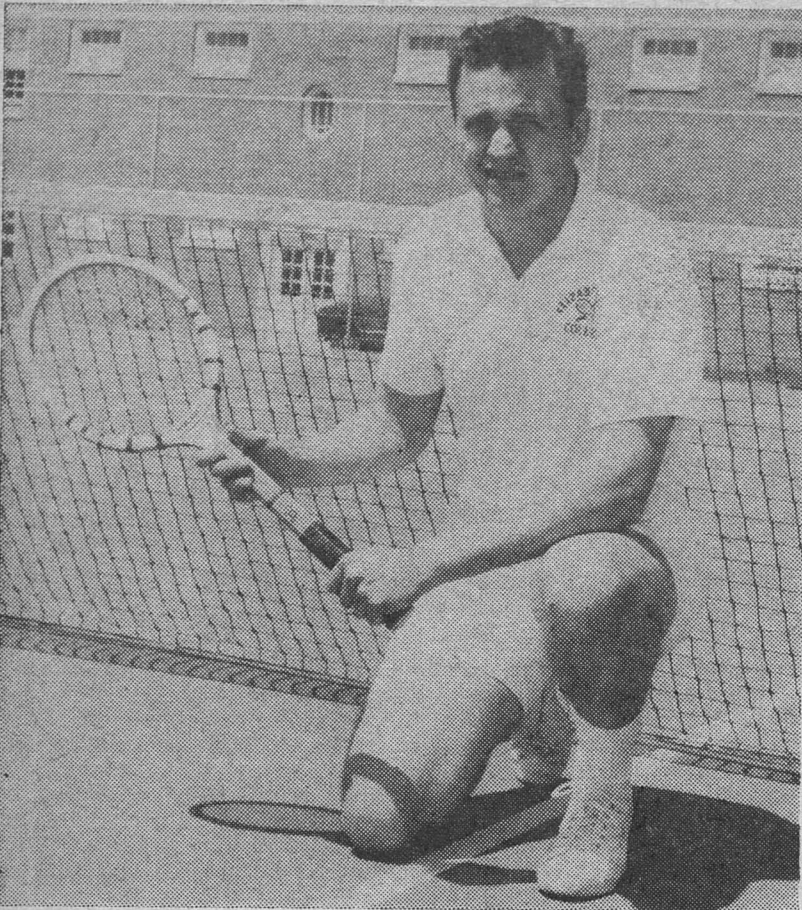

Harrisburg

The Harrisburg Chapter converged on the Dutch Pantry on Saturday, May 11 to hear Dr. Arthur Climenhaga, president of Messiah College. Dr. Climenhaga indicated that an essential ingredient of education is the leaven of the religious and the spiritual.

The Reverend Kenneth Miller, '57, offered the invocation and led the group in community singing. Revere M. Stoner, '49, served as toastmaster. Edgar T. Bitting, president of the Alumni Association and C. G. Enterline, alumni secretary, brought greetings from the college.

Approximately fifty alumni attended the meeting. The Harrisburg Chapter vied with the York Chapter in dinner chatter and fellowship. Following the dinner, a brief business meeting resulted in the election of officers for 1963-64:

President — Frances Bishop, '54, 1262 Main Street, Steelton; vice-president — Ben G. Musser, '43, 350 Hillside Drive, New Cumberland; secretary — Shirley (Young) Uhazie, '54, 4015 Locust Lane, Colonial Park, Harrisburg; and treasurer — Robert A. Greenawalt, '49, 231 E. Main Street, Mechanicsburg.

Vern Oberholtzer

Rookie Senior Top Man On Smith-coached Team

By JIM SCLICHTER

Vern Oberholtzer, who hails from Marietta, Pa., currently holds the number one position on the Elizabethtown College tennis team.

This is the first year for Vern on the team, but he has made this solo year of competition big. To date the steady netman has won five out of nine singles matches and three out of nine doubles matches. Vern got his biggest thrill in one of these matches by defeating Bill Plakans of Franklin and Marshall College. Plakans is rated one of the top players in the MAC Conference.

Coach Smith had lots of praise for this Business Administration major. "On the court he is not a picture player, but he is fundamentally sound," the coach said. The coach also added "Vern doesn't have a great serve but he has good strategy and a respectable knowledge of the game. His biggest attribute, however, is his consistency.

This hard working, dedicated Jay racketman is probably the best tennis player E-town has had in the last five years. In many matches he displays tennis finesse, intelligence, hard work, and common sense, qualities of a sound tennis player.

While attending Donegal High School, Oberholtzer played four years of tennis. When asked why he waited until his senior year to come out for tennis he said, "I am married and have a little boy and commute from Marietta. Thus I have very little time to play. Besides that, I work thirty hours a week"

After college Vern plans a career in the business world and hopes to play a little tennis when time permits.

Spring Athletes Near End Of Line Have 16-20 Log With 5 Games Left

Eshelman, Seltzer Get Awards

Fred Seltzer, a standout performer for the baseball and soccer teams for four years, and Linda Eshelman, star of the women's field hockey and tennis teams, have been named as the College's outstanding Senior Athletes.

Awards were presented to the duo during the College's annual spring sports dinner, May 16.

Seltzer won seven varsity letters during his athletic career with the Blue Jays: four as a fullback on the soccer team and three as an outfielder for the baseball club.

Among his accomplishments was the honorable mention given him on the 1961 All-American Soccer Team.

Miss Eshelman broke two records during her fourth year with the Women's field hockey team. She scored a season high of 19 goals and set the all-time career high here with 64. She was given an honorable mention on this year's All-American Field Hockey Team.

Linda also played four seasons of tennis as the Jaygal's top seeded player.

Elizabethtown College's spring athletes turned into the home stretch this season with a record less impressive than those of their fall and winter counterparts.

As of May 16 the baseball and men's and women's tennis teams had a composite log of 16 victories and 20 defeats with a total of five outings left. The composite records of the fall and winter teams were both well over .500.

Coach Owen Wright's ball team, the most successful of the spring lot, has had a season of ups and downs. The Blue Jays won five of their first eight, lost the next four, won the following four, and split the next four for a 10-9 mark prior to the season's finale against Albright here on May 20.

In their first 19 games the Jays were involved in nine games that were decided by one run, and they lost five of them. While several of the players ranked high in the individual Middle Atlantic Conference statistics, the team was destined to finish around third or fourth in the Northern Division.

Pacing the offense as the team neared the finish line were Fred Seltzer, senior centerfielder; Al Hershey, junior second baseman; Gerry Boddorf, senior catcher; Tony McGlaughlin, sophomore third baseman; Dave Myers, sophomore shortstop; and Ken Finkbinder, freshman pitcher and outfielder.

Leading the mound corps were Finkbinder (3-1); Gene Marderness, junior (4-3); and John Suffel, sophomore (2-4).

The men's tennis team snapped a losing skein of six matches and came back to win three of the next four, but a loss to Muhlenberg on May 15 put the crew at 3-8 with two contests remaining.

Coach Don Smith's men were to face Juniata at home on May 17 and Albright here on May 20. Earlier in the month they had defeated Juniata, 5-4.

The Muhlenberg loss was an 8-1 affair with Vern Oberholtzer and Mike Honeywell collecting the only Blue Jay point in the first doubles match.

Oberholtzer, a senior playing his first season for the Jays, has been Elizabethtown's most consistent winner. He took a 6-5 mark as the Jay's top seeded player into the last two matches.

Linda Eshelman continued to be undefeated as the Jaygals' ace, but the team was having its troubles reaching the .500 level.

The women, under the direction of Miss Allegra Hess, lost three before breaking the ice with a win over East Stroudsburg on May 10. They followed that with a victory over Millersville on May 13 and were to play two more before concluding the season.

They were at Shippensburg on May 16 and were to return home for a match with Penn State on the high school courts on May 17.

Miss Eshelman, closing out a brilliant career here, took a 4-0 record to Shippensburg. Molly Moerschbacher, another senior, was at 4-1 prior to the last two matches.

Campus Shorts

Awards Received

Eighteen special awards were made to students when the College held its annual Honors Assembly in the Alumni Auditorium, May 15. Also cited were winners of Activities "E" awards and Activities "E" certificates. Dr. R. W. Schlosser spoke on "The Life That Counts."

ELM Published Again

The second yearly edition of the Elizabethtown College literary magazine (ELM) was distributed on campus, May 10. Twenty-four student works are included in it. Editors this year were Terry Road and Ann Makowiak.

Alumnus Speaks Here

Dr. Ernest W. Lefever, an alumnus now on the staff of the International Studies Division of the Institute for Defense Analysts in Washington, spoke before the Men's Honor Society, ABRAXAS, May 18. He discussed the subject, "The Relevance of the Impossible Ideal."

Gets Chemist Medal

Anita K. Black, a senior chemistry major, received the Student Medal Award of the Philadelphia Chapter of American Institute of Chemists early this month. She also was awarded a one-year subscription to THE CHEMIST, the official organ of the American Institute of Chemists. She has accepted an Institute of Scientific Research fellowship for graduate study at New Mexico Highlands University, Las Vegas, New Mexico.

Exchange Student Selected

A junior French major, Janet K. Jones, has been selected as the College's exchange student for next year. Miss Jones will spend the 1963-64 term at Strasbourg University, Strasbourg, France.

Weaver Honored

Wilbur E. Weaver, assistant to the treasurer and manager of the campus bookstore and post office, is honored in the new CONESTOGAN. The 1963 edition of the yearbook is dedicated to him.

Miss Hauseman To Represent EC

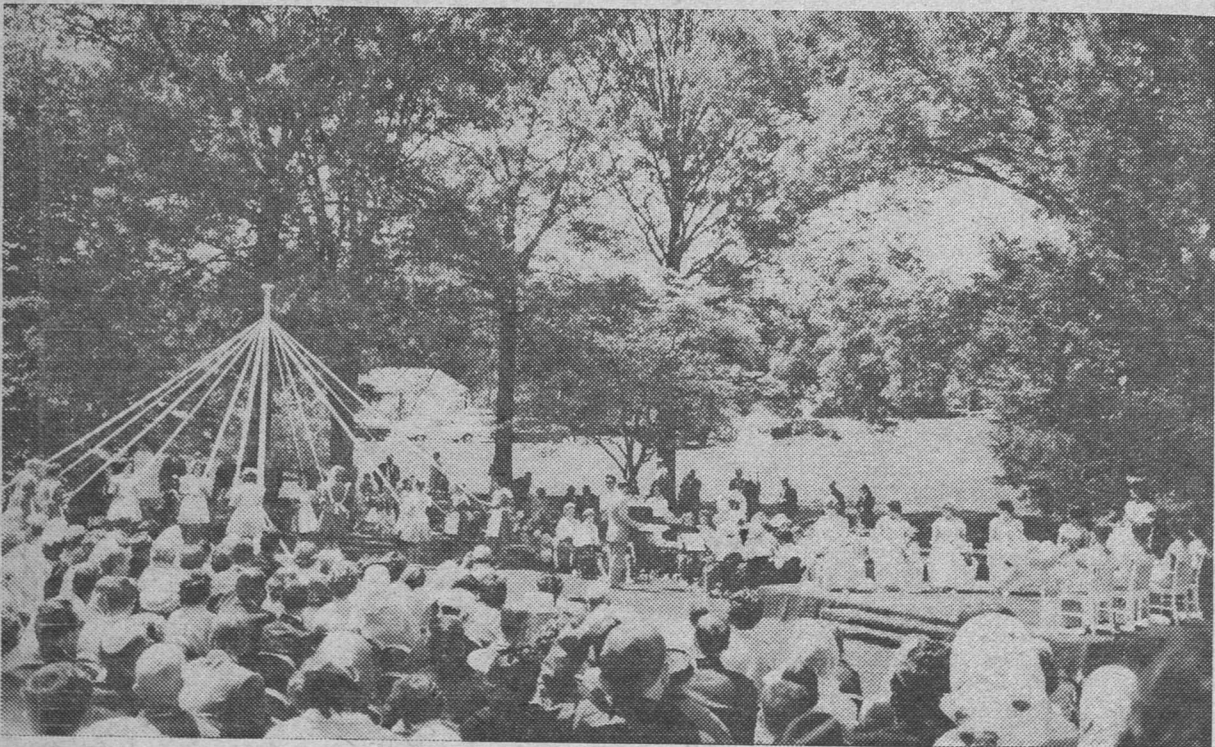

Rosemary Hauseman, a sophomore English major from Pottstown, has been named as the Elizabethtown College student representative to summer church activities, Pres. Roy E. McAuley announced recently.

Miss Hauseman's primary responsibility will be to represent the college at campus and youth meetings of the Eastern and Southern Pennsylvania Districts of the Church of the Brethren, with which the College is affiliated. The job will last for the duration of the summer.

Elinor Eastlack Featured in Pix Part of 'Audubon'

Miss Elinor Eastlack, assistant professor of business at Elizabethtown College, is featured in a picture spread portion of an article run in the March-April issue of AUDUBON, the National Audubon Society.

The article, "Our Maine Camp," tells of a group of 45 campers who spent two weeks at the Audubon Camp in Maine, on Hog Island. The Camp celebrated its 24th season of nature study last summer.

College Graduates 128 Students; Four Seniors Win Academic Honors

Diplomas and certificates were awarded to 128 students, June 2, during the College's combined baccalaureate-commencement program in the Elizabethtown Area High School auditorium.

Delivering the commencement address was Dr. Walter H. Judd, congressman from Minnesota for 20 years and former medical missionary to China.

Four seniors were graduated with honors. They are E. Paul Dick, Claysburg, magna cum laude; Sandra L. C. Farver, Elizabethtown, magna cum laude; Kathryn D. MacGregor, Allentown, cum laude; and Larry E. Smith, Red Lion, cum laude.

Dr. M. R. Zigler, former European representative of the Church of the Brethren and internationally known leader in Church World Service, received the honorary degree, doctor of humane letters.

Of the 128 graduates, 30 received bachelor of arts degrees; 44 received bachelor of science degrees; 35 received bachelor of science in education degrees; 14 received certificates in medical secretarial science; and six received certificates in secretarial science. One student, Nancy Kauffman of Waynesboro, was granted the bachelor of arts degree and the certificate in secretarial science.

Speaking on the role of the Christian College in a free society, Dr. Judd emphasized that if Communism is to be defeated, there must be changes in free men's attitudes, minds, and hearts. This, he said, is the business of the Christian religion and the prime func-

Dean's List Honors 69 Students

Sixty-nine students have been named to the Dean's List of Honor for the second semester of the 1962-63 term by Dr. Jacob E. Hershman, dean.

The Junior Class had the largest representation on the List with 24. In addition there were 18 seniors, 14 freshmen, and 13 sophomores.

Twelve Faculty Positions Filled

Twelve new faculty members have joined the staff of Elizabethtown College for the 1963-64 term, according to President Roy E. McAuley.

Six will replace departing members of the faculty; the others will fill new positions.

Summer Session I Enrollment At 306

Registration for Summer Sessions I, June 17, totaled 306. No further breakdown was immediately available.

The session will run through July 19. Session II will run from July 22 through August 23.

Special workshops scheduled this summer include the Eighth annual Special Education Workshop and Institute (July 22 to August 2); Workshop in Developmental Reading (July 22 to August 2, August 5 to August 16); Workshop in Remedial Reading (August 5 to August 16), and the Pennsylvania School of Alcohol Studies (June 17 to 21—academic session: June 17 to 29).

Neuman Book Profits To Finance Award

Profits from the sale of Dr. Friedrich Neumann's book, Escape From Terror, will be used to establish a prize for students studying German here.

Dr. Neumann indicated that the final copies of the book will be sold in the College Book Store at the reduced price of $1.25. All proceeds will go to the College to underwrite the German prize.

The book which has reportedly sold well since it was first published several years ago, describes Dr. Neumann's change from the Jewish faith to Christianity and his suffering as a Jew in the early days of the Nazi regime in Germany.

The new faculty members are: William C. Bailey, assistant professor of music. He holds degrees from Mansfield State College (B.S.) and Syracuse University (M.Mus.) and is engaged in doctoral studies at the Pennsylvania State University. He has held secondary teaching positions in Montoursville, and Elwood, New York.

Elizabeth F. Bruckhart, head of residence and assistant in student personnel. Miss Bruckhart received degrees from Manchester College (B.A., 1958) and Indiana University (M.S., 1963) and is taking further graduate work at Indiana University.

Hubert M. Custer, assistant professor of physics. Custer holds degrees from Carnegie Institute of Technology (B.S.) and Franklin and Marshall College (M.S.). He replaces R. Lee Byers, assistant professor of physics, who will be on leave next year.

Custer served as a member of the faculty here from 1953 to 1961.

Jerald L. Garland, assistant to the director of admissions. He received the bachelor of arts degree from Elizabethtown and is completing requirements for the master of science in education degree at Temple University.

Garland spent four years as a teacher in the Dallastown Area High School.

Jack L. Hedrick, instructor in chemistry. Hedrick holds degrees from Elizabethtown College (B.S., 1959) and the University of Pittsburgh (M.S., 1962). He formerly was a member of the chemistry department at Albright College.

Honor Society Hears Lefevre on US Destiny

By RICHARD LYTLE

Foreign Policy expert Dr. Ernest W. Lefevre returned to his Alma Mater last Saturday evening and told a Men's Honor Society audience that the responsibility and destiny of the United States is "to prevent the imposition of an alien will . . . and to help create an environment which is conducive to the birth and growth of governments by consent."

In his talk, "The Relevance of the Impossible Ideal," Lefevre said the United States has unwillingly had this responsibility thrust upon it and thus does not have concrete policies to implement authority.

"The age of innocence has ended for the U. S., he said, "and the U. S. hasn't been able to carry the burden of responsibility with sophistication."

The "impossible ideal" for him is "to love God and love man as your brother." He said the realm of love and the realm of politics can be joined and are joined "in the act of a human being making a decision."

The realm of love is relevant because it gives a leader senses of perspective (that we cannot

Especially For Alumni...

By HIRAM J. FRYSSINGER

President, Alumni Association

"FOR THE FIRST HALF, PRE-1948 ALUMNI"

Elizabethtown College is a relatively young, vigorous and growing college. It is now firmly entrenched as one of the recognized institutions in Pennsylvania.

At the 1963 Alumni dinner I was seated near Dr. Schlosser and opposite Edgar Diehm and Hiram Graybill, two members of the 50th anniversary class. They had many very interesting stories of the early days to relate.

I again read the History of Elizabethtown College as told in the "History of the Church of the Brethren of the Eastern District of Pennsylvania" published in 1915. The early founders gave the following statement of purpose for founding Elizabethtown College:

Frysinger

"The object of this school shall be such harmonious development of the physical, mental and moral powers of both sexes as will fit them for the duties of life and promote the spiritual interests of its patrons." These founders were devoted church men with a broad view of the purposes of the church.

As an older alumnus, 1929, I have had the privilege of knowing all of the Presidents from the beginning in 1900, except one, and I roomed with his son for one semester. I had classes under H. K. Ober, H. H. Nye, R. W. Schlosser and A. C. Baugher. I was Dr. Baugher's lab assistant in Chemistry and was responsible for packing and moving the equipment from the old chemistry lab in Alpha Hall to the new Gible science building in 1927-1928.

Dr. H. K. Ober and S. H. Hertzler, long time chairman of the Board of Trustees, were present at my election and ordination as a minister in the Church of the Brethren.

All of these men together with the devoted members of the faculty, and the motto "Educate for Service" always before us in the Chapel in Memorial Hall have inspired us to prepare for a life of service. Ours has been a good heritage.

From The

Secretary's Angle

By C. G. ENTERLINE

WE SALUTE

On Saturday evening, June 1, President Edgar T. Bitting handed the gavel to Rev. Hiram J. Frysinger, new president of the Elizabethtown College Alumni Association. This act symbolized the transfer of leadership in the Association from one person to another. We salute the leaders who have blazed alumni trails since 1904.

I. E. Shoop, '04, now deceased, began alumni work in 1906 with J. Z. Herr, '05, as recording secretary. In the meantime, fifty-one different persons have served the Association as president. Behind each association president stands an array of workers—councilmen, committeemen, planners, decision makers, class presidents, alumni trustees, chapter leaders, and supporters and friends. These are the leaders who see that alumni work gets done. We salute them.

In a sense, this dedication to service is a form of continuing education for alumni. We salute those who do not regard educational tasks completed after four years, but make adjustment to a changing environment and work to keep their Alma Mater alert to changes.

An examination of the occupations of the past presidents reflects a diversity of interest. Among these leaders are educators on all levels, doctors, business men, ministers, accountants, housewives, and others. This diversity of occupational interests provides uniqueness and originality in approaching alumni work. Furthermore, it encourages the spirit of enterprise and adventure in a setting which is also unique.

This setting is in the framework of a Christian, independent college. Herein lies the challenge for the leadership to explore fully the possibilities which independence provides and to encourage the teaching and practice of the Christian ethic. Indeed, alumni leadership cannot escape or sidestep the responsibilities which this special privilege and setting afford.

We salute all leaders of the present and the past who through sacrificial and understanding effort have brought the College and the Alumni Association to its present stature. We salute those who have a vision of Christian higher education and are co-operating to make alumni still better citizens and the College a still better educational institution.

Mrs. Mary L. Reber, '49 (Mary Brown), 210 S. Hampton Street, Orlando, Florida, was recently named by the Orange County School Board to serve on the county staff as curriculum assistant for academically talented students. Homer M. Reber, her husband, belongs to the 1933 class.

A Fine Choice

We congratulate the editor and staff of The Conestogan for their fine choice in Mr. Wilber Weaver to be the recipient of the yearbook dedication.

Students are aware, after spending only a few months at Elizabethtown College, of the strong dedication of Mr. Weaver to the school and his job. It is hard to think of anyone more accommodatig and willing to go out of his way to help students, faculty, and/or staff.

In his capacity as Assistant to the Treasurer and Manager of the Store, Mr. Weaver has shown years of outstanding service.

Perhaps the best way to sum up our deserving recipient is his capacity to efficiently perform his duties and always epitomize the perfect gentleman.

Jay H. Eshelman, '32, D.D.S., was recently elected president of the Pennsylvania Dental Association. Dr. Eshelman practices dentistry in Philadelphia, is a member of the Temple University School of Dentistry, and is an alumni trustee of Elizabethtown College.

Lt. Charles Byers, '60, 2451 Charles Road, Fort Sam Houston, Texas, is a physical therapist at Brooke Hospital, Fort Sam Houston. He has served in the armed forces since January, 1962. Lt. Byers and Jean Kohlhas, Valencia, were married September 15, 1962.

Terry Garman, '60, 1503 Penn Street, Harrisburg, was recently employed as management analyst by the United States Civil Service Commission. He was hired by the U. S. Navy Fleet Material Support Office, Mechanicsburg.

Donald Egolf, -59, R. D. 1, Somerset, is completing his work for his master's degree in speech therapy at the University of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Wallace McTammy, (Carol Jones -42), recently sent the college a brass plaque to be attached to the painting, The Stone Chair, in memory of the late Dr. A. C. Baugher. The Stone Chair is a painting done by Mrs. Jones and was the one Dr. Baugher selected from her exhibit of two years ago.

Miss Minnie B. Rittgers, '09, reports that she is enjoying her association with an incorporated club, The Daughters of Pennsylvania in New York. The Group meets the second Tuesday of each month in the Park Sheraton Hotel, 57 Street and Seventh Avenue, New York City. Alumnae in New York City are encouraged to contact Miss Rittgers at 709 Hudson Blvd., North Bergen, New Jersey.

Captain James O. Hivner, '53, 624 S. Hanover Street, Elizabethtown, was graduated May 3, from the United States Air Force combat operations school, Tinker Air Force Base, Oklahoma. The Hivners have two daughters, Cindy Lou and Bonnie Sue. Mrs. Hivner was the former Phyllis A. Douglas.

Meyers Cited At Luncheon; Dr. Gray Draws Big Turnout

By C. G. ENTERLINE

Alumni and friends, numbering 170, met at luncheon in the fellowship hall of the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren to honor Professor and Mrs. E. G. Meyer, '24 on Saturday, June 1. The program committee had a number of surprises for the Meyer couple.

Dr. Ralph W. Schlosser, '11, and Charlotte (Glasmyre) Garman, '41 recounted incidents of the Meyers in their social and family life and teaching careers.

At one point in the program, the group heard a recording of "That Beautiful Land" by an early vocal quartet consisting of Chester Royer, '23, E. G. Meyer, '24, Ralph W. Schlosser, '11, A. C. Baugher, '22. There is a question whether the faculty quartet performed as well on this occasion with "Long, Long Ago" and the "Bull Dog on the Bank". This quartet consisted of C. G. Enterline, '31, Norman Wykoff, Carl Shull, Wilbur Weaver, '37.

The musical past of Mrs. Meyer was brought together very interestingly in two pianists: Miss Deborah Herr presented "Reflections on The Water" by Debussy; Dr. David E. Schlosser, '39, presented Schumann's "Romance" and Chopin's "Prelude in C Minor". Edwin L. Keener, '44 gave the group "Where'er You Walk, by Handel, and "Little David Play on Your Harp" arranged by H. T. Burleigh.

President Edgar T. Bitting, '50, called the Meyer couple to the stage and, after fitting them into the alumni chairs, presented the chairs to them. A high point for the Class of 1924 was the singing of their class song, led by Mary (Snyder) Forney, '24.

Ethel M. B. Wenger, '24, proved to be a top-notch performer as toastmaster. Responsible for the program were: Beulah (Barnhouse) Ebersole, '49, Elsie (Zeigler) Kilhefner, '33, Dr. Caleb W. Bucher, '37, Jean (Roland) Moyer, '54, Edna Barnes, '37, and Paul M. Grubb, Jr., '55.

The rest of Alumni Day featured exhibits, campus slides, and a baseball game, which the alumni won, 6-5. The Senior-Alumni Day dinner was a success as alumni filled the Dining Hall to capacity to hear Dr. Albert Gray speak on "The Explosion of Knowledge." Over 50 percent of the Class of 1963 attended and were initiated into the Alumni Association by President Bitting.

Dr. McAuley drew a picture of the next ten years at Elizabethtown College. After President Bitting turned over the gavel to Rev. Hiram J. Frysinger, '29, part of the group assembled in the lobby of Myer Hall for fellowship, while another part assembled in the alumni gymnasium to dance to the rhythm of Jack Frank's orchestra.

Seniors Vote To Give Books As Class Gift

The Class of 1963 has voted to give reference books to the Zug Memorial Library as a class gift. Larry Smith, president of the class, announced that Miss Anna Carper, head librarian, had been authorized to order approximately $300 worth of needed reference books in various fields.

A partial list of the books already selected by Miss Carper includes:

The History of the English Novel, by Earnest Baker; Battles and Leaders of the Civil War; English Literature, 1660-1800; The Photographic History of the Civil War, edited by Francis Trevelyan Miller; Official Atlas of the Civil War; Cosmopolitan World Atlas (Rand McNally & Co.); Who Was Who in America, Historical Volume, 1607-1896.

These books and others will be available next year for use in the library reference room.

NORTH JERSEY CHAPTER

The officers of the North Jersey Chapter recently surveyed the interests of alumni in their area by issuing a questionnaire. The first question attempts to discover the degree of interest by responding to high, moderate, low, nil or other. The second question attempts to find out what the sentiment is on the number of meetings to be held each year. Another question seeks to find out whether alumni favor picnics or more formal programs. The questionnaire concludes with an inquiry whether alumni would be willing to share transportation of alumni who might need it.

Officers of the North Jersey Chapter are: President — Dr. James Miller, '55—8 Oxford Lane, Madison, N. J.; Vice-president—Dr. M. Alexander Glasmyre, '37—23 Oakridge Rd., West Orange; Sec'y-Treas.—Miss Marguerite Brown, '59—33 Morris Ave., Summit, N. J.

ALTOONA-STATE COLLEGE CHAPTER

The last chapter to be formed in the school year of 1962-63 was that of Altoona-State College. This chapter area comprises the territory extending from State College through Altoona to Everett.

Three couples met with the alumni secretary on Saturday, May 18, at the First Methodist Church, Williamsburg, to form the tenth new chapter. Present at the meeting were Rev. and Mrs. Carl Geary, '55 (Marion Haldeman, '55), who are serving the host church; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Starck (Lola Reese, '50), Port Matilda; Mr. and Mrs. J. Kenneth Kreider, '61 (Carroll Hall, '60), 39 Woodsdale Park, State College. After the showing of colored slides of the college and election of officers, Mrs. Geary served refreshments in the parish house.

Officers elected for 1963-64 are: President—Rev. Carl Geary, '55; Vice-president—J. Kenneth Kreider, '61; Sec'y-Treas.—Mrs. W. W. Starck, '50.

Alumni in the area who are interested in promoting activities in this chapter, are encouraged to communicate with the officers.

tion of the Christian College.

He described Communism as a disease which operates on a set of principles completely foreign to those of the Free World.

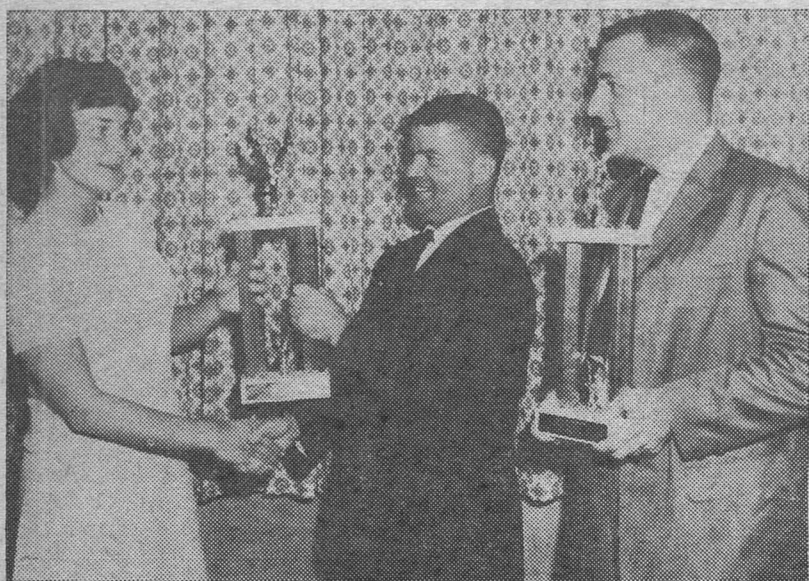

Using the current situation in Cuba to illustrate the advance of Communism, Dr. Judd said:

"The Soviet Union, while talking about 'peaceful coexistence' and nuclear test bans as a blind, has leap-frogged the Atlantic Ocean and carries on subversion in our own hemisphere from its base in Cuba, which the U. S. Government said it would never tolerate—and is now protecting."

He concluded, "Nothing short of genuinely Christian leadership can be adequate for the tasks we face. It is the business of the Christian college to recruit, challenge, train, and inspire that leadership."

A reception for graduates and their parents in the new Baugher Student Center followed the service.

Spring Athletes Finish With 18-22 Record

Speaking of Sports

By ED SIEBER

The curtain was rung down on another highly successful athletic year at Elizabethtown last month.

In retrospect, the 1962-1963 campaign had its ups-and-downs, as do most sporting seasons. The highlight for Jay teams, of course, came on the soccer field. For those who may have forgotten, E-town compiled an overall slate of 12-2 while capturing the Middle Atlantic Conference title. The Wrightmen then went to finish runner-up at the Atlantic Coast Regional playoffs.

The booters had the best team percentage with a mark of .857.

Throughout the course of the year the Blue and Grey colors were worn 115 times and the Birds emerged victorious in 69 of those encounters. This figures out to an even .600 percentage.

Seasonwise, the fall sports segment won games at a .687 clip while the winter teams followed closely behind with a .674 mark. Only the spring section played below .500 ball. Of the nine squads, six of them had winning seasons — soccer, cross country, field hockey, men's basketball, women's basketball, and baseball; the wrestling squad broke even; and the men's tennis team and women's tennis team were on the shady side of winning records.

The award for coming the closest to a title or playoff spot must go to the scrapping men's basketball squad. Coach Smith does have some consolation, however, since all his starters are slated to return next year.

The most improved team must be either the cross country or wrestling squad. Maybe Coach Baum can answer that question more specifically for all those interested.

Records that were set belong to Anne Sharpe who tallied 46 points in a single basketball game against Millersville, and to Linda Eshelman who scored 19 goals for a season high mark in field hockey and a career total of 64 goals.

Although we have stressed the records of this year's teams, certainly much more was gained than merely winning or losing. The participants acquired such qualities as courage, responsibility, and leadership which will aid them throughout life. Each individual will cherish those moments when he or she helped the E-town cause, as they all helped to make their college and themselves "a little bit better."

JUNIATA VALLEY CHAPTER TO MEET

Alumni in the Juniata Valley area will hold a picnic at Ira Brandt's home, McAlisterville, on Sunday, July 7.

the department of mathematics, attends, for example, regional and national meetings of various organizations in the field; and he plans to attend the eight-week Mathematics Institute of College Teachers to be held at Rutgers University this summer. Other members of the department also engage in summer study.

Baseball Nine End Season With 9-5 Win Over Albright Seltzer Leader In Hitting

By TOM FARROW

The E-town Blue Jay baseball nine ended its season with an 11-9 log on the strength of a 9-5 victory over Albright here, May 20.

Oberholtzer Leads Netmen to 5-8 Mark

The men's tennis team, showing some late season strength, finished the 1963 campaign at five wins and eight losses for the best showing since 1960's 4-7 log.

Led by Vern Oberholtzer, top-seeded senior, the Jays came back to win five of their last seven after dropping the first six meets of the season.

They capped the campaign with two shutout victories, a 6-0, rain-shortened win over Juniata and a 9-0 whitewashing over Albright.

Oberholtzer's 8-5 mark in singles competition was a team high for the Jay racketmen. He compiled a 6-6 record in doubles play.

Right behind him was Warren White, seeded second during the second half of the season. White was 6-5 in singles and 5-5 in doubles.

Gil Rinehart and Bill Bertolet chipped in with 6-6 and 5-6 records in singles competition.

attain the ideal in history); humility; and commitment ("the ideal never lets us rest leisurely on our achievements.")

On Cuba, "it can be said that we have fought a nuclear war and one person was killed, a pilot. It was a war in the sense that the nuclear balance was taken into consideration, not our superiority—but that we threatened to use it. We won that nuclear war."

Presently on the staff of the International Studies Division of the Institute for Defense Analyses, he is part-time teacher of international politics at American University.

Lefevre has taught political science at the University of Maryland, has been acting chief of the Foreign Affairs Division of the Library of Congress, and was a foreign relations consultant to Senator Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, present Democratic Whip.

Also an author, he was graduated from Elizabethtown College in 1942 and subsequently obtained B.D. and Ph.D. degrees from Yale University.

The Jays scored four times in the first frame on an Albright error, back-to-back singles by Tony McGlaughlin and Fred Seltzer and a circuit blast by Gerry Botdorf, his fourth of the campaign. The Wrightmen were never headed.

Winning pitcher Gene Marderness, 5-3, allowed nine hits, while the birds collected nine off starter Tom Katancik and one off fireman Bob Murphy.

Leading the Jays hitting attack was Al Hershey, Seltzer, McGlaughlin, and John Graham with two each.

The season as a whole found Seltzer leading the hitting parade at a .385 clip followed by McGlaughlin's .341 and Botdorf's .323.

Botdorf and Seltzer hit for the circuit four times each, while McGlaughlin slammed three. R.B.I. wise, McGlaughlin finished first knocking in 22, followed by Seltzer with 18.

In the pitching department, Ken Finkbinder headed the mound corps with a 3-1 record in 42 1/3 innings and a 1.70 earned run average.

Marderness with a 5-3 record pitched 76 stanzas, striking out 76, or one an inning, while allowing 46 hits for a 1.78 ERA.

John Suffel, 2-4, pitched 33 1/3 innings allowing 39 hits while striking out 23 and walking 24.

The squad as a whole hit 12 home runs while batting across 101 runs for a 10-6 MAC finish.

Jaygals Finish With 2-5 Log

The Jaygals completed their tennis season May 17 by giving up a partly rained-out match to Penn State. All singles were completed with top-seeded Linda Eshelman the only victor for the Blue and Gray. The score was E-town-1 and Penn State-4 when the match was called.

The team's final record for the season stands as two wins and five losses. Number one player Linda Eshelman racked up for her last college tennis year an undefeated season.

Senior Sue Wood finished in her number two position with 3 wins and 4 losses. Senior Molly Moerschbacher in the third slot was victorious 4 out of her 7 matches.

NEW FACULTY

Karl E. Hope, instructor in English at the Harrisburg Area Center for Higher Education. He is a graduate of Shippensburg State College (B.S., 1949) and Columbia University (M.A., 1952).

John P. Rank, assistant professor of chemistry. Rank received degrees from Elizabethtown College (B.S., 1958) and Princeton University (M.S., 1960; Ph.D., 1962).

A former professor at Upsala College, he replaces Zoe G. Proctor, assistant professor of chemistry, who will be on leave next year.

D. Paul Rice, assistant professor of education. He holds degrees from Elizabethtown College (B.A., 1955) and Temple University (M.Ed., 1961).

He has taught in the Ferris School for Boys, Wilmington, and since 1960 has been principal of the Elizabethtown Elementary School. Rice will replace Mrs. Austin H. Fellenbaum, associate professor of education.

Stanley T. Sutphin, instructor in Bible and philosophy Sutphin received degrees from LaVerne College (B.A., 1951) and Bethany Biblical Seminary (B.D., 1955). He is completing requirements for the doctor of theology degree at the Pacific School of Religion, Berkeley, California.

A former teacher in Leadership Schools under the sponsorship of the National Council of Churches, Sutphin replaces Dr. Robert A. Byerly, who will be on leave in Europe next year.

John Swick, assistant professor of mathematics and physics. He holds degrees from the University of Pittsburgh (B.S., 1948) and the University of Pennsylvania (M.S., 1959). He will replace Miss Patricia Barr, assistant professor of mathematics.

Mrs. John Swick, assistant professor of English. Mrs. Swick, a former teacher at Lampeter-Strasburg High School, holds degrees from Thiel College (B.A., 1948) and Columbia University (M.A., 1956).

Paul E. Whitmoyer, assistant professor of sociology. He received degrees from Penn State (B.S., 1941); Gettysburg Lutheran Seminary (B.D., 1944); Temple University (M.Ed., 1959) and holds a certificate from the Yale School of Alcohol Studies.

A graduate student at the University of Pennsylvania, he has been associated with the Pennsylvania Department of Health and Welfare. Whitmoyer replaces Dr. Donald R. Vosburgh, professor of sociology.

Math Dept. Symbolizes Academic Growth Here

As Elizabethtown College grows and matures, many tend to see only the impressive new buildings or the leaping enrollment figures. Physical growth is a magnificent thing, but it is only a shell for the learning that takes place within it.

The academic core of this and any college is solidified by the growth and maturity of its instruction. Among the instructional areas undergoing such change at Elizabethtown College is the department of mathematics.

Four years ago the requirement for a math major here was 24 credits; today he needs 33. Four years ago Elizabethtown College had sent no math majors to graduate school. This year it is sending its fifth, sixth, and seventh, all of whom have had halftime teaching assistantships.

What started the trend? The department, like several others here, saw the need for revisions and made them. And changes are still taking place.

The keynote has been the offering of a greater selection of courses for both math majors and other students. This and other steps are making the program for math majors more flexible.

One step was the removal of the rigid sequence of the advanced courses to make Calculus the only prerequisite for all courses beyond it. Originally students had to take ten hours of Mathematical Analysis or a combination of College Algebra, Trigonometry, and Analytic Geometry before tackling the Calculus course.

Beginning next year the Mathematical Analysis course will be changed to a one-semester, four-hour course and will be followed by an Analytic Geometry course which will be expanded from three hours to four hours.

Other course changes to be in effect include the revision of the two-semester, four-hour Linear Algebra course to a one-semester, three-hour course. A course in modern algebra and a special seminar for student teachers has been added, and Advanced Calculus has been extended from a one-semester course to a two-semester course.

Last year the department added a new course, Survey of Mathematics, for liberal arts majors. It is a terminal course exposing students to the basic ideas of modern mathematics, and it apparently filled a void since three sections were needed to handle the interested students the first time it was offered.

To the outsider changes within a given department's curriculum seem relatively unimportant, but to the major in that curriculum and to the College in general they make a vast difference.

In addition to the local effort involved, improvement within the departments requires a constant desire to keep up with recent happenings in the field on the part of the professors.

(l. to r.) are Janet Jones and Elizabeth Hershberger. Smith and the two girls will study in France; The others plus Ruth Gebhard and Dorothy Hess (not pictured) will study in Germany.

Elizabethtown Well-represented In 'Brethren Colleges Abroad'

Eight Elizabethtown College students are among 27 accepted for study abroad next year as part of the "Brethren Colleges Abroad" program.

"Brethren Colleges Abroad" is a cooperative program of the six colleges affiliated with the Church of the Brethren. It is designed to meet the needs of college juniors whose academic interests will be strengthened by a year of study in a foreign university.

Dr. Robert A. Byerly, head of the department of Bible and philosophy and director of religious activities at Elizabethtown College, will serve as advisor for the students, some of whom will attend the University of Marburg, Marburg, Germany, and some of whom will study at Strasbourg University, Strasbourg, France.

The 1962-63 term was the first for the program at Marburg. Strasbourg University was added for the coming term.

Elizabethtown College students attending Marburg University will be William Cave, Palmyra; R. Kent Douple, Ephrata; Ruth Gebhard, Elizabethtown; Dorothy Hess, Bareville; Roy Schoenberger, Elizabethtown; and William Smock, Butler, New Jersey.

Elizabeth Hershberger, Elkhart, Indiana, and Kenneth Smith, Hudson, New York, will attend Strasbourg University.

The students, all of whom are required to have at least two years of languages of the country in which they will study, will attend a language institute before taking courses at the universities. The institutes will be held at the universities during September and October.

Other colleges participating in the program, now moving into its second year, are Bridgewater (Va.) College; Juniata College, Huntingdon; La Verne (Calif.) College; Manchester College, North Manchester, Indiana; and McPherson (Kan.) College.

Chairman of the program's administrative committee is Dr. Harold D. Fasnacht, president of La Verne College.

Another Elizabethtown College student, Janet Jones, Enola, will attend Strasbourg University next term as the Student Senate-sponsored exchange student.

The students will sail from New York on August 23.

Lyceum Schedule Set for 1963-64

Seven Lyceum Programs have been scheduled for 1963-64, according to Dr. Carl N. Shull, Chairman of the Lyceum Committee.

A community cultural program opens the season on October 5, 1963, when the Turnau Opera Players will perform Rossini's "Barber of Seville" in the Elizabethtown Area High School Auditorium.

On November 7, 1963, a Woodwind Quintet, composed of the first chair players of the Baltimore Symphony, will perform.

Dr. Ben Marais, visiting Danforth foundation lecturer on religion and Africa will be on campus February 12 and 13, 1964. Marais will be sponsored by the Teachers For West Africa Program.

The Baltimore Symphony Orchestra will present a concert for the college and community March 18, 1964 in the Elizabethtown Area High School Auditorium.

On April 7-8, 1964, Mr. Eugene Jamison, a folksinger, artist, and printmaker will be on campus. Jamison's program will include a public concert, a printmaking demonstration, an illustrated lecture, and class meetings.

A duo-piano team, Luboshutz and Nemenoff, will present a concert in the Elizabethtown Area High School Auditorium on April 11, 1964.

Concluding the season's lyceum programs will be Dr. Rush-ton Coulborn, visiting Danforth lecturer in Historical Anthropology. Coulborn will be on campus April 15-16, 1964 and will give both student and public lectures.

Class Picnic

The Class of 1966 will hold a picnic at Mt. Gretna on September 21 from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. Lake facilities will be available; food will be provided by a caterer. Sophomores only are invited.

No More Papers Until September

There will be no ETOWNIAN published in August. The next campus edition will be published for distribution on September 15, when new students will arrive for the start of the 1963-64 term.

The next alumni edition of the ETOWNIAN will be published on September 20.

College Gets Federal Building Loan Approval

A $750,000 federal loan that is earmarked for the construction of a men's dormitory and an extension of the present dining hall has been approved, according to Pres. Roy E. McAuley.

Approval of the loan by the U. S. Housing and Home Finance Agency was announced July 17 by Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa.

Dr. McAuley said the two-story dormitory will house 140 male students, who are already enrolled at the school, but living off campus.

He said the dining hall capacity will increase from the present 500 to 1,200 and will enable 550

Enterline Has Attack

Clarence G. Enterline, executive secretary of the Alumni Association and director of placement at the College, had a heart attack about 10 p.m., Thursday, July 18. His immediate condition was unknown.

The alumni secretary had reported to work Thursday morning and was stricken shortly thereafter outside his office in Alpha Hall. He was taken to the Lancaster General Hospital and put in the Intensive Care Unit.

The Enterlines had returned from a month-long vacation in Maine on Sunday evening (July 14).

First-year Records Show Value Of Early Admissions Program

Five Professors To Take Leaves During 1963-64

Five members of the Elizabethtown College faculty will be on leave for advanced study or special assignment during the 1963-64 academic term.

Edgar T. Bitting, head of the business department, will serve his certified public accountant time requirement with the firm of Ross Brothers, Lybrand and Montgomery, in Philadelphia.

Dr. Robert A. Byerly, head of the Bible and philosophy department and director of religious activities, will spend the year in Germany and France as director of the Brethren Colleges Abroad Program. He will act as counselor and adviser for the 30 students who will spend their junior year studying at the University of Marburg, Germany, and Strasbourg University, Strasbourg, France.

Three others will spend the year working on their doctor's degrees. R. Lee Byers, assistant professor of physics, will be at Penn State; Paul T. Oliver, assistant professor of business, will attend the University of Arkansas; and Zoe G. Proctor, assistant professor of Chemistry, will study at the University of Delaware.

The experimental acceleration project was initiated by the College last fall, when 12 students were allowed to enroll as full-fledged freshmen without taking their final year of high school work. Then, after successfully completing the first year of college for credit, they were also awarded their high school diploma.

A report on the progress of the students, released this month by Dean Jacob E. Hershman, reveals that the median academic average for the group over the full freshman year was 3.2 out of a possible 4.0, which would indicate straight "A" work. A 3.0 average is equal to a "B," 2.0 to a "C."

Five of the 12 ranked high enough to be placed on the Dean's List of Honor, which requires an average of 3.5 or higher. Two of them earned a perfect 4.0 rating.

Nine of the 12 earned an average of 3.0 or better for the year. None of the group fell below 2.0 for the term.

The overall 3.2 median average for the students admitted under the early admissions program was far above the median of 2.1 for the freshman class as a whole.

Students selected for early admission must be approved by their high school principal and guidance counselor, be personally

Faculty Grows By Half Dozen

Six more faculty members have been added to the staff for 1963-64, Pres. Roy E. McAuley announced recently. One is an administrative addition; the others will join five different departments.

New faculty include:

Jane L. Custer, instructor in mathematics. She received her B. S. from Juniata College in 1960 and her M. A. from Temple University in 1963.

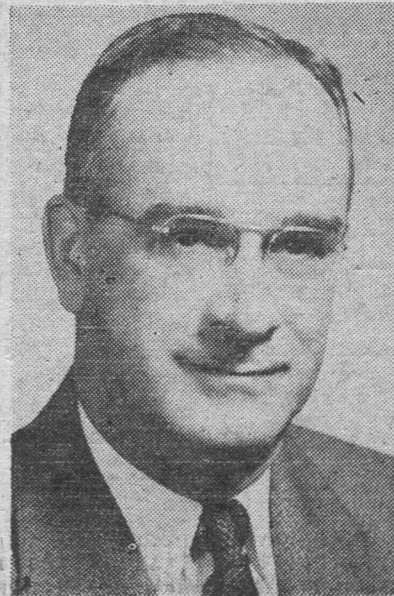

Harry J. Graham, assistant professor of education. Graham, a former teacher in the Elizabethtown Area School District, earned his B.S. from Elizabethtown College in 1957 and his M. Ed. from Temple in 1961.

Liga Grinbergs, assistant professor of languages. Miss Grinbergs holds an A.B. from Elizabethtown College in 1959 and a M. Ed. from Temple in 1963.

Aladar F. Kish, part-time lecturer in economics. He received the B. S. from Rutgers University in 1943, and the M.S. from the University of Delaware in 1950.

Jason D. Lindower, Jr., assistant to the treasurer with the rank of assistant professor. Lindower graduated from Manchester College with a B. S. in 1957 and from Indiana University with the M. B. A. in 1959. He will teach one course in business.

Janice R. Nearing, instructor in physical education. Miss Nearing holds a B. S. from East Stroudsburg State College. She graduated this spring.

Learning Outburst Challenges Alumni

(Ed. Note—The following are excerpts from the speech, "Alumni and the Explosion of Knowledge," delivered by Dr. Albert L. Gray at the Senior-Alumni Dinner on Alumni Day here, June 1.)

"As educated alumni of this institution we are aware that we live in a period of exploding knowledge. The wonder and awe of yesterday's events become commonplace today — witness the calmness and blasé attitude with which we accepted Gordon Cooper's 22 orbits in contrast to the excitement and apprehension of Scott Carpenter's sub-orbital shot. Developments in every field come so rapidly, and are so complex, that alumni must forever engage in a vigorous program of continuing education."

"No longer do I volunteer to help my Stephen with his 4th grade arithmetic. His knowledge about sets, matrix, rays, line segments, and intersections forces me to hit the books with him."

"One of my colleagues tells me that biological knowledge has increased 16 times in the last 50 years, and that 90% of all the biologists who ever lived are still alive today adding to this vast storehouse of information. Most of us cannot contribute new insights into this field, nor can we hope to understand it all, but as mature alumni we are called upon to be interested in, and alert to, these developments."

"Never before in the field of education have the winds of change been blowing so steadily. At Baldwin-Wallace College I am serving on a student-faculty committee that will completely revamp the entire curriculum. We have evaluated, for example, the new 3-3 plan in use at Ohio Wesleyan; three terms and three courses each term. There are no required courses. Classes meet only as often as the professor and students feel is necessary. Lower level courses and upper level courses replace the traditional classification of freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior."

"At quality colleges across the nation students are being pre-tested to get into a course, instead of passing an exam at the conclusion of it. If the student on the pre-test is not adequately prepared, it becomes his responsibility to go to the learning resources center on the campus and master training films, listen to lectures on tapes, or complete a programmed learning text. Only then is he ready to enter fully into the classroom educational learning process."

"Today, as alumni, we need a new vocabulary in order to evaluate the merits of general education, core curricula, articulation and advanced placements, non-western studies, the Junior-Year-Around programs, and independent study."

"Nor has the field of religion escaped the onrush of change. When you were 'Betty Coed' or 'Joe College' did the text on the Old Testament mention the Dead Sea Scrolls, the Essenes or the Teacher of Righteousness? What do you think of the Pope's encyclical 'Pacem in Terris'? Do you approve of the elevation of indigenous leadership in the ecumenical churches of Africa? What advice can you give to your delegate from the Church of the Brethren, as he engages in a dialogue with the leaders of the Russian Orthodox Church?"

"The undergraduate college that is aware of this explosion of knowledge and contributes to it produces the educated mind. The graduates are liberated from a bestial, primitive, conforming, non-creative existence; they are freed from ignorance, indifference, prejudice, superstition, parochialism, and glib answers."

"This is a Christian college—not because it was founded by the Church of the Brethren; not because the president is a doctor of divinity; not because it has a Department of Bible. All of this can be taken for granted. A Christian college is an institution of learning where the decision making process by trustees, administration, faculty, and students takes place within the framework of Christian values: where men and women are engaged in the exciting process of choosing the God whom they will serve."

"The institution worthy of alumni support has found the way to wed intellectual excellence with religious commitment."

"Granted, then, the explosion of knowledge in every field of human intelligence; and granted, the need for quality education by the best professors at the undergraduate level; and granted, the need for quality education by the best professors remains the constancy of the Christian faith."

"If this beloved college and its loyal alumni remain true to the highest concepts of the Christian faith, the shape of tomorrow need not be feared in spite of the explosion of knowledge."

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"HOW SOON WILL YOU KNOW IF YOU PASSED?"

A Dean's Fondest Hope

By DR. JACOB E. HERSHMAN
Dean of Instruction

EDITOR'S NOTE—Dr. Jacob E. Hershman, Dean, appears as guest columnist for this issue at the request of C. G. Enterline, alumni secretary, who has been on vacation.

I have been asked on numerous occasions to identify what I consider to be the most pressing need confronting Elizabethtown College at the present time. I usually answer without hesitation—the need for developing and perpetuating an ever maturing "image."

The time is ripe for the church-related college to assume its rightful role in America. The opportunity is abundantly present for the church college to become what it really says it is.

I concur wholeheartedly with Huston Smith when he states in his volume The Purposes of Higher Education:

"Any college worthy of the name will have a spiritual life of its own which makes of it more than an assemblage of teachers, students and buildings. At best it will have an atmosphere which is felt to be different from other environments the moment one steps into it and which acts as a powerful developing force upon all who live within it. Such an atmosphere will be like the mist in the sense that one cannot put one's finger on it, but no one should be able to stay in it long without becoming thoroughly soaked."

So long as Elizabethtown College can succeed in producing, in quantity, graduates who possess a sense of mission, a deep annoying conscience about the social ills of men, and the urge to help correct them, she will always have an indispensable role to play in the society that she serves.

This is an expectation that I hope my Alma Mater will never take for granted, but will constantly endeavor to promote in practice.

Especially For Alumni...

By HIRAM J. FRYINGER
President, Alumni Association

One half of the members of the Alumni Association have been added since 1948.

This means that not only is our college a young college but also that a great majority of the members of the Alumni Association are in their vigorous young adulthood, or early middle years.

It is very encouraging to hear Alumni Secretary, C. G. Enterline, report that the greatest number of reservations per class for the alumni banquet were from the younger classes, those graduating in the fifties. This indicates an active interest and continuing concern for our college.

I am certain that it is a source of satisfaction to all of us when we hear or read of the efforts being put forth to expand offerings and in general upgrade the instruction at the college. We all realize that we, the college and the alumni, must continually adjust to the changes taking place about us and work together to keep pace and push ahead.

It is encouraging too to hear of the activity in the local alumni chapters—the older, the reactivated and the newly organized chapters. Each alumnus should if at all possible have some direct contact with the college on a regular basis.

Make every effort to meet with your local chapter, and as often as possible return to the campus to see the new facilities and be reminded of the debt you owe to the founders, administration, faculty, and supporters of Elizabethtown College.

Think It Over

A young man who had just received his degree from college rushed out and exclaimed, "Here I am, World: I have my A.B.!"

And the World replied, "Sit down, son, and I'll teach you the rest of the alphabet."

Chapter Officers Plan Picnic Here

Officers of the 18 chapters of the Alumni Association have been invited to attend a picnic on the campus on July 27 from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m.

The purpose of the activity is "recreational and informational—to have fun and to share information about alumni activities."

On the agenda are a recreational period (swimming, bowling, etc.); reports by college and alumni officers and a general discussion; and a picnic supper by the campus fireplace.

Officers reporting will include Pres. Roy E. McAuley; James L. M. Yeingst, director of public relations; C. G. Enterline, alumni secretary; and Hiram J. Frynsinger, president of the Alumni Association.

Alumnus Receives Wyeth Promotion

Harold M. Saylor, '39, has been appointed to one of two new management positions at Wyeth Laboratories' Marietta manufacturing labs.

He has been named Associate Director of Pharmaceutical Products. He was formerly manager of the Pharmaceutical Bulk Production and Finishing Section at Marietta.

Born in Red Lion, Saylor majored in chemistry at Elizabethtown College and was graduated in 1939 with a bachelor of science degree. He had been employed as production supervisor of DuPont's Charlestown, Ind., plant before he came to Wyeth Laboratories in August, 1945. He is a member of the Parenteral Drug Association.

He and his wife, (Betty Forney, '41), live with two of their three children at 2705 Graystone Road, East Petersburg. Their son, Lee, 22, resides in Idaho.

Juniata Valley Chapter Holds Annual Picnic

Luke H. Buffenmyer, '37, of Newport, was elected president of the Juniata Valley Alumni Chapter during the group's annual picnic meeting July 7 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Brandt, near McAlisterville.

Other officers chosen for the year are Miss Olive K. Jamison, '34, McAlisterville, vice president, and Mrs. A. Vivian (Mensch) Hassinger, '48, Mifflinburg, secretary-treasurer.

Approximately 35 attended the meeting to hear reports on the program of the College by James L. M. Yeingst, director of public relations, and D. Paul Greene, director of admissions.

Several students also presented their impressions of various phases of the College program. They were James Kipp, Gil Rinehart, Beth Swanson, and Nina Stroble. They spoke on the athletic program, medical care, faculty, and foreign students.

College Luncheon At Church Event Attended By 100

Exactly 100 alumni and friends of the College attended the luncheon held on the campus of the University of Illinois, June 28, during the Annual Conference of the Church of the Brethren held there.

Pres. Roy E. McAuley, who spoke to the gathering about the growth of the College, expressed surprise at the size of the turnout for an affair held 800 miles from the campus.

Also on the program was Dr. James M. Berkebile, who reviewed the Teachers For West Africa Program. Dr. Nevin H. Zuck pronounced the invocation; Prof. Nevin W. Fisher lead the singing of the Alma Mater; and Kenneth Bowers, director of publications, was toastmaster.

Chapter Possible In Massachusetts

By C. G. Enterline

The alumni secretary's vacation begins and ends with alumni business. While vacationing in Maine, the alumni secretary received an offer to stop in Springfield, Massachusetts, to review the possibilities of activating Elizabethtown College alumni in the Bay State.

Accordingly, the alumni secretary met Dr. John D. Trimmer, '26, 277 Triangle Street, Amherst, and David S. Garber, '32, 396 St. James Avenue, Springfield, at Mr. Garber's residence at nine o'clock Sunday morning, July 14. One of the needs expressed was that of finding out what alumni in Massachusetts are doing. It was felt, too, that this information should be communicated so that alumni in the Bay State would appreciate the contribution which alumni are making to the community.

Dr. Trimmer and Mr. Garber, as co-workers, pledge a portion of their time and energy to organize Elizabethtown College alumni in Massachusetts. Interested alumni are urged to contribute their ideas and efforts in promoting the project. Contact Mr. Garber or Dr. Trimmer at their respective addresses.

Lebanon Group Names Picking

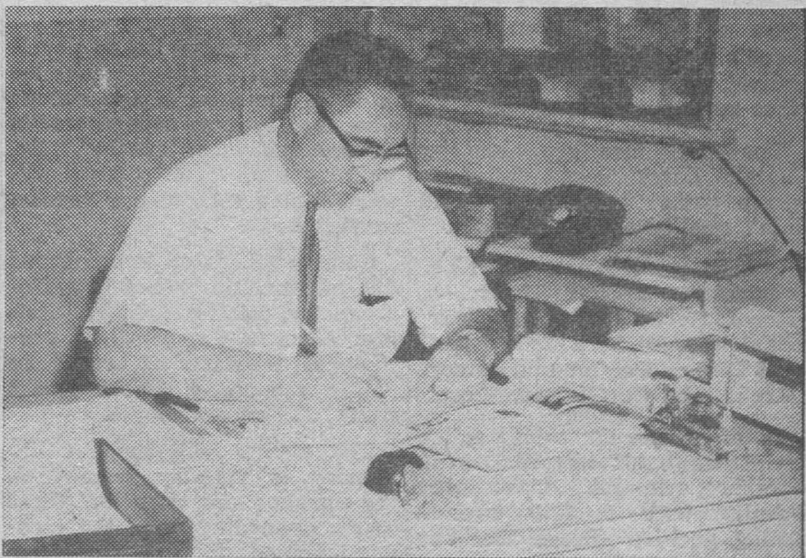

John C. Picking, Palmyra, was elected president of the Lebanon Chapter of the Elizabethtown College Alumni Association Saturday during the annual picnic meeting of the organization at Camp Pine Woods, near Palmyra.

Picking, a member of the Class of '57, is manager of the Campbelltown Branch of the Valley Trust Company. He succeeds the Rev. William Gould, Lebanon.

Other officers elected are: Ammon B. Meyer, Class of '33, Fredericksburg, first vice-president; James L. M. Yeingst, Class of '57, Palmyra R. D. 2, second vice-president; and Mrs. Gerald Ebersole, Class of '57, Mt. Gretna, secretary-treasurer.

During the business session the group discussed projected activities of the chapter, including plans for inviting students and potential students of the College to attend next year's meeting.

Arrangements for the picnic were made by Rev. Gould, Picking, and Mrs. Gerald Seiler, Bethel. Approximately thirty attended.

SUMMER SUPERVISOR—Dr. O. F. Stambaugh, director of summer sessions, pours over summer problems at his desk on the ground floor of Alpha Hall. Among other things, the chemistry prof has become a dean, counselor, registrar, and miscellaneous administrator for the two five-week sessions.

that bids will probably be let for the dormitory this winter with construction tentatively scheduled to begin next spring. The target for completion would be September, 1964. Construction of the added dining facilities, according to Kurtz, will probably begin at an earlier date.

The two impending projects represent another step in the present development program of the college. During the 1962-63 term two other new buildings, a residence hall for women and a student center, were put into use.

Future plans, according to Dr. McAuley, call for an addition to the Library, a classroom building, a gymnasium, and a chapel-auditorium. He added that the library addition is probably next in line. No federal funds are available for the construction of that, however.

Summer School At Mid-point

Elizabethtown College's Summer Session I concluded July 19. Session I was scheduled to run from July 22 to August 23. A slight drop in attendance was expected for the second session.

"Our past experience has been that the second session always has a smaller enrollment," said Dr. O. F. Stambaugh, director of the sessions. "However, our pre-registration for the second session was at 225 by July 15, and that's where it was a week before the first session," he added.

Final registration for Session I totaled 309.

Sports

Jaygal's Tennis Play Halted By Tonsillitis

A mid-July case of tonsillitis has interrupted tennis tournament play for Linda Eshelman, star athlete here for the past four years.

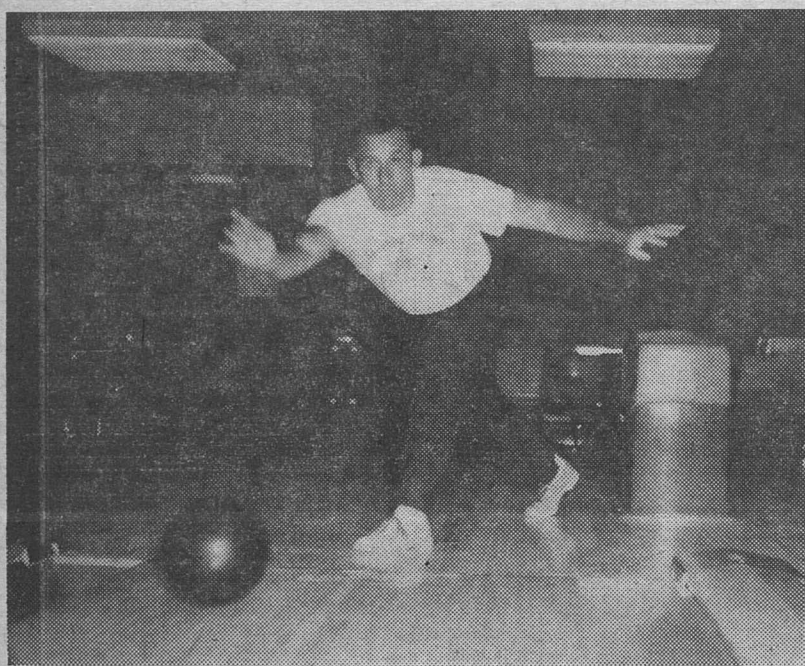

Linda, who had played in the Middle States Tournament in Wilmington, Delaware, in June and the Pennsylvania State Clay Court Tennis Tournament in Harrisburg early this month, was forced to drop out of the Delaware Valley Women's Championship Tournament in Philadelphia after posting victories in the first two rounds.

At Wilmington she won two rounds and lost in the quarter-finals. In the Clay Court tournament at Harrisburg she was eliminated in the semi-finals after copping wins in the first three rounds. In both tournaments she was defeated by the eventual tournament winner.

Pending are three more tournaments in July and August, if her bout with her tonsils is successful. The Harrisburg Hard Courts Tournament, July 15 to 20; the Red Rose Tournament at Lancaster, July 22 to 27; and the Berks County tournament at Wyomissing, August 5 to 10, were all on her "hopeful" list.

Currently she is ranked No. 1 in Central Pennsylvania for area tournaments. Her Middle States ranking, based on last summer's play, is 18.

This spring, Linda compiled a 6-0 singles mark as the top-seeded player on the women's tennis squad. The Jaygals won two and lost five on the season.

DOWN IN THE ALLEY—D. Paul Greene, director of admissions, returned to the campus during his vacation this month to "roll a few" in the Baugher Student Center. Here he whips one down the right side for a spare.

Spikers Capture Volleyball Crown; Students Lead In Softball Series

The Spikers won the championship of the five-team intramural volleyball league held here during Summer Session I.

Captain Dan Reitmeyer led his squad to a 4-0 record in regular play and then paced them to playoff victories over Fred Buckendorf's Bombers and the Faculty.

The Faculty had previously finished third in the standings behind Larry Hollingshead's Maples. The Maples bowed to the Faculty in the first round of the playoffs.

The Ball Handlers, led by Captain Larry Evans, failed to win a game in the league and didn't qualify for the playoffs.

Other members of the champion Spikers included Homer Hofer, John Kieft, Gary Danielson, Richard Tait, Richard Sieber, Pat Mbonu, Nancy Grubb, and Carole Roomsburg.

In other campus sports action the Student All-stars racked up another triumph over the Faculty with a 29-9 twelve-inning decision (figure that one out) on July 16.

The students now hold a 2-0-1 edge in the series. In previous games the students won 9-4 and tied the Faculty, 2-2, in a rain-shortened game.

College to Expand Evening Courses Starting This Fall

Evening courses for academic credit will be expanded starting this fall at Elizabethtown College, according to an announcement by President Roy E. McAuley.

"We are endeavoring to develop a series of evening courses for those in the area of the college who need to earn college credits for one reason or another," Dr. McAuley said. "The courses will be available also to our regular student body."

Courses scheduled to be offered this fall include classes in radiochemistry, Biblical history, first-year German, experimental psychology, teaching of music in public schools, a Great Books study, and an art course.

The classes will meet either Monday or Tuesday evening on the campus for two or three hours, depending upon the credits involved in the respective courses. Courses will carry either two or three credits.

Interested persons may get further information by contacting the office of the registrar at the college.

Seltzer Named Most Valuable On MAC Team

Fred Seltzer, recently graduated Blue Jay athlete, was named the "Most Valuable Player" in the Middle Atlantic Conference's Northern College Division for the 1963 baseball season.

Seltzer, a centerfielder, led the division in total hits and home runs this season, collecting 24 hits in 15 games and four round-trippers.

Finishing the conference campaign with a .393 batting average, he ranked fifth in the division batting race.

A four-year mainstay on both the soccer and baseball teams here, Seltzer graduated on June 2 with the bachelor of science degree in elementary education.

Two other Blue Jays were named to the Northern Division's first team along with Seltzer. Gene Marderness, received one of the two first-team pitching berths, and Al Hershey was named at second base.

Marderness won four and lost one in the conference and compiled an earned run average of 1.53. Hershey batted out .328 batting average and led the Northern Division in runs scored with 19.

Gerry Botdorf, Elizabethtown catcher, and shortstop Tony McGlaughlin were listed on the division's second team.

L. C. Baum Resigns Athletic Position

Lester C. Baum, director of athletics at Elizabethtown College for the past two years, has resigned his post, President Roy E. McAuley announced recently.

Baum, who coached wrestling and cross country and held the rank of assistant professor of physical education, joined the staff of the college after leaving the faculty of Worthington, Ohio, High School. He resigned his post for personal reasons, college officials said. The effective date of the resignation is August 31.

Lester C. Baum

A graduate of Findley College, in Ohio (B.S., 1953) and Oklahoma State University (M.S., 1961), Baum previously held positions at Kenyon College, in Ohio, the Ohio State University, Carey (Ohio) High School, and Lakeview (Ohio) High School.

He succeeded Ira R. Herr as director of athletics in 1961, after Herr retired.

President McAuley indicated that administrative duties within the department of athletics will be realigned temporarily.

An announcement of who will succeed Baum as coach of cross country and wrestling is expected to be made shortly, Dr. McAuley added.

During the 1961-62 season Baum's wrestling and cross country teams had losing seasons with 2-8 and 3-8 records in that order. Last year his wrestlers bounced back to 6-6, and the cross country crew finished at 6-5.

College officials said they were sorry to see Baum resign from the staff.

Miss Hackman Cites Reasons

Elizabethtown Follows National Trend With More Women Enrolling

That more women than men are applying for admission at Elizabethtown College has become an established trend over the last several years. Ask Admissions Director D. Paul Greene.

For the first time since the war the College will probably have more women than men enrolled when the 1963-64 fall registration figures are released.

The majority of women on this campus will most likely grow steadily over the next several years.

Why the change in the enrollment pattern? Miss Vera R. Hackman, dean of women, can list four good reasons.

"First of all," she says, "there is a great majority of women in the college-age bracket in the United States population." The 1961 census figures bear her out. That year there were more than one million more women than men in the age group of 18 to 24.

Miss Hackman cites the fact that there are more women high school graduates as another reason. Some 64,000 more women than men, for example, graduated from high school in 1962.

Still another reason is that more and more women are going to college each year because of social and economic trends. Fall enrollments in higher education for 1962 showed an increase of one and one-half percent among women over 1961 figures and only a one percent increase among men.

Quoting other sources Miss Hackman notes that the current percentage of female college graduates in the work force is higher than for other women with 53 percent of the women with four or more years of college now working. It is predicted that today's female college graduate can expect to spend 25 years of her adult life working outside her home.

The fourth reason is that there are fewer dropouts now. Dean Hackman lists some of her own figures to prove that.

Of the 399 women enrolled here at the end of the past term, which ended on June 2, 292 will return next year. Most of those not returning, of course, graduated or completed a two-year course. Only 16 will not return because of transferring, marriage, work, or scholastic difficulties.

The attrition rate during the college term has been lower also. Miss Hackman notes that only 21 of the 145 freshmen women who enrolled at the beginning of the 1962-63 term will not register here for the 1963-64 term.

The American Council on Education brings out still another reason for the rising enrollment of women in college. It claims that more women are returning to college. Their earlier dropout proves to be but an interruption. So significant is this trend that many colleges and universities throughout the United States have plans for the continuing education of women.

Though Elizabethtown College, like all colleges, considers itself unique, many national trends, according to Dean Hackman, have been quite evident here. And the trend of more women going to college, she notes, is seen here also.

When asked about the male enrollment, she said, "We shall continue to get plenty of good men students, but it is true that parents are likely to send their son, if he has the ability, to a large or 'prestige' institution. But they often want their daughter to attend a smaller, church-related college like ours."

motivated to participate, and possess exceptional academic credentials, including high school grades and aptitude test scores. They are thoroughly screened to be sure they are emotionally, physically, and socially mature enough to move from the junior high school year directly to college.

"We have had no problems with these accelerated students in terms of their ability to adjust to college life," Dean Hershman related. "They have performed exceptionally well academically and moved into various extra-curricular activities."

"One of the girls played on the varsity field hockey team and was elected to the Queen's Court for Homecoming Day by her classmates," he added. "The presence of these students has been a wonderful and rewarding experience for all concerned."

Students enrolling under the early admissions plan are pursuing a variety of degree programs, including the liberal arts, pre-law, nursing, education, medical technology, pre-medicine, and pre-ministerial.

Dean Hershman indicated that the success of the program during the first year means that it will be continued by the College this fall, when six more high school juniors will move into their first year on campus.

Music Department Needs Instruments

The Music Department is in need of additional band and orchestral instruments, music, and books on musical subjects.

Friends of the College who donate an instrument will receive an acknowledgement with tax deductible evaluation of the gift. Books will be appraised and acknowledged if the value is estimated at more than $5.00.

The College is also interested in purchasing instruments in good condition from individuals. Most urgently needed: 4 clarinets, 2 saxophones, 2 snare drums, 4 cornets or trumpets, and violins, violas, or cellos.

Anyone wishing to donate or sell items should contact Prof. David P. Willoughby (regarding instruments) or Dr. Carl N. Shull (regarding books or music).
